CURB WYNEKOOP TRIAL CRUSH

FRENCH PREMIER VOWS REFORMS AS CROWDS RIOT

Bond Scandal Perils Freedom of Press.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 11.—Fanned by the disclosures of official negligence or corruption which enabled the late Russian adventurer, Serge (Handsome Alex) Stavisky to swindle the nation, a mob, deep rooted in hatred for the police—a heritage from the days of the Bastille—boiled over today and staged some of the bloodiest rioting the French capital has seen in years.

A furious mob, led by Royalist and Fascist students with palings from trees along the Boulevard Saint Germain, tried to beat its way through a wall of foot and mounted police to the chamber of deputies, where the people's representatives were devoting the entire session to the Stavisky scandal.

Assail Newspaper Men.

Ironically the deputies, many of whom are accused of having been on the pay roll of the promoter of the $61,000,000 Bayonne pawnshop fraud, were at that time putting on a little demonstration of their own against the newspaper men who revealed the scandal. The whole chamber frantically applauded when Premier Camille Chautemps, in promising to clean up the "gigantic swindle," announced also his intention to stiffen the laws punishing libel against the government.

The viciousness displayed in the rioting surpassed anything seen in Paris in many years. There were 362 arrests and thirty policemen were injured, two seriously. The number of rioters wounded was not revealed, but it is believed to be high.

The trouble started as one of those picturesque but innocuous demonstrations of Royalist students marching through the streets singing and waiting for the police to charge them.

Shout "Assassins!"

They surged up Boulevard Saint Germain, famous as the quarter of the old noblesse. Soon the mob, gathering strength, was less suggestive of the sedate Faubourg Saint Germain than the notorious Faubourg Saint Antoine, whence the dregs of Paris during the French revolution poured out to massacre the nobles.

To the frenzied shout "Assassins!"—a reference to the suspicion that Stavisky was killed last Monday by the police to close his mouth—the mob, now swelled to 2,000 or more, battled furiously with the police.

A bare 100 yards away from all this the deputies in the chamber were interpellating the government on the scandal which many fear will seriously undermine the little remaining faith in the government and nourish the Fascist movements which are beginning to spring up like mushrooms in France.

Session a Curtain Raiser.

Today's session was only a curtain raiser, except for an important statement by Chautemps. He promised that no heads would be spared in unearthing the vast graft ring formed by Stavisky.

Chautemps admitted that the surete generale, which controls directly the Paris judges who are under the minister of justice, is gravely at fault. He confirmed officially the allegation that Stavisky was arrested some years ago on a rubber check charge, was released on bail, granted nineteen postponements by various judges, and that the case was finally pigeonholed.

Chautemps frequently was interrupted by hisses from the opposition until he began denouncing the newspaper men who, he said, were trying to ruin the reputations of honest deputies and officials.

Announces New Press Law.

This drew wild applause from all benches, even those deputies not directly implicated in the scandal not relishing the withering fire of criticism directed at them by the French press since the scandal came to light.

The premier then announced he is drafting a new press law which he described vaguely as removing cases of libel against government officials from the jurisdiction of juries and bringing them before correctional judges. At the same time he declared a special procedure would be established under which newspaper men would be obliged to produce immediate proof of allegations which were considered libelous by the government, instead of being brought to trial after normal delays.

This law, if passed by parliament, would presumably apply to foreign correspondents as well as French newspaper men.

WOMEN BREAK POLICE LINES AT DOORS OF COURT

Four jurymen had been chosen to try Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop for the murder of her pretty daughter-in-law, Rheta Wynekoop, as the first day of the trial came to a close late yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph B. David. The first panel of four jurymen was made up of three married men and a bachelor. By profession there were two salesmen, a bookkeeper, and a draftsman.

Throughout the day a tumultuous crowd of women jammed the corridors of the Criminal Courts building and several times rushed the guard of policemen and bailiffs who tried to keep order. Although only a few spectators were allowed in the courtroom, which was filled with the special venire of jurymen and nearly 100 witnesses, the throng on two occasions caused disturbances which temporarily halted the proceedings.

Denies Barring Public.

At the close of the day it was reported that the public would be excluded from the courtroom at all future sessions as a result of the unruliness yesterday. Judge David denied these reports last evening, asserting, however, that he would allow no spectators to stand in the courtroom or the corridors outside. The seating capacity of the court is approximately 300. Until the trial proper begins much of this space will be reserved for veniremen and witnesses.

Dr. Wynekoop, who is 62 years old and in poor health, told inquirers that she was "O, so tired." However, she maintained unflagging interest in the questioning of the veniremen which consumed the entire day. For the first time since she has been in custody she appeared with her thin figure clad in well fitting clothes.

Defendant Dresses in Black.

Her white scarf, the only relief in an otherwise black costume, was wound high around her neck as she sat entirely composed while Assistant State's Attorneys Charles S. Dougherty and Martin Ward asked every prospective juror the question: "Have you any conscientious objection to inflicting the death penalty?"

Dr. Wynekoop's composure was reflected in the attitudes of her son, Walker, and her daughter, Dr. Katherine Wynekoop, who remained in the courtroom near their mother during the long session. Earle Wynekoop, the defendant's favorite son and the husband of the slain Rheta, was absent, and the three members of the family in the courtroom refused to discuss his whereabouts.

Search On for Earle.

It was learned, however, that state's attorney's investigators have been searching for Earle for more than a week. A squad of police has been stationed outside the Wynekoop home at 3406 West Monroe street awaiting his return. The investigators said that there were several questions concerning the murder which the state wants to ask him.

With the questioning of the first venireman, Dr. Wynekoop definitely learned that she is fighting for her life. The first query put to the men by the prosecutors was the one concerning their willingness to return a death sentence. Thirteen of the men had such objections, they said, and in every case they were immediately excused.

Defense Exercises Challenge.

At the end of the afternoon hearing thirty-nine veniremen had been questioned, and the state had at one time tendered the second panel to the defense attorneys, W. W. Smith and Frank Tyrrell. The defense immediately exercised its fourth peremptory challenge, and at 4 p. m., when Judge David adjourned the trial for the day, only three men in the second panel were acceptable to both defense and state.

Only once during the questioning of the jurors was Dr. Wynekoop consulted by her lawyers. This occurred just before the first four jurymen were accepted by the defense. The fourth juryman in this group was Charles W. Schmidtke, 23 years old, 1018 North Crawford avenue, who was recently married. Schmidtke is a draftsman.

No Objection from Doctor.

Attorney Tyrrell leaned toward Dr. Wynekoop and asked if she had an objection to Schmidtke's serving on the jury. She shook her head in negation and the panel was accepted. The

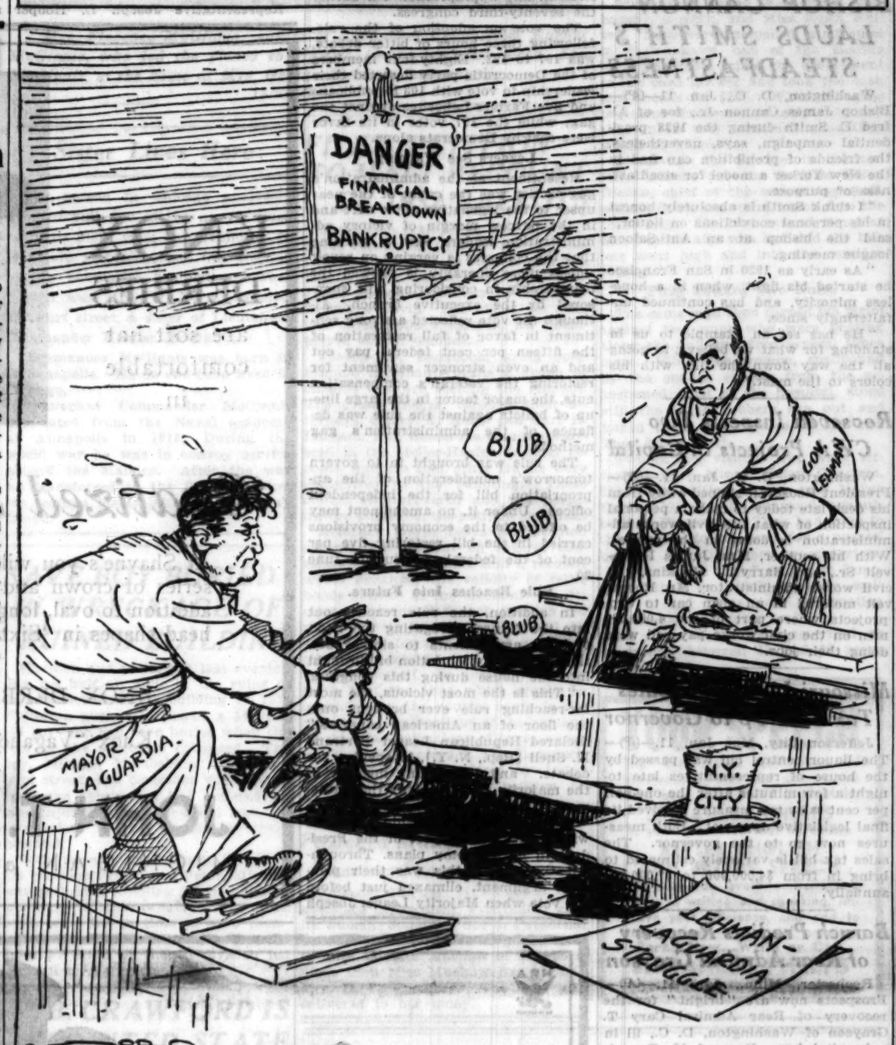
Get Seven Million for Outer Bridge

THE RESCUERS



U.S. Hands Out Cash to Finish Highway Link

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Seven million dollars of federal easy money to complete Chicago's outer drive bridge was advanced to the Lincoln and south park commissioners today by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

At the same time Secretary Ickes gave an outright grant of $84,000 to the Cook county commissioners for the paving of Glencoe and Green Bay roads, and advanced $31,000 to the Niles Center school district for construction of a gymnasium in connection with an existing school building.

Twelve hundred men will go back to work as a result of the seven millions in easy money allotted to the park boards and Cook county today, Secretary Ickes predicted. Nine hundred men will be given work for from 10 to 18 months on the outer drive bridge project alone, he said. Others will be given jobs supplying materials for the construction.

Brings Drive Nearer Finish.

In addition, the outer drive, stretching clear along the lake shore and forming one of the city's most important public improvements, will have been brought one step nearer to fruition by the installation of the bridge.

Today's three allotments to Chicago and vicinity probably are the last which the city will draw from the 3 billion 300 million dollar public works fund, with the possible exception of one housing project now being considered by the housing division of the easy money administration.

The actual allotment which Secretary Ickes made for the completion of the outer drive bridge amounts to $6,877,000, of which $4,934,000 goes to the south park board and $1,943,000 to the Lincoln park commissioners.

$1,672,500 Outright Gift.

Out of the total, $1,672,500 is an outright grant which need not be repaid. This sum, Secretary Ickes estimates, is sufficient to cover 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials on the bridge, and the public works law allows him to advance that much as a straight gift.

The remaining $5,205,000 is a loan, of which the south park board is to carry $3,716,000 and the Lincoln park board $1,489,000. Both boards are putting up their four per cent general obligation bonds as security.

Although the two boards had requested $7,445,000 for completion of the bridge, $568,000 more than they were allotted today, public works officials said they were sure the allotment would be sufficient. In cutting down the amount for the bridge, savings were ordered by the public works administration on certain engineering details.

Demand Use of Piling.

Chief among these was the use of piling instead of caissons in the approaches, a change which is expected to save $300,000.

The easy money grant is solely for new materials and construction work on the bridge. One section, which is understood now to be fabricated and only awaiting settlement of claims before it can be installed, will be used in finishing the bridge. Coffer dams and part of the approaches also are finished.

The $84,000 given the county commissioners for paving will be used in laying concrete paving on Glencoe road and Green Bay road from Scott avenue to the north county line. In addition an overpass will be constructed on Glencoe road and an underpass on Green Bay road.

All of the $84,000 is an outright grant, and it is to cover only 30 per

30 U. S. FLYERS LAND IN HAWAII; SET UP RECORD

Dash 2,396 Miles in 24¾ Hours.

BY CLIFFORD GESSLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 11.—Flying in "V" formation, the six United States navy seaplanes, carrying 30 men, completed their flight from San Francisco to Honolulu today. The air armada descended at the Pearl Harbor air fleet base at 12:30 p. m. Honolulu time [5 p. m central standard time].

Lieutenant Commander Knefler McGinnis had piloted his squadron in the longest mass flight over water in the history of aviation. The distance of 2,081 nautical miles, or 2,396 statute miles, was completed in the time of 24 hours and 45 minutes. The over-all elapsed time of the planes in the air was 26 hours and 11 minutes. The flight began at San Francisco at 4:23 p. m. [C. S. T.] yesterday.

Sirens Shriek Welcome.

The planes were sighted from Diamond Head at 12:11 p. m. Honolulu time [4:41 p. m. C. S. T.]. The ships approached the island of Oahu at an altitude of 1,000 feet amid the din of shrieking sirens and the cheers of thousands who had gathered to witness the climax of the thrilling flight.

The squadron arrived over Honolulu at a low altitude. Three local navy planes escorted the squadron to its goal. They had met the visiting planes 15 miles out at sea.

The planes, in perfect formation, roared over Pearl Harbor and circled the John Rodgers territorial airport named in honor of Commander John Rodgers, deceased hero of the navy's first flight to Hawaii eight years ago.

[In August, 1925, Commander Rodgers and a crew of four men were forced down off the coast of Kauai island. The plane had fallen short of reaching its goal by 450 miles and it was given up for lost. Nine days later a submarine located the plane and picked up the flyers.]

Commander McGinnis was first to descend. He taxied his plane to the seaplane ramp. The second plane came to rest a minute later. A third followed in 30 seconds. The last three landed in seven minutes.

Waves to Crowd.

The crowd broke into a tremendous cheer as McGinnis stepped onto the plane's wings and waved his hand. This demonstration was greatly in contrast to the navy department's description of the flight—"a routine transfer of service equipment from the coast to Honolulu."

Rear Admiral Harry Yarnell headed the welcoming committee, which included Rear Admiral W. C. Watts, Maj. Gen. Briant Wells, Gov. Lawrence M. Judd, Mayor Fred Wright, Lieut. Col. Gerald Brant, Charles Frazier, president of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, and Stanley Kennedy, president of the Inter-Island Airways.

As McGinnis stepped from the seaplane to the ramp the crowd rushed up to him and showered him with leis.

Lights a Cigaret.

The flight commander grinned. His first words were:

"Thank you. Do you mind if I light a cigaret?"

The crowd laughed as it surrounded McGinnis and other members of his squadron.

Commander Wayne Tod, commanding the fleet's air base at Pearl Harbor, escorted McGinnis to a microphone. The flight commander revealed that the trip was not as easy as had been expected.

"I am glad it is all behind us," he said. "It was a tough trip. We ran into fog and hazy weather from 7 o'clock last night until early today. Visibility was poor all the way in. In behalf of my squadron I am glad to accept your aloha."

The commander then introduced several members of the squadron, including T. P. Wilkinson, chief aviation pilot, who was assistant pilot in McGinnis' plane. He said much of the flight's success was due to Wilkinson. McGinnis also presented Radio Operator G. C. Eddy, who sat at the key in the commander's plane throughout the flight.

Other members of the squadron appeared weary and were hesitant to talk about their adventure.

Naval flyers at the air base had pre-

PLANE TO HUNT GIRL MISSING IN CANADIAN WILDS

Winnipeg, Jan. 11 — (AP) — J. F. Crosby, head of the Northwest Aeromarine company, will leave here tomorrow morning by plane to search for Pilot Bill May and Miss Fay Baker of Watertown, Wis., who set out last week for Winnipeg from The Pas, 350 miles north of here, in a tiny cabin plane. Nothing has been heard from them since. Flying conditions in the north during the last three days have been hazardous because of low hanging fog.

Daughter of Eye Specialist.

Watertown, Wis., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Mary Nebel, who has been on the stage in Canada under the name of Fay Baker, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nebel. Dr. Nebel is an eyes, ear, and throat specialist who moved here from Lake Geneva 10 months ago. Previous to the residence in Lake Geneva the family lived in Milwaukee.

BROTHER LIVES HERE.

Charles W. Nebel, 1244 North Dearborn street, a brother of the missing Fay Baker, was in constant communication with various Canadian points last night, seeking information.

"What I fear most is that she and her pilot were forced down in an isolated section, and may freeze to death," said Nebel.

Society Hits High C, but Not Jeritza

While some five hundred indignant women, including many of Chicago's society leaders, fumed yesterday morning at the nonappearance of Maria Jeritza, prima donna soprano, at the final Kinsolving concert in the Stevens hotel, the temperamental Viennese singer was secluded in her suite at the Drake hotel. Word was given out that she was ill.

The women music lovers had paid $3.30 each to hear Jeritza sing. Not until an hour before the scheduled performance at 11 a. m. was a notice posted that she would not appear. The notice stated that the money for tickets would be returned after Jan. 15 at the office of Miss Rachel Kinsolving, sponsor of the annual series of concerts in the Fine Arts building.

Stranded in Stevens Lobby.

Resentment ran high among the disappointed women. There were tears of vexation in the eyes of a number who had motored in from Lake Forest and had dismissed their chauffeurs until 2 p. m. These unfortunates were thus practically stranded for three hours. They wandered disconsolately about the big Stevens lobby. It was a poignant scene.

"Just for this, I won't go to hear Jeritza sing in 'Lohengrin' next Monday night at the opera," announced one matron, wrathfully.

Some of the other women applauded her spirit.

A group stood before a large picture of Jeritza across which was inscribed the legend: "Canceled."

"I suppose they thought they'd let us take a look at her picture anyway," sniffed a displeased patron.

Eight of the disappointed women engaged a private dining room and played contract bridge which was followed by a luncheon. They were Mrs. Edward M. Adams, Mrs. Robert E. Peacock, Mrs. Harry G. B. Alexander, Mrs. Harry W. Fuller, Mrs. Charles Safford, Mrs. George Danie, Mrs. Wilmot Harbach, and Mrs. Frederick E. Place.

Reporter Visits Jeritza Suite.

A reporter was assigned to interview Mme. Jeritza to ascertain, if possible, the reason for her failure to appear at the concert. The comely blonde soprano is noted for her excitable bursts of temperament and it was thought that her "illness" might be attributed to some other cause than a lowly microbe.

After some argument with Miss

ADMIRAL BYRD FINDS UNKNOWN POLAR PASSAGE

ABOARD ADMIRAL BYRD'S FLAGSHIP IN THE ANTARCTIC, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Spurred by the hope that an unknown back passage into Little America had been found, the Byrd expedition drove its flagship steadily southward today in an open sea. The track of the vessel supposedly is barred to navigation by a huge ice pack off Antarctica, but nothing of it had been seen.

At noon, the vessel's position was latitude 69 degrees, 2 minutes south, longitude 152 degrees, 20 minutes west, about 700 miles northeast of Little America and 600 miles west of the usual passage into the Ross sea to Little America.

Three weeks ago the ice pack was encountered 187 miles north and 60 miles east of the present position, and officers today wondered as to the pack's present position.

"It is one of the most puzzling mysteries of the kind I have ever come across," said Admiral Byrd.

'COUPLE WITHOUT A COUNTRY' NEAR DEATH IN FAST

NANKING, China, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Noulens, a "couple without a country," their features drawn and pale and their bodies emaciated, clung to a slender thread of life today as they resolutely maintained their "fast to death" in protest against a refusal for a new trial.

They were sentenced in 1932 as ringleaders in a communist plot. He entered his hunger strike twenty-three days ago. The wife, Gertrude, was in the fifteenth day of her fast. They are life prisoners in a Chinese jail here.

While they were thought to be of Swiss nationality at the time of their trial the fact that they went under several aliases and possessed at least five different passports obscured their nationality. In another jail twenty Chinese girls accused of various political offenses were in the eighth day of a hunger strike in sympathy with the Noulens.

pared a luncheon for the Pacific airmen, but the latter said they had plenty of food en route and preferred to "hit the hay."

Commander McGinnis announced that the gasoline supplies of the squadron were more than enough.

"We could have gone on to Midway island [about 1,200 miles west and north of Honolulu] if the navy had wanted us to," he said.

The entire squadron was sighted by all six guard ships stationed along the route in the Pacific with the exception of plane No. 5. Its commander, Lieut. St. John Perry, said that he missed the ships Breese and Whippoorwill.

"I knew my position at all times and had no trouble rejoining the squadron," he explained.

Admit Flying Blind.

Before retiring other members of the squadron admitted that they flew blind practically the entire 2,400 miles.

The squadron reached the halfway mark, passing over the minesweeper Whippoorwill, 1,220 miles from San Francisco, at 6:55 a. m. [C.S.T.] today. They were flying at a speed of about 100 miles per hour. At 10:21 a. m. Lieut. Commander McGinnis radioed "Everything going fine." In the next two hours he reported sighting the aircraft tender Wright and the minesweeper Pelican, the last of the guard ships which were stationed about 300 miles apart along the route.

At 1 p. m. [C.S.T.] the planes were 385 miles from their goal and flying at about 92 miles per hour. Commander McGinnis radioed that he expected to land at Pearl Harbor about 5 o'clock.

Throngs Line the Shore.

Throngs lined the shores and dotted the hilltops long before noon to catch sight of the planes. A crowd began arriving at Pearl Harbor as early as 9 a. m. on the invitation of Admiral Yarnell.

Hundreds of persons called the newspaper offices and radio stations for the latest bulletins on the flight's progress. Roads near the shore of the island of Oahu were lined with automobiles. Schools were dismissed to enable pupils to witness the arrival.

Gov. Judd ordered three blasts of the siren on Aloha tower when the planes were sighted from Diamond Head. The siren is sounded only on extraordinary occasions Practically all of Honolulu's 140,000 population was wildly excited over the first flight to Hawaii since Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith landed here on May 31, 1928, on his record breaking trans-Pacific flight to Australia. Kingsford-Smith flew from Oakland, Cal., to Honolulu in 27 hours and 17 minutes.

Record Breaking Planes.

The planes used on the San Francisco-Honolulu flight already had participated in one record breaking — a mark which was shattered today. On Sept. 7-8 the squadron, except for one plane which was delayed en route, flew from Norfolk, Va., to Colo Solo, Panama, undr the command of Lieutenant Commander D. M. Carpenter. That flight of 1,788 nautical miles was completed in 24 hours and 55 minutes and eclipsed the 1,618.77 nautical miles covered by the Italian air armada's flight to Brazil in 1931. From Panama the planes were flown to San Diego, then to San Francisco before proceeding to Honolulu.

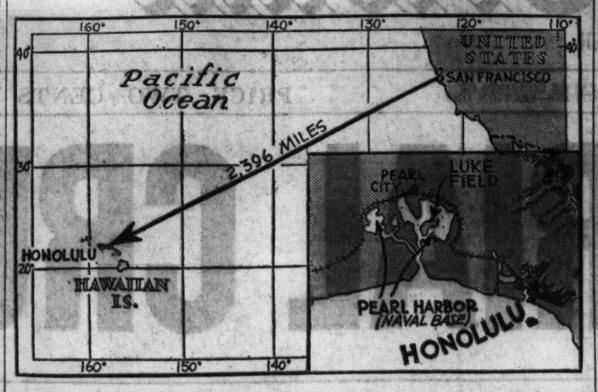
30 NAVAL FLYERS LAND AT HONOLULU



Six American naval planes, carrying 30 men, completed the longest overseas mass flight in aviation history yesterday on a 2,396 mile "routine" transfer from California to Hawaii. Heavy line on map shows course the squadron followed on its flight from San Francisco to Honolulu. Inset on map shows Honolulu and the Pearl harbor naval base where the flyers landed after being in the air 24 hours and 45 minutes.

CHIEFS OF U. S. NAVY HEAP PRAISE UPON AIRMEN OF PACIFIC

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Congratulations and praise tonight were heaped upon the navy flyers after their arrival at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, from San Francisco. The assistant secretary of the navy, Henry L. Roosevelt, radioed Lieutenant Commander Knefler McGinnis:

"Well done. The navy is proud of your squadron. My congratulations and warm personal regards to officers and men."

Admiral William F. Standley, chief of naval operations, sent the following message:

"Congratulations. Well done."

Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, sent this:

"The chief and officers of the bureau of aeronautics heartily congratulate the commander of squadron No. 10 and his officers and men on the successful and workmanlike accomplishment of the nonstop flight from San Francisco to Honolulu, which is the longest formation nonstop flight in the history of aviation."

In a statement Secretary Roosevelt said:

"I have been looking over reports as they came in and they show a variety of flying conditions over the course, including some blind flying, but McGinnis went along hour after hour at economical cruising speed, and seems to have met nothing that he considered unusual.

"That is what I like best about the whole thing. The flight was in no sense a stunt. They used our service planes without alteration or addition in personnel or equipment and did an extraordinary thing in a routine way. That is how I want the navy to function."

Army Plane Damaged on Takeoff; Gen. Parker Unhurt

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 11.—(AP)—An amphibian plane in which Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commandant of the Philippine department of the United States army, was a passenger, was damaged in attempting to take off at Legaspi today. Its four occupants escaped injury. Gen. Parker is on an inspection tour of the islands.

BISHOP CANNON LAUDS SMITH'S STEADFASTNESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., foe of Alfred E. Smith during the 1928 presidential campaign, says, nevertheless, the friends of prohibition can find in the New Yorker a model for steadfastness of purpose.

"I think Smith is absolutely honest in his personal convictions on liquor," said the bishop at an Anti-Saloon league meeting.

"As early as 1920 in San Francisco he started his fight, when in a hopeless minority, and has continued unfalteringly since.

"He has set an example to us in standing for what we believe; in going all the way down the line with his colors to the mast."

Roosevelt Inspects Two CWA Projects in Capital

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt slipped away from his desk late today to make a personal inspection of what the civil works administration is doing in the capital. With his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt Sr., and Harry L. Hopkins, the civil works administrator, Mr. Roosevelt motored in an open car to two projects where part of the 4,000,000 men on the civil works pay roll were doing their jobs.

Missouri Liquor and Sales Tax Bills Up to Governor

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—The liquor control bill was passed by the house of representatives late tonight a few minutes after the one-half per cent sales tax measure received its final legislative approval. Both measures now go to the governor. The sales tax bill is variously estimated to bring in from $4,000,000 to $7,000,000 annually.

Baruch Predicts Recovery of Rear Admiral Grayson

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Prospects now are "bright" for the recovery of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson of Washington, D. C., ill in a hospital here, Bernard M. Baruch of New York, said today.

GAG RULE WINS BY FIVE VOTES IN HOUSE TEST

84 Democrats Join G.O.P. in Opposition.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The slender margin of five votes in an aroused house of representatives today saved President Roosevelt from his first congressional defeat on a major administration measure.

The same narrow majority spelled adoption of the most drastic gag rule ever proposed in congress. Brought in by the Democratic leadership to safeguard the President's plans, regarding restoration of federal pay cuts, the rule stifles the right of individual congressmen to amend economy provisions in any appropriation bill during the seventy-third congress.

The vote on adoption of the rule, following three hours of bitter debate, was 197 to 192. Eighty-four members of the Democratic party deserted their leadership to vote with 103 Republicans and five Farmer-Laborites against the gag, while the 197 votes in its favor were cast by Democrats alone.

Leaders See Warning.

Resentment at the administration's gag tactics was the cause of the near upset to the legislative apple cart and in the narrow margin of victory administration leaders saw a warning that the congress is verging on revolt unless more liberality is allowed the membership in considering bills sponsored by the executive branch. Although the vote reflected a strong sentiment in favor of full restoration of the fifteen per cent federal pay cut and an even stronger sentiment for restoring the veteran's compensation cuts, the major factor in the large lineup of ballots against the rule was defiance of the administration's gag methods.

The rule was brought in to govern tomorrow's consideration of the appropriation bill for the independent offices. Under it, no amendment may be offered to the economy provisions carried in the bill restoring five per cent of the federal pay cut on June 30.

Rule Reaches Into Future.

In addition, the rule reaches out into the future, abrogating the right to offer amendments to similar sections of any appropriation bill brought into the house during this congress.

"This is the most vicious, the most far-reaching rule ever brought onto the floor of an American congress," declared Republican Leader Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], in opening the debate. "and I defy any member of the majority party to deny that statement."

The Democratic leadership answered with a plea for support of the President in his economy plans. Throughout the debate, this was their principal argument, climaxed just before the vote when Majority Leader Joseph [Rep., Mich.], however, saw in today's conflict an issue far removed from politics and economy. He charged the house to remember that in today's acceptance or rejection of a gag rule virtually nullifying the function of a representative of the people, there might be a test for the strength of parliamentary government.

"It seems to me," Mr. Hooper continued, "that we have an opportunity here today to strike a real blow for parliamentary government in the United States."

From the Democratic side, as Mr. Hooper concluded, came a charge that the administration was seeking to "Hitlerize" the congress.

SENATE GETS 14 BILLS TO PREVENT SALE OF GUNS TO GANGSTERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Fourteen bills designed to make virtually impossible the possession of firearms by gangsters were introduced today by Senator Copeland as the result of studies by a special senate committee of which he was chairman.

Two of the proposed measures, Senator Copeland explained, would place an unprecedented check not only on the sale of firearms, but on ammunition. None of the measures applies to shotguns, rifles, or other weapons used in sport.

The bills would provide for the licensing of manufacturers of small arms and of dealers. Each pistol or machine gun would bear not only the manufacturer's number but one supplied by the government. A description of each and a bullet fired from the barrel of each one would be filed with the government.

W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], took the floor to charge the Republicans with partisan political motives in opposing the rule.

MAKE ATTACK ON SPECULATION IN CEMETERY LOTS

Members of the Association of Illinois Cemeteries and the Cook County Cemetery association assembled yesterday for their semi-annual convention at the Hotel La Salle. The discussion centered upon the question of whether burial grounds should be conducted as "memorial park" cemeteries or as the old type graveyards. The group condemned the practice of individuals who speculate in cemetery lots. A general discussion of a NRA code and a reorganization of the association will occupy the concluding sessions today.

Grandmother's Plea Wins Tipsy Driver's Freedom

Henry J. Marvin, 27 years old, 1847 Clybourn avenue, charged with driving while intoxicated, was dismissed yesterday by Judge N. J. Bonelli in Traffic court after Marvin's 73 year old grandmother, Mrs. Anna Marvin, made a tearful plea in his behalf. Henry, according to the grandmother, never took a drink of liquor until Dec. 23, the day of his arrest. He agreed never to drink again.

SUPREME COURT OF SPAIN HEARS YANKEES' PLEA

Will Rule on Acquittal in Palma Row.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Jan. 11.—Seven judges of the highest court in the land today listened to a Spanish lawyer explain that five Americans, including a young woman, never understood for a moment the gravity of their offense when they struck a civil guard one night after a gay drinking party at Palma, Mallorca.

The lawyer for the Americans acted with almost theatrical austerity by making a restrained rather than an impassioned plea for his clients. He calmly recited that the offense for which the quintet already has been quite severely punished was a frequent occurrence apparently in American cities. He added that striking a policeman in the United States is a case for only minor courts of justice and seldom has more serious consequences for a belligerent citizen than a night in jail and a moderate fine the next morning.

Because military as well as public prosecutors have the same rights as defendants to appeal to the Supreme court from a decision of a lower court, the acquittal by a Mallorca court martial of these unhappy Americans last October was reviewed today.

Decision Within 8 Days.

The court will hand down a decision within eight days.

One of three judgments must be rendered by the Supreme court. It can confirm the acquittal of the court martial, it can reverse the court martial and fix a sentence, or it can send the case back to the military tribunal for another trial.

It was learned upon good authority today that American Ambassador Claude Bowers was visited by a high official of the Spanish government after his intervention terminated an eight weeks' imprisonment for the Americans while they were awaiting trial.

Eager to Soothe U. S.

He hinted that the Palma officials had hoped to embarrass Madrid by injuring Spanish-American relations through the harsh treatment of the five defendants.

It is undestood that Mr. Bowers also was told the Spanish government will be willing to grant an immediate pardon of the five Americans should the Supreme court reverse the court martial's acquittal and find them guilty.

It is known the Spanish government is nervous over the case, particularly at a time when efforts are being made to persuade the United States to import Spanish wines.

Rutherford Fullerton of Columbus, O., was the only one of the five defendants present at today's hearing. The other defendants are: Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass.; Roderick F. Mead, New York, and Edmund Blodgett, Stamford, Conn.

JAILED AS KILLER OF GIRL IN STREET CAR GUN ATTACK

Police last night arrested David Sweatman, 19 years old, a Negro, of 127 East 55th street, as the man who on Saturday night shot and killed Miss Mary Van Bokhover, 20 years old, of 2021 West 47th street, as she was riding in a State street car at 53d street.

Sweatman was seized in a flat at 15 East 60th street by Policemen Michael Hussey, James Wolfe, John Reed, and Walter Johnston of the Wabash avenue station. He confessed, police said, declaring the shooting was accidental. Charles Conley, 7110 Lafayette avenue, and William Massner, the street car conductor, identified him.

The shooting resulted from a dispute between Sweatman and Conley. After demanding more room on the platform Sweatman jumped from the car and fired the shot which killed the girl.

Edith Mason's Plump Figure Principal Issue in Law Suit

The ample but still alluring form of Edith Mason Polacco was subjected to two hours of almost indecorous scrutiny yesterday during hearing of a lawsuit before Municipal Judge Howard Hayes. Two attorneys, four law clerks and sundry reporters, all of male gender, composed the audience. The case was tried in chambers.

The opera singer had been summoned into court by Jacques, Inc., dressmakers at 545 North Michigan avenue, on a charge that she had refused to pay $375 for two gowns she had ordered four years ago, and later had returned. Miss Mason averred the dresses didn't fit, and so her physique immediately became the principal issue in the case.

Dressmakers Check Inches.

Three dressmakers surrounded her, calling off the inches as they passed tapelines down her back and around her bust and hips, but Miss Mason did not seem to mind.

Indeed, the singer volunteered to don the dresses in question. While the judge evinced interest, the other side demurred, objecting that Miss Mason might have taken on some poundage since the gowns were made. Under the circumstances the defendant did the best she could by draping the gowns across her shoulders.

"They're too small in every way, judge," she exclaimed in a silvery voice, draping the lighter gown across her bosom.

Admits She's Buxom.

"And they're too short, as well," she added, demonstrating how the gown would be pulled above her knees when she sat down. "I'm no perfect thirty-six and I don't like short dresses; I'm too fat for that."

Counsel for the plaintiff called the manager of the dress shop, Florence Dietrich, and the fitter, Alma Peterson. When Miss Mason first tried on the dresses, they chorused, she had pronounced them "perfect," and even had given the fitter a $10 tip.

Miss Peterson averred she still recalled Miss Mason's measurements from memory, so often had she fitted her. Attorney E. S. Hartman for the dress shop encouraged her to try the feat, but she soon began to flounder as Attorney Elliodor Libonati interposed corrections for Miss Mason.

Measurements Recited.

"The bust?" Miss Peterson hesitated. "At that time it was 41½. The waist was 32, and the hips were 48. From the back of the neck to the waist was 16½."

"Suppose I told you the hips were 43," Libonati challenged. "Suppose I said the neck to waist line was 15 instead of 16½. Would you admit you could be 1½ inches in error?"

"I'm not so sure," the fitter replied.

Miss Mason smiled skeptically as the fitter tried to explain how the construction of a corset can change a woman's waist line with the seasons. Impatiently, she broke in with an assertion that other waist lines might change in slavish obedience to fashion, but hers never!

Offers to Don Dress.

"I'll put the dress on right here and your honor can see for yourself," she proffered to Judge Hayes.

"Well, I can't be put in the position of instructing a lady to take off her clothes," the judge hesitated, "but if your attorney is willing, why——"

Attorney Libonati was willing, but Attorney Hartman disagreed. It would be simpler, he argued, to have some impartial expert make a comparison of Miss Mason's measurements and those of the gowns. Such an expert will be produced at a resumption of the case next Monday.

Sister Lives Here

One person in Chicago anxiously awaited bulletins of the navy's mass seaplane flight from San Francisco to Honolulu yesterday, and was cheered by its successful completion. That person was Mrs. W. D. A. Peaslee, 550 Surf street, a sister of Lieutenant Commander Knefler McGinnis.

Commander McGinnis was born in Indianapolis. He at one time lived in Chicago.

Lieutenant Commander McGinnis graduated from the Naval academy at Annapolis in 1916. During the world war he was in convoy service aboard the Mallory. After the war he transferred to the flying service. He secured his training at Rockaway Beach.

SAVE BOY BURIED IN WRECKAGE OF RUINED BUILDING

Firemen and policemen last evening dug for half an hour in the ruins of an abandoned frame building at 1538 Fullerton avenue to rescue a 14 year old boy who had been buried when the roof of the structure collapsed. The boy, Michael Mucibabich, 1543 Montana street, was conscious when taken from the debris, but had suffered severe injuries to his back and legs. He was taken to the Alexian Brothers hospital.

With several companions, including his brothers Robert and Peter, Michael was gathering kindling in the building when the collapse occurred. The other boys, who fled in time to save themselves, summoned help and Marshal John P. Stahl of the 3d division led a detail to the rescue.

W. B. CRAWFORD IS APPOINTED STATE HOLC SUPERVISOR

Another step in the reorganization of the Illinois Home Owners' Loan corporation offices was announced yesterday by William H. McNeal, special representative of the Washington staff of the HOLC. Walter B. Crawford of 5510 Kenmore avenue has been appointed district office supervisor and will make a survey of district offices in Illinois in an effort to relieve congestion and increase loan activity.

Mr. Crawford is a native of southern Illinois and has spent twenty years in the banking business at West Frankfort. He was president of the Illinois Bankers' association in 1926 and a member of the executive council of the American Bankers' association.

REED SAYS COURT WENT LONG WAY ON MORATORIUM

Former United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri yesterday ventured a "lay opinion" that the United States Supreme court decision "went a long way" in upholding the Minnesota law providing a moratorium on mortgages.

"I have not had time to read the opinion carefully," said the former senator, "and would rather not comment on it. I may have a statement to make later. I want to be careful what I say, not because I am afraid of the court but because this involves a serious question."

FILES PETITION TO HALT RECOUNT OF 1932 BALLOTS

A petition seeking to stop the proposed recount of Chicago election district ballots cast in the November, 1932, election was filed before County Judge Jarecki yesterday by Attorney Theodore Levin. His client, he said, was Miss Belle Friedman, an unemployed school teacher.

Joseph W. Badenoch, grain commission merchant, heads a group of citizens who are seeking the recount. The group alleges, through their attorneys, Harry E. Kelly and Carl R. Latham, that numerous frauds uncovered in the Heller-Hasten judicial recount indicate that other frauds were committed in the balloting. These should be uncovered and the perpetrators punished, the petition demands.

Attorney Levin bases his petition against the recount on several considerations. He claims that a recount would endanger the validity of relief bonds ratified at the election. He declares that the Badenoch petition did not definitely accept the financial responsibility for the recount and that the county might in the end be forced to foot the bill. In addition, he sets forth that the time which would be expended by the county court in deciding the ramifications of the recount would delay collections of taxes under the Kerner-Skarda act. The Badenoch petition will be considered by Judge Jarecki today. Levin's petition to stop the recount is also on call.

GANG SHOOTS UP HOSPITAL IN EVANSTON

Robbers' Bullets Peril Employes; $200 Taken.

Three armed men entered the St. Francis hospital at 855 Ridge avenue, Evanston, late yesterday afternoon, fired half a dozen shots that threw the patients into panic, and escaped with $200 after terrorizing five hospital employes and several visitors.

Leaving three companions in an automobile on the street, the armed trio marched into the front door of the hospital. While one stood in the hallway with drawn pistol the other two went into the office.

Menace Girls in Office.

There they found Miss Ruth Verhasselt, a clerk, and Miss Edith Ketzell. Both were compelled to sit quiet in their chairs, one of the bandits menacing them while the other went to the cash drawer and took the cash and checks for $100. When the girls protested they were roughly informed that unless they remained quiet they would be killed.

Meanwhile the sentinel in the corridor became nervous as Miss Helen Diedan, chief of the accounting staff, walked down the stairs which face the front door. He fired several times at her, but his aim was bad and the bullets went high and into the corridor ceiling.

Fires Toward Two Nuns.

The same man then turned his pistol against two nuns who were passing along the hall and fired several times more. While the women, spellbound by the sudden change from the accustomed quiet of the hospital, stood still the three robbers ran out and joined their confederates in the car. They drove north.

Two of the visitors who were terrorized were Misses Helen Donohue, 328 North Utica street, and Marge Burke, 199 North Elmwood avenue, both of Waukegan. They had gone to the hospital to get news for a nurses' bulletin for which they are reporters.

"This is one time," said Miss Donohue, "that we didn't have to wait long to get some real information about what was going on."

All the robbers were described as apparently between 18 and 22 years of age.

FOUR WYNEKOOP JURORS CHOSEN ON OPENING DAY

Judge David Orders Panel Completed Today.

four jurors were immediately sworn and locked up. Three other jurymen who had been tentatively selected and a fourth who was being questioned at the end of the day also were locked up.

Judge Compliments Attorney.

Judge David complimented the attorneys on both sides at the end of the day, saying: "Gentlemen, we made good speed today. However, there were many men excused who I believe would have made good jurors."

"Well," replied Prosecutor Dougherty, "we know what sort of jurors we want and we are doing the best we can."

"I realize that," said the judge, "but I am going to sit tomorrow until we get a jury if it takes us until 7 o'clock at night."

The three jurors beside Schmidtke in the first panel are: Archie J. Bennett, 5315 Congress street, unmarried, sales manager for A. G. Spalding & Co.; Edward Healy, 42 years old, 8311 South May street, a bookkeeper, married and the father of three children; and Arnold Macholl, 4966 North Kolmar avenue, married, a salesman.

Three Tentatively Selected.

The three veniremen tentatively accepted are: Fred Marsh, 37 years old, 3512 North Keeler avenue, married and father of two children, a photo engraver; Austin C. Flint, 5012 North Winchester avenue, single, an engineer; and David Goldstein, 838 East 51st street, single. William A. Gummit, 7127 Ellis avenue, father of three children, who also was locked up with the jurymen, was being questioned when court adjourned until this morning.

The trial opened with all the trappings of a Hollywood première. A throng of enthusiastic men and women, with a preponderance of the latter sex, began gathering in the corridors of the Criminal Courts building at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. By 9 o'clock when bailiffs opened the courtroom doors a crowd of 600 started a rush, which was checked only when an extra force of bailiffs and uniformed policemen was called.

At one time during the disorder Chief Bailiff James E. Gabriel mounted a chair in the midst of the struggling mass and shouted for order. The women outshouted him, but the policemen, locking arms, eventually restored quiet and herded the crowd into lines.

Dr. Wynekoop had prepared for trial by donning a new ensemble all in black. Wearing a new black caracul coat, a wide brimmed felt hat draped with a veil, a heavy silk crêpe dress and patent leather slippers, she was placed in a wheel chair in her cell and taken through the tunnel connecting the courthouse with the jail.

Dr. Wynekoop Arrives.

Her arrival caused another outburst from the spectators, who surrounded her chair as she was being taken into the courtroom on the fifth floor of the building. Assisted to her feet by Mrs. Mary Kennedy, the jail matron, who was dressed in a white uniform, Dr. Wynekoop walked about thirty feet to a seat at her counsel's table.

The doctor's arrival was timed so that she was in her seat and the wheel chair was out of sight before the special venire of 100 jurymen was led into the courtroom. The state had agreed to allow the defendant to be wheeled into court on condition that her infirmity would be concealed from the jurors. Part of the arrangement was the provision that the jury must always depart before Dr. Wynekoop leaves the courtroom.

Fewer than 100 Spectators.

The veniremen filled all seats on one side of the room, and the witnesses subpoenaed by both the state and defense filled almost all the seats on the other side. Less than 100 of those who had waited in the halls were admitted into the room. Judge David had issued an order that no spectators would be allowed standing room during the trial.

Walker Wynekoop entered the courtrom with his mother's counsel, W. W. Smith and Frank J. Tyrell. His sister, Dr. Katherine Wynekoop, who is also a physician, appeared a few moments later and walked over to the defendant's chair. She kissed her mother's pale lips and then took a seat beside her brother a few feet from the mother's chair.

Miss Enid Hennessy, the school teacher who has been a resident of the Wynekoop home for the last ten years, took a seat in the rear of the room and began reading a book. Before the morning session was over she walked out.

"Let's Get Going," Says Judge.

Judge David entered the courtroom, while bailiffs pounded their gavels, and took charge of the proceedings. After ordering every one who had risen at his entrance to take seats, he said: "Shuffle the cards of these jurymen. Let's get this thing going."

Prosecutor Dougherty stepped before the first twelve jurors who filled the jury box and read a statement informing them that they were to hear the trial of Dr. Wynekoop, charged with the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, on last Nov. 21. He explained that the indictment of Dr. Wynekoop contained a number of counts, charging that the slain girl had been shot and chloroformed.

Her waxen pale face turned toward the jury and her eyes hidden behind her veil and large spectacles, Dr. Wynekoop heard the statement impassively. Once she heaved a sigh. A moment later as Mr. Dougherty was reciting the manner in which Rheta came to her death, Dr. Wynekoop clasped her hands on the table. Then she relaxed in her chair and although attentive, gave no other outward sign of the strain which her jail physician, Dr. Francis W. McNaamara, had said she was under.

Mr. Dougherty proceeded swiftly, reading to the jurors the names of the 57 witnesses the state will expect to call during the trial. Then he began questioning the first juror, Edward J. Healy, 8311 South May street, bookkeeper for a trucking concern.

"Can't you ask the general qualifying questions before you go into the family history of these jurymen?" demanded Judge David, interrupting the prosecutor.

Prosecutor Dougherty bowed to the judge and then, turning to the jurors, said:

"In a case of this sort the jury fixes the guilt or innocence of the defendant and fixes the punishment. Now in an indictment of this sort——"

"You mean in a murder case, do you not, Mr. Dougherty?" interrupted Judge David.

"Yes," was the reply. "In a murder case like this the punishment in this state is imprisonment for any number of years, not less than 14, or the death penalty."

Turning then to Healy, he demanded:

"Have you any scruples against inflicting the death penalty?"

The courtroom was quiet as the juryman answered in a low voice, "No, I have not."

The questions of the prosecutor indicated that the state intends to allow the defense to make no appeal to sympathy of the jury because of the age of the defendant. They also indicated that the state expects the defense to make a point of the relationship between the two women to prove that Dr. Wynekoop did not commit murder.

During the morning the defense used three peremptory challenges and the state one. The state excused two jurors for cause, one man saying that he had a conscientious objection to inflicting the death penalty, and another declaring that he knew three of the state witnesses.

Clear 5th Floor Corridors.

At one time during the session a disturbance in the corridors outside the courtroom as crowds milled about caused Judge David to halt the proceedings while the bailiffs cleared the fifth floor. The questioning then continued.

At 11:30 a. m., after an hour and a half session, the defense tendered the first panel of four jurymen, but the state used its peremptory challenge and the morning session closed with the first panel unchosen.

Dr. Wynekoop remained in the courtroom, having her luncheon brought in by her son. She was too weak to be taken back to jail for the noon meal, Matron Kennedy explained.

Doctor Seems Stronger.

After luncheon Dr. Wynekoop seemed to gather strength. She showed more interest in the courtroom and one time looked over the spectators, who returned her glance and nudged one another. Occasionally she exchanged a few words with her daughter, who during the afternoon session pulled her chair alongside that of her mother.

Dr. Wynekoop summoned Prosecutor Dougherty over to her chair as the jury filed out at the end of the day. She asked permission to bring a package into the jail and graciously thanked the prosecutor when he announced that he would not oppose it.

As she was being wheeled to her cell in the county jail Dr. Wynekoop said: "I don't know when I have been so tired, but I will bear up somehow if it is humanly possible to do so."

NOTES ON WYNEKOOP TRIAL

Half of the seats behind the railing in Judge Joseph B. David's courtroom were occupied by veniremen as the murder trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop began yesterday. The other half was filled almost solidly with women. From the press seats in front of these occasional whispered comments of the women were heard. A young woman with lips heavily rouged was heard to murmur: "That judge is cute, isn't he?"

At one point in the morning proceedings Deputy Sheriff A. J. Ginter, guarding the main door, opened it to admit two women. Immediately a crowd of women waiting in the corridor rushed for the door. Their shouts were heard within the courtroom, while Judge David arose and shouted as loudly, ordering the corridor cleared.

The only visible agitation revealed by Dr. Alice Wynekoop was the almost constant swinging of one of her narrow feet. The cotton stockings and low heeled oxfords worn by her on her arrest were replaced by chiffon stockings and trim strapped patent leather slippers.

Throughout the day the defendant betrayed the keen but impersonal interest of a casual spectator. She leaned an elbow on the table and, chin in hand, studied the veniremen with a steady gaze. Or she leaned back in her chair, her eyes still upon the twelve faces before her. At one time Mrs. Mary Kennedy, the jail matron, leaned toward her, arm about her chair, then nodded and moved the doctor's chair so she faced the jury box more squarely.

Judge David, who wore a wing collar and moire silk tie of subdued hues with his judicial robes, rarely was still. He jumped up and, standing, leaned forward, elbow on the judicial desk. "Is anything the matter with your voice?" he shouted at a prospective juror, a young man who wore a violent red necktie and spoke in gentle tones. At other times he jumped up and stood behind the bench, leaning on his high backed chair, rumpling his short cropped gray hair with one hand.

The first women in the lineup before the court was open were Miss Estelle White, 3503 West 61st street, and Miss Lena Eichhorn, Cass hotel. Miss White described herself as a "home girl." Miss Eichhorn said she was on a week's vacation, which she hoped to spend at the trial by arising at 4 a. m. each day.

Dr. Wynekoop's spiritual counselor, the Rev. John Henry Hopkins, formerly rector of the Church of the Redeemer, hurried to her side whenever possible. He was formerly the Wynekoop family pastor and came from his home in Vermont to be with her during the trial. Dr. Wynekoop, pursing her lips and murmuring words of sympathy, as if he were the defendant and she were comforting him, took his hand in one of hers and patted it.

Dr. Katherine Wynekoop and her brother, Walker, showed their profiles to the gaze of the courtroom spectators. They are the defendant's children. Walker's crisply curling reddish hair, his turned up nose, his firm chin, and chiseled mouth were repeated in his sister. Katherine wore on off the face black hat and nose veil, black coat with Persian lamb collar.

Miss Priscilla Witti, 7015 Merrill avenue, one of two girls whom Earle Wynekoop met at the World's Fair and courted, appeared in court when the trial started. She left when Prosecutor Dougherty told her that she would be notified when her testimony is needed.

EVENTS LEADING TO MURDER TRIAL OF DR. WYNEKOOP

Following are the chronological events that preceded the murder trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop:

Nov. 21—Rheta Wynekoop's body found on operating table in Dr. Alice Wynekoop's home at 3408 West Monroe street. Police begin questioning of Dr. Alice Wynekoop.

Nov. 22—Police seek Earle Wynekoop, missing husband of Rheta.

Nov. 23—Earle Wynekoop returns from Kansas City and is taken into custody; offers alibi.

Nov. 24—Dr. Wynekoop confesses she chloroformed Rheta while treating her and then, finding her daughter-in-law dead, fired a bullet into her body as the "best way out." Coroner's jury finds Dr. Wynekoop responsible for Rheta's death.

Nov. 25—Dr. Wynekoop is ordered to jail by Judge David; she collapses as she enters jail.

Nov. 27—Dr. Wynekoop repudiates her "confession" from bed in jail infirmary.

Nov. 29—Dr. Wynekoop is indicted on charge of murder.

Dec. 4—Case is ordered to trial Jan. 4 in Judge David's court.

Jan. 4—Trial is continued to Jan. 11.

I'M LEGITIMATE KIN OF MONARCH, BRITON INSISTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Charles Gordon Guy Haddon, who claims to be a nephew of King George and who is awaiting trial in historic Old Bailey court on a charge of attempting to blackmail the monarch appeared in court today. The 43 year old unemployed engineer asked permission to call witnesses to prove that he is a legitimate son of the late duke of Clarence, the late elder brother of King George, and not illegitimate, as he has heretofore claimed.

Haddon today alleged that his mother secretly married the duke, who then was the second heir to the throne after King Edward.

"I have witnesses to say that my mother was secretly married to the duke of Clarence," Haddon told Justice Charles when questioned about the application to issue subpoenas.

"We don't say anything about that," the justice replied. "I will allow the subpoenas. I only want to indicate that if I find they have no relevance to the charge itself, although they may be relevant to other matters, you will, I know, expect me in pursuance of my duty not to hear them."

The defendant nodded his head.

Haddon was arrested Nov. 29 on the charge that he wrote letters to King George asserting his kinship and demanding a $3,000 annual income. He said he wanted "enough ready money to start a modern boarding house."

The engineer has been at liberty on a $500 bond.

REPORT 78 DEAD AS FLOODS POUR OVER S. AMERICA

MENDOZA, Argentina, Jan. 11.—(AP)—One of the worst rainstorms on record caused widespread damage in the Cordilleras region last night and today. Unconfirmed reports said 70 persons drowned in the floods.

The swollen Mendoza river destroyed bridges, highway, and power houses with the result that communication facilities were disrupted.

One Million Damage in Guiana.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Sodden British Guiana today surveyed damage roughly estimated at $1,000,000 throughout the countryside, inundated by devastating rains of the last five days.

MINERS DEFY U. S. WARNING; CALL STRIKE MEETING

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Leaders of the United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania late today said a threat of strike in the hard coal fields is unaltered by word from Washington that the national labor board may consider plans to intervene.

Thomas Maloney, district president, said the convention at which a strike call will be issued will convene Saturday.

Angered by failure to obtain promise of federal action, officers of the union asserted the strike in the Luzerne and Lackawanna regions is certain and that the Shamokin district may be drawn in.

Notice of the impending strike was served by the union leaders upon their return from Washington with the statement that they had failed to obtain a hearing or make a definite appointment with Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the national labor board, or other federal officials.

The trouble arises partly from refusal of some operators to recognize the new union, formed after a split over policy with the United Mine Workers of America, and partly from failure of the operators to rehire members of the new union who went on strike several months ago.

SHOT BY POLICEMAN.

Sergt. Irving Alexander of the automobile detail, shot and perhaps fatally wounded Will Gale, 33 years old, a Negro, of 4824 Prairie avenue, when Gale tried to escape yesterday at 55th street and Cottage Grove avenue after he had been arrested on a charge of indecent exposure.

ILLINOIS HOUSE REJECTS SENATE BILL ON LIQUOR

Votes Against It 66 to 39; Recess Taken.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Efforts to pass an Illinois liquor regulation bill crashed today on the rocks of constitutional parliamentary procedure. Further consideration of the measure was postponed until next Monday.

By a vote of 66 to 39 the house of representatives refused to concur in the senate's revision of the long pending bill.

Under these circumstances the next step required was to notify the senate of that refusal. But the senate was missing today. Only a dozen members were sitting around. Important senate officers also were missing. The next step would have been the refusal of the senate to recede and thereupon a conference committee of the two houses would have been created.

Oppose Any Ghost Voting.

Because of the lack of a quorum of the upper house, however, that procedure was impossible. Some of the senators present were adamant against suggestions that "ghost voting" be permitted. There were conferences back and forth between the house and the senators who were available, and the telephones were used for some of those missing, but the final decision was for a recess until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

This means that if the expected program is carried out Monday the Horner administration bill will go to a conference committee four days thereafter. It may be subjected to still more rewriting. The process is expected to reopen many of the problems of regulation which have kept the assembly helpless in regard to liquor control throughout the special session, which opened on Nov. 22.

May Name Seven Each.

There was no decision during today's confabs as to how the conference committee will be composed. It is customary for each house to name the same number of members on such a committee, usually three from each. But in this instance the leaders of the house of representatives are anxious to have widely different elements represented.

The whole plan is said to meet the wishes of the Horner administration. There have been so many differences between the two houses on the liquor bill that it is said the administration has felt the only chance for conciliation would be by a conference committee. It is believed the governor will dominate the selection of the conference delegations from both houses.

Moves for Postponement.

With members believing that there was no chance of 102 votes, two-thirds of the house, needed to approve the bill, as passed by the senate yesterday by 39 to 6, an attempt was made to postpone house action.

A. B. Lager [Dem., Carlyle], spokesman for the house committee of fifteen which drafted the bill, which the senate drastically revised, moved a recess until Tuesday.

A motion by Frank E. Foster [Rep., Harvey] to table the Lager motion was supported forcibly, however, from both sides of the floor. L. M. Green [Rep., Rockford] condemned the senate. He declared the original house bill was well drawn, but Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly had tried to "change the constitution," attempting to draft a bill of their own.

Calls House Uninformed.

Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] followed Green with a protest that the house was ignorant of the details of the proposed measure. Clinton Searle [Rep., Rock Island] condemned the methods imputed to Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly. Under that criticism Lager attempted to withdraw his motion for postponement. Foster refused his consent. Speaker Roe ruled with Foster.

"It is evident that this amendment," he said referring to the substitute bill sent over from the senate and including many changes from the house bill, "cannot receive 102 votes here today. The house should vote to concur or to refuse to concur and notify the senate of its action."

David E. Shanahan [Rep., Chicago], spoke in a similar vein, objecting to further delay. He advocated the conference committee method of procedure.

"The bill will not receive 102 votes without some changes," he said.

One hundred and two votes are needed to give the bill emergency effect. Schnackenberg insisted that the house must accept the conference route eventually and argued against the loss of time. He read extracts from the national platforms of both major parties declaring against the return of the saloon and warned that a "day of reckoning" will come for either party that neglects its pledge.

Defends Senate's Bill.

Benjamin S. Adamowski [Dem., Chicago], asserted that the original bill passed by the house was "more for the saloon" than the senate revision and charged the opposition to the new bill with trying to "hide behind party platforms."

"As a matter of fact," he continued, "this bill does not discriminate in favor of Chicago. I'm not addicted to highballs, but I'd say this present bill gives Chicago nothing more than a ginger ale highball with nothing in it but ginger ale. The only reason for opposition to this bill is the attitude of refusing to give Chicago anything."

Adamowski made the motion that the house concur in the senate draft. On that a roll call was taken, resulting in 39 ayes and 66 noes, with three members voting "present." All lines were shattered.

After the announcement of the result the motion of Representative Green that the house refuse to concur in the senate program was adopted by a viva voce vote.

President Gets Liquor Bill Sans Tariff Penalty Clause

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Forced by administration pressure to reconsider and repass the liquor tax bill minus its tariff penalties directed at defaulting debtor nations, anti-cancellationist senators today countered immediately by again overriding administration leaders to pass the Johnson bill prohibiting the future sale of bonds of defaulting nations in the United States.

The tax bill, with its new repeal era rates on spirits, wines, and beer, concluded its legislative course. From its senate passage it went to the house, where concurrence was voted in senate amendments. It was signed by Speaker Rainey, received Vice President Garner's signature late this evening under a special order permitting it to be signed with the senate not in session and was then hurried to the White House. It is to be studied by the treasury over night and probably will receive the President's signature tomorrow. If so, the new rates—chief of which is the $2 per gallon tax on hard liquors—will go into effect on the following day.

Strike Out Clark Clause.

Democratic amenability struck out of the tax measure the amendment of Senator Bennett C. Clark [Dem., Mo.], voted in yesterday, 40 to 39. The rider placed an additional duty of $5 a gallon on spirits and $3 a gallon on wine exported to the United States by nations in default on their war debts.

Administration spokesmen fought vainly to keep it out. Their concern was over the jeopardy offered to the President's "Yankee trading" program, by which he hopes to swap debt concessions and liquor quotas for trade opportunities.

A night's rest appeared to change Democratic sentiment; for when Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], in charge of the bill, moved its reconsideration a very altered lineup was present. On the vote to reconsider the Clark amendment no less than nine Democrats who had voted for the amendment were noticeable by their absence, two Democrats openly switched sides, and four more who failed to vote yesterday were on hand to vote the administration's wishes today. By a tally of 44 to 31 the amendment was reconsidered, stricken out, and the bill, minus its embarrassing appendage, was passed all over again.

Hits Defaulting Nations.

Scarcely had the tax measure left for the house, however, than Senator Hiram Johnson [Radical Rep., Cal.] succeeded in getting up the measure he introduced following the disclosures concerning foreign bond flotations in the country, which he brought about through a senate inquiry during the last congress. The bill prohibits, under penalty of a $10,000 fine or five years in prison, the future purchase or sale of securities of, and loans to, any foreign government or subdivision which is in default to the United States, or to any American bondholders.

The bill passed virtually without debate and without a roll call. Caught napping again, Democratic leaders came awake so late that their only recourse was to announce once more that they would move to reconsider, with the hope, of course, that Democratic senators would again be persuaded to see the light and recant.

U. S. CALM OVER REPORTED WAR THREAT IN JAPAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—Official circles tonight declined to comment for publication upon reports from the far east that Vice Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu, commander in chief of the imperial combined fleets of Japan, had declared that Japan expects and already is preparing for war with the United States. Unofficially Washington does not take the reputed outburst seriously and it points to recent dispatches indicating that the anti-war party is getting into the saddle in Tokio.

The admiral was quoted as having given an interview to the Japanese publication Gendai, in which he is said to have charged that the resumption of diplomatic relations between the United States and Russia involved a scheme to surround Japan for a military purpose. The admiral is quoted further as saying that Japan was "preparing to defend itself energetically."

Washington's view of the matter is that if the admiral uttered such warlike views it was just a case of militarism run wild. "Pathetic" was a word used to describe the effect of such an utterance upon the people of Japan.

James Ward, Liquor King, Wills $50,000 to Widow

James Ward, former Chicago Heights liquor king who died Jan. 3, left an estate valued at $50,000, all in personal property. His will, admitted to probate yesterday by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell, left the entire estate to his widow, Mary.

BOOTLEG LIQUOR WINS DECISION IN LIQUOR TESTS BY REPORTERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—In order to demonstrate the poor quality of liquor being sold to the public, Secretary Morgenthau today invited a group of newspaper correspondents at the treasury to toss off a few jiggers of various intoxicating beverages, including "good" bootleg and bad legitimate whisky.

The experiment was conducted as a practical demonstration of the reason for the order of the federal alcohol control administration, in coöperation with the treasury and the department of agriculture, permitting unrestricted imports of American type whisky for thirty days and the unrestricted manufacture of molasses alcohol for forty-five days.

The samples of liquor, which were collected by the alcohol division, consisted of ordinary moonshine or white corn, new made whisky made in legitimate distilleries, moonshine aged in wood, neutral spirits, old bootleg, four year old whisky, and quick aged whisky.

The liquor was sampled at the invitation of the secretary and it was decided that the old bootleg was superior to the new whisky.

HUNT HIJACKING GANG.

The police yesterday were seeking four hijackers who were routed by an armed guard Wednesday night when they tried to take $5,000 worth of whisky from a truck of the Walsh Transfer and Trucking company, 340 East Ohio street, on the south side.

FASCISTI TAKE OVER CONTROL OF AUSTRIAN POLICE

Dollfuss Surrenders Part of Executive Power.

VIENNA, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss surrendered an important part of his executive power to the fascist Heimwehr tonight when he delegated the entire control of the police and gendarmerie to Vice Chancellor Emil Fey, high ranking home guard leader.

This means an important victory for the heimwehr, thousands of whose members are taking an active rôle in Dollfuss' drive against Nazi terrorism, but does not fulfill completely the home guardsmen's demands.

Seeks to Smash Socialists.

The Heimwehr wanted also the dissolution of the socialistic party and the appointment of a federal commission to control the socialistic government of the city of Vienna.

An official communique announcing the change, which was the result of various conferences between Heimwehr leaders and the five foot chancellor, follows:

"Considering the enormously increased business of conducting the ministry of public security due to the present political situation, the chancellor authorized the vice chancellor, who according to the constitution acts as his substitute, to take charge of the entire executive [public security] machinery."

An uncompromisingly fascist Austria, with the elimination of political parties, was enunciated today as the major aim of the Heimwehr by its leader, Prince Von Starhemberg.

Round Up 500 Nazis.

"I promise you," the prince told his followers, "the Heimwehr will be used only for the achievement of our goal. I promise you I will not hesitate to draw the consequences should I be convinced that the Heimwehr is being misused and that we are being swindled in our aim."

He issued the appeal as home guardsmen and officers rounded up more than 500 Nazis for court martial as a result of nation-wide anti-government demonstrations.

The Heimwehrmen agreed to participate in the anti-Nazi campaign if Dollfuss agreed to establish a purely fascist regime.

Meanwhile, rumors published in London that a legion of Austrian Nazis had crossed into Austria from Germany near Kufstein could not be confirmed today, although sources in Kufstein said there was no truth in the report.

U. S. CUTS TRAVELERS' DUTY FREE LIQUOR TO A SINGLE QUART

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The law permitting returning travelers to bring in $100 worth of liquor free of duty was rescinded today by the secretary of the treasury.

Passengers henceforth will be limited to one quart of liquor, unless they are prepared to pay both duty and internal revenue tax.

Formerly, any resident could return from a foreign port with his baggage filled with liquor on which no duty could be imposed. The customs laws allowed a resident $100 worth of merchandise "duty free," and when repeal transferred liquor from the category of contraband to ordinary merchandise, the law applied to such goods.

NAZI POLICE RAID PASTORS' HOMES IN CHURCH FIGHT

Seize Membership Lists of Rebel Organization.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The long and bitter German Protestant church fight over leadership and dogma took a dramatic turn this evening when Prussian secret police invaded homes of members of the Pastors' Emergency federation in various parts of Prussia and confiscated membership lists.

At Schneidemuehl the Rev. Mr. Rzdaki was arrested and taken to a concentration camp. The raids occurred in Dortmund, Stettin, and Berlin.

Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, meanwhile, was summoned to President Paul von Hindenburg's office, where he remained a long time. Apparently, however, no agreement was reached between the bishop and the president, who on Tuesday took Mueller severely to task for the controversy.

Frick Visits Hitler.

Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, after agreeing with the Rev. Friedrich von Bodelschwingh, a leader of the opposition pastors' federation, that conditions in the church are "intolerable," visited Chancellor Adolf Hitler. The utmost secrecy was observed concerning the interview.

The weekly organ of the Nazi German Christians, who support Bishop Mueller, in today's issue demanded that the state intervene in the church fight.

In a new effort to effect the pacification of the church, Dr. Mueller today summoned all church leaders to meet with him in Berlin Saturday and submit their proposals for reconstructing the Protestant cabinet.

Another Cabinet Pastor Quits.

The resignation of the Rev. Herman Wolfgang Beyer, a provisional minister, removed the last of the interim cabinet members and left Dr. Mueller practically alone. The governing body has been incomplete since Nov. 29.

Meanwhile the opposition group of more than 7,000 pastors gained formidable support by the organization of laymen's leagues which, according to the opposition leader, Martin Niemoeller, already number over a million and a half laymen active in church work through the reich.

As a climax to the long standing controversy that has involved quarrels over scripture, leadership, Semitism, and politics, Dr. Mueller last week assumed dictatorial powers and announced he would brook no opposition.

The German Christians, the Nazi group of which Bishop Mueller is a member and which is accused by the pastors' federation of fomenting much of the dissension, also have reorganized. They expressed their confidence in Dr. Mueller and decided if their suggestions for the reconstruction of the church cabinet were not heeded they would appeal to the Nazi party administration itself.

U. S. SIFTS TAX RETURN MADE BY ANDREW MELLON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings reiterated today that the personal income tax returns of Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, were under justice department scrutiny. He declined to tell news men what progress had been made or to say definitely what period the investigation would cover.

The investigation, Cummings explained, was not an internal revenue bureau affair "but one of our own."

Ordinarily, he said, a tax case would be handled by that bureau until it reached the point of litigation.

THE TOBACCO DOES NOT SPILL OUT

Good tobaccos . . . real good tobaccos . . . that's the reason for Lucky Strike's fine, smooth quality. We use only the center leaves of the finest Turkish and domestic tobacco plants. Not the top leaves — because those are under-developed. Not the bottom leaves — because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves — because these are the mildest leaves — fully ripe for perfect smoking. Only these choice tobaccos are used to make Luckies — so round, so firm, so fully packed — and no loose ends to spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild and smooth. That's why always "Luckies please". And don't forget — "It's toasted" — for throat protection — for finer taste.

EDSEL FORD ON STAND IN BANK QUIZ BY SENATE

Pecora Seeks Evidence of Tax Cut Deal.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, testifying today in the senate bank inquiry, admitted that although he was a director of the Guardian Detroit Union group he had but scant knowledge of the situation that ended in the collapse of the once great chain.

Incidentally he disclosed that when the crash came the Ford Motor company had on deposit in various units $32,500,000, while he personally had outstanding loans of cash and securities to the chain aggregating $6,000,000.

The committee was frankly surprised at Mr. Ford's almost complete ignorance of the situation in the two years preceding the closing of the banks in February of last year.

Mr. Ford said he could not recall "specifically" what happened at any board meeting he had attended. He knew the situation was bad but that was about all, according to his testimony.

Explains Bond Buying.

Asked if he knew anything about two transactions in December, 1932, involving the purchase for the Ford company of about $15,000,000 in United States securities, Mr. Ford declared he had no knowledge of these transactions. Both purchases were made as of Dec. 31, 1932, and in both instances were resold Jan. 3, 1933. Pecora obviously was trying to obtain evidence of tax avoidance.

"We wanted," said Mr. Ford, "to show less cash on our annual statement. We wanted to show more diversification of our intangible assets. It was just a question of not showing as much cash on hand, because they usually made a big statement in the newspapers about it, and we did not care for that. There was no tax saving involved under the laws of Michigan."

While he had no recollection that the group banks solicited and obtained "temporary deposits" to bolster up their deposit statements, Mr. Ford said this probably was done. He admitted it might be an unethical banking practice.

"Do you recall," Mr. Pecora asked, "at any time during the years 1930, 1931, and 1932, your having participated in any conferences or discussions as a director of the group, with respect to condition, financial and otherwise, of the group and its various units."

"I cannot remember any specific instances, but naturally we were discussing the conditions as we went along," Mr. Ford answered.

Recalls Few Discussions.

Q.—Without reference to any specific discussion, will you tell the committee about how any discussions you participated in? A.—I cannot recall.

Q.—Can you tell us approximately? A.—I have no idea. Probably few.

Q.—Well, do you recall the general course of the discussions that were had at the few conferences that you attended at which the condition of the group and its units were discussed? A.—No, sir, I do not.

Q.—Why are you unable to tell us that, Mr. Ford? A.—Because I do not remember.

Mr. Ford a little further on did recall that "there were discussions of the financial conditions of the group," at some conferences he attended.

Q.—What was the general tenor of those discussions? A.—That the banking situation was very tense and was getting worse, that conditions were arising each day that needed careful handling and watching, and that conditions in the country generally were going from bad to worse.

Lent Bank $6,000,000.

Asked by Senator Couzens if he or any of his associates had gone to the relief of any of the banks in the group chain, Mr. Ford replied that he had. Later in the examination, he told of loaning to the Guardian Union Trust company $1,000,000 in cash and $5,000,000 in municipal bonds to aid in weathering the storm. The loan, he added, has not been repaid.

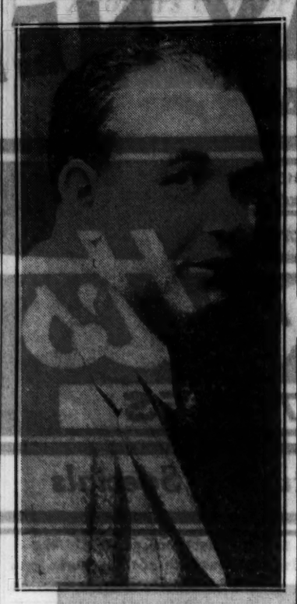
Before Mr. Ford was called Alfred P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner, who handled the Michigan situation, identified several letters of instruction issued to bank examiners in 1931 and 1932 by J. W. Pole, then controller of the currency.

These advised "extraordinary discretion" and "leniency" in the examination of banks, ordered that bonds should be "rated and appraised as heretofore, but no part of the depreciation, except upon defaulted issues" should be shown in the reports of examiners.

"If you found a good stock up as collateral, and not some cats and dogs, you would give them a break," said Mr. Leyburn, examining the policies adopted by the comptroller general.

"If this policy had not been followed we would have had the crash in 1930 instead of in 1933," said Mr. Leyburn, and added, in response to questioning that he believed "we would have been better off."

COMEDIAN DIES



CHARLES MACK.

CHAS. E. MACK OF '2 BLACK CROWS' KILLED IN CRASH

Wife, Daughter and Mack Sennett Bruised.

Mesa, Ariz., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Charles E. Mack, 46 years old, the "funny one" of the "Two Black Crows" vaudeville team, Moran and Mack, was injured fataly in an automobile accident, caused by a tire blowout, six miles east of here tonight. Mack was crushed as the car turned over. He died in the Southside hospital.

George Moran, the other member of the team; Mack Sennett, motion picture producer; Mrs. Mack, and Mary Jane Mack, a daughter, all riding in the same car, escaped. Moran and Sennett, after emergency treatment at the hospital, were permitted to go to a hotel here.

Mrs. Mack suffered a back injury which physicians said was not serious. She and Miss Mack, who received only slight cuts and bruises, remained in the hospital tonight.

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Charles Mack, member of the black face vaudeville team of Moran and Mack, entered the theater through a desire to become a playwright.

In his early years Mack, who was born in White Cloud, Kas., wrote numerous stage pieces, some of which were accepted and used by actors. Eventually it occurred to him to write an act for himself.

It was successful and he teamed with George Moran. Together they toured Europe and America, appearing in later years in the Ziegfeld Follies, Earl Carroll's Vanities, George White's Scandals, and the Greenwich Village Follies. There have been several "Morans" in the sketch, but only one Mack.

HORNER APPOINTS K. L. AMES JR. AS FINANCE CHIEF

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—From his sick bed in the executive mansion today, Gov. Horner announced two changes in the makeup of his cabinet. Both take effect Monday.

The governor named Knowlton L. Ames Jr. of Chicago, assistant to the publisher of the Daily News of that city, as director of finance to succeed Joseph H. Rice, also of Chicago. Mr. Rice has held the post for a year but has been anxious to return to private business and for that reason has been considered a "temporary" official.

The second appointment announced today was that of James McSherry of Duquoin as director of mines and minerals to replace John G. Millhouse, an Emmerson holdover.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM SON OF PACKER

Mrs. Margaret Fowler Roberts, 621 Sheridan road, Evanston, was granted an uncontested divorce yesterday by Circuit Judge John Prystalski from John Oake Roberts, son of John Roberts, millionaire packer. She charged him with habitual intoxication.

"In my opinion," Mrs. Roberts told Judge Prystalski, "this is a case of a young man with too much money and not enough things to occupy his mind."

She was secretly married to Roberts in 1929 at Waukegan. She had been a close friend of her husband's first wife, Mrs. Louise Brown Roberts, who was killed in 1928 when she fell from an automobile which Roberts was driving.

Mrs. Roberts is the daughter of C. P. Fowler, Chicago broker. She asked no alimony, her attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., informed Judge Prystalski, but she was given the household furniture. Roberts is now living at the Medinah-Michigan Avenue club.

Charged with Throwing Poison in Neighbor's Face

Charles Leech, 43 years old, 4014 Drexel boulevard, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bond of $1,000 by Judge Harold P. O'Connell on a charge of mayhem brought by Arthur Doherty, 2301 Calumet avenue. Doherty, who lived in the apartment directly below that of Leech on Oct. 19, charged that Leech threw formaldehyde in his eyes when he went to the Leech apartment to apologize for noise made by his guests.

A SALE OF Underwear

...one of the most important events in a generation!

The trend in underwear today is to "warmth without weight." We've recognized that trend and for weeks have been working on 3 different types of union suits that offer all the snug protection of the old time woolen undergarments but combine with that warmth a lightness of weight that is incredible. Today we present three garments at prices that are so low that we're certain we will not be able to supply the demand—so unusual are the values.

Look at these prices!

SILK AND WOOL (half and half) very warm, unusually light in weight—only 12 ounces—all white. Exceptional value.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL (60%) and fine, soft, long staple cotton (40%). Gray in color, exceptionally warm. $3.75

AUSTRALIAN WOOL (15%) and fine, long staple cotton. Gray. A suit that gives more warmth than the regular cotton suit. (These 3 values come in long sleeve-ankle-length styles or half-sleeve, three-quarter length styles) $2.75

WHITE COMBED COTTON Union Suits that are beautifully made and are very warm. In ½-sleeve, three-quarter length style. A superb value. $1.50

We seem to have started something—judging from yesterday's crowd, and the telephone calls that are clogging our switchboard. In fact our overworked operator is pleading that we run a "Questions and Answers column" about this event—which isn't such a bad idea. It may save you time, as well as money. So let's listen-in!

"Cameron Worsteds? Yes, sir! They're all on sale—in fact every suit (except staples) is going in this last round-up"... "Oxford Grey overcoats? Plenty of them. Royal Meltons and Sedan Curls"... "Size 48 suits? That is pretty large—but we can fit you. We've a very large selection of out-of-the-ordinary sizes"... "No, sir! We never charge for alterations"... "That's right! You save as much as $7.15 on our best sellers"

—and that's a cut of about 24%! Sounds almost crazy in the face of rising prices. But for 25 years we've insisted that "this season's clothes must be sold this season"—and we'll not back down now. So if you want a good suit of clothes (or an overcoat) plus a healthy price-cut, get in right now while pickin's are best.

LINDBERGH CALLS BLOCK OF STOCK PART OF WAGE

Paid as Expert, He Wires Senator Black.

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in a telegram to Senator Hugo L. Black this afternoon reminded the senator that the senate air mail investigating committee has a complete record of the flyer's financial transactions in connection with aviation.

The colonel, it is known, resents the implication which grew out of the hearing on Wednesday that he received a "gift" of $250,000 from any aviation source. The stock which he received from Transcontinental and Western Air, it was pointed out, was in no sense a gift but part of the company's payment to Col. Lindbergh for accepting the post of technical adviser to the air line which at that time held no air mail contract with the government.

Text of Telegram.

The colonel's telegram to Chairman Black of the committee follows:

"You are now in possession of a complete record of my financial transactions in relation to aviation. If there is any question regarding these transactions I am available at any time to clarify them."

The telegram was released late this afternoon at Col. Lindbergh's office, 39 Broadway. Neither the colonel nor his legal adviser, Col. Henry Breckinridge, were present. There was no additional statement.

Sends Data to Committee.

It was learned, however, that immediately on his return from his recent survey trip to Europe the flyer arranged for furnishing the Black committee with a complete record of his aviation transactions, including salaries received beginning nine years ago when he finished his active service in the army air corps and went to work as a mail pilot for the Robertson Air lines in St. Louis down to the present day.

Former Postmaster General Walter F Brown, on whose air mail activities much of the inquiry has been centered, said today that he would make no statement regarding the trend of the inquiry. He has signified his willingness to appear before the committee.

Says Text Was Changed.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Sharp questions by Chairman Black of the senate committee investigating air mail contracts today drew from D. M. Sheaffer, air line official, testimony that a memorandum on air mail contracts had been altered before it was copied for the committee.

Independent air line operators testified that the awarding of air mail contracts in 1930 virtually was pre-arranged even before the bids were opened. Walter F. Brown was postmaster general at the time.

Sheaffer is chairman of the Transcontinental Air Transport executive committee. The memorandum in question, dated July 15, 1930, was addressed by him to the committee. In part, it said that Sheaffer believed that Brown "could and would arrange" that T. A. T. get a contract for the transcontinental route provided it agreed to merge with Western Air Express. Under Black's prodding, Sheaffer said this statement of belief was the part deleted before the senate committee was given the memorandum.

Talk of Conference.

F. G. Coburn, New York engineer, who was president of Aviation corporation from April, 1930, to March, 1932, said during the day that when contracts for the middle and southern transcontinental routes were let in the fall of 1930, it was generally understood among the operators that bids were to be submitted only according to allocations agreed to at a Washington conference called by Brown earlier.

SANITARY BOARD GETS EIGHT BIDS, ALL SAME FIGURE

Eight identical bids, resulting, it was said, from the adoption of NRA codes by the firms, were received yesterday by the sanitary district. The bids were for blue print work in 1934.

The bids were referred to Philip Harrington, chief engineer of the district. Trustee Howard W. Elmore, lone Republican member of the board, requested the engineer to bring in a tabulation of last year's prices for comparison with the bids at the next meeting.

A study of the 1933 prices disclosed that the district paid on an average 1.8 cents a square foot for blue prints. The bids submitted for 1934 show a cost of 3 cents a square foot. The district, with the extensive sewage disposal construction ahead this year, plans to appropriate $30,000 for blue printing in the budget.

An amendment to the 1934 budget was adopted yesterday but the total of $101,993,697 was unchanged. The corporate fund was reduced by $500,000, and this item, which was for paying defaulted interest and coupons on bonds, was transferred to the bond and interest fund. The district's corporate fund has been reduced $1,300,000 under the 1933 appropriations.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

U. S. TURNS OVER 7 MILLIONS FOR OUTER BRIDGE

cent of the cost of materials and labor on the project. The commissioners asked for no additional easy money help.

FINISH IN A YEAR

Realization of the civic dream of spanning Chicago's north and south sides with the outer drive bridge will come within a little more than a year, according to the estimates of local officials. Mayor Kelly, who retains his post as president of the south park board, expressed his elation that the project finally is assured of completion.

"I can't think of a more worth while improvement for the federal government to finance than the link bridge," he said. "Completion of the bridge will not just put men to work; it will save money on gasoline, save the nerves of drivers, bring people into the city, develop property and foster prosperity for Chicago."

Alfred D. Plamondon, president of the Lincoln park board, said that work would start immediately. Ketler-Elliott company, contractor for the main river bridge, is expected to resume operations on the superstructure in two weeks.

Seek More Bids Soon.

The Lincoln park commissioners will now advertise for bids on the bridge over the Ogden slip, viaduct between the two bridges, lighting and architectural stone work.

Hugh E. Young, chief engineer for the Chicago Plan commission, estimated that 3,400 men would go to work on the link bridge project, directly and indirectly. He pointed out that the steel already has been fabricated and is in storage in Gary.

The Lincoln park share of the project will be completed in a year, according to Mr. Young, while the south park's part will take about fifteen months. The task of placing the foundations for the main bridge already is accomplished.

Contract Is First Step.

George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the south park system, said the first step would be the letting of a contract for a dock along the river. The south park board has to construct a roadway between Monroe and Randolph streets, then a steel viaduct northward to the river bank and thence east to the south plaza of the bridge.

The viaduct, 47 feet above the lake level, will be made sturdy enough to support a mezzanine structure. The mezzanine cost will be borne by the Illinois Central railroad and will be put in when the railroad is ready.

When the improvement is completed an automobile driver, leaving the present outer drive at Ohio street and the lake, will proceed due south until he crosses the bridge, when he will turn west on a viaduct for a distance of 950 feet and then south again. No extension of the east-west viaduct, to connect with the present terminus of Wacker drive at the south end of Michigan avenue bridge, is contemplated in the plans. That, Mr. Young said, would have to be left for the future.

OHIO STATE OUSTS SEVEN STUDENTS REFUSING DRILL

Columbus, O., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State university suspended seven professed conscientious objectors to military training. The action followed a conference with the students in his office today.

Charles Hart, Madison, O., who is said to have been excused from military training two years ago, was spokesman for the seven students today. They may not return to school unless they agree to take military training. Such courses are required the first two years and optional after that.

They are: Douglas Dobson, 326 North Columbia avenue, a freshman: Donald Leach, 1453 East Main street, freshman; Paul Sutley, 29 14th avenue, freshman; David Telfair, Urbana, sophomore; Russell Hare, Paris, France, sophomore; Richard Baumgardner, Kimbolton, O., freshman; Robert Ralph, Cleveland, freshman.

The cases of Edward Lepon, Cleveland, freshman, and Saul Nassau, Castle Shannon, Pa., freshman, have not come before the president.

Robert Ross, New York, freshman, one of the others who had objected agreed today to take military drill.

Letters were sent to parents of the seven students explaining the rule under which the university as a land grant institution is governed relative to two years of compulsory military training for all men students, unless they can satisfy the administration that they really have "conscientious objections."

In ordering the suspension the Ohio State News bureau issued the following statement:

"President Rightmire today asked seven students to make the decision as to whether they would comply with the university rule requiring military training or undergo suspension from the university.

"These students were seven of the 31 who this fall had asked for exemption from military training on 'conscientious objector' grounds. All of the seven students declared their refusal to take military training, and the president thereupon ordered their immediate suspension, with the statement that they would be automatically reinstated without prejudice whenever they were willing to comply with the university rule."

BOGUS COLLECTOR FREED.

Lee Alberts, 23 years old, 6653 Newgard avenue, arrested on a charge of misrepresenting himself as an employé of the city sealer and collecting fees from merchants, was placed on probation yesterday by Judge Padden of the Wabash avenue court.

BOARD TO BEGIN ARBITRATION IN MILK WAR TODAY

Drivers Empower Leaders to Fight Pay Cut.

Arbitration by a board of three of the issues involved in the milk strike is scheduled to start today. The strike was halted on Wednesday by the intervention of Mayor Kelly. Two of the arbitrators, one representing dairy farmers and the other appointed by the milk companies, are considering the selection of a third member of the arbitration board.

Another factor in the milk situation, the attitude of the union milk wagon drivers toward proposed cuts in their pay, assumed new importance last night. Some 6,000 members of the union, meeeting in their headquarters at 220 South Ashland avenue, authorized their committee of negotiators to act for them, even to the extent of calling a strike to enforce their demand for maintenance of present wage scales.

Vote Down Strike Proposal.

On this committee are Leslie Goudie of the joint teamsters' council for Illinois, Robert G. Fitchie, president, and Steve Sumner, treasurer of the union. Some of the more radical members of the union announced that they favored a strike to be called next Sunday unless their demands were met. Their proposal was voted down by a large majority and the conduct of negotiations by the union officials was indorsed. Mayor Kelly's declaration that he is against pay cuts for the drivers was applauded.

While a cut of at least a cent in retail prices is expected if the farmers reduce their price materially, further reductions to consumers probably would depend on a slash in the drivers' scale.

Meanwhile milk deliveries in the city and suburbs returned to normal yesterday after four days of acute shortage, during which consumers had difficulty in getting enough milk for children and for the sick.

Milk Arbitrator Arrives.

W. D. Hunnicutt, milk expert for the French-Bauer dairy of Cincinnati, arrived in Chicago by airplane at noon yesterday. He was selected to represent the milk distributors on the arbitration board. He conferred at lunch with Clifford V. Gregory, farm editor, who was named to represent the farmers, and last night they announced that they had not yet reached a decision on the selection of the third and neutral member of the board. They expect to make the choice today from among a number of names suggested to them.

Mr. Gregory said yesterday that although it might take several days before the decision of the three men might be announced there would be no delay in taking action looking toward permanent settlement. It was indicated that such information as the federal farm adjustment administration has gathered relating to Chicago's turbulent milk problems would be sought to aid in arriving at a decision. The price to be paid to farmers for milk is the primary consideration in the arbitration.

The failure of the government, represented by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and the agricultural adjustment administration, to agree to supporting a price to producers higher than $1.70 a hundred pounds [3.8 cents a quart] was given by farmers who led the strike as one of their chief objections to accepting federal control in the Chicago market.

Bound by Terms of Truce.

Some assurance was given to the farmers, however, that the city administration would aid them in maintaining a higher price than this should the arbitrators find it justified. In this connection it was pointed out that most of the milk industry was bound by the terms of the truce arranged by Mayor Kelly to pay the farmers the price that may be fixed by the arbitration board.

Six independent milk distributors who had not signed the mayor's agreement to abide by the arbitration yesterday added their signatures to the document. They are the United Milk and Ice Cream company and the Brookside dairy, at Chicago Heights; the Blue Island Sanitary dairy, Blue Island; the Tinley Park dairy, Tinley Park; the Worth Dairy at Worth, and the Midlothian Dairy at Midlothian.

A new element in the situation was discovered last night, however, to indicate that the mayor's settlement was not yet ironclad. Eight cut rate dairies overlooked in the mayor's conference at the city hall on Wednesday were found to have not yet signed the agreement. They include:

Douglas dairy, 2254 South Troy street.
Kalte's dairy, 1833 Berteau avenue.
Lakeside dairy, 10528 Ewing avenue.
Lawndale Milk company, 2238 South Ridgeway avenue.
People's Dairy Co., Inc., 2410 South 56th avenue, Cicero.
Turner Dairy company, 2800 South Turner avenue.
Wrightwood Dairy company, 1310 Wrightwood avenue.
Otto Nystead, milk and cream broker, East Troy, Wis.

All of these concerns now hold Chicago board of health permits to sell milk or cream in the city. Officials of some of the concerns declared last night they were waiting to make a decision about signing.

Arbiters Confer in Milk Situation

Pending Ordinance Guarantees Standard Grade Milk Supply

The pending ordinance fixing a minimum requirement of 3.5 per cent of butter fat for all milk sold in Chicago, instead of the existing 3 per cent, would raise the city's standard to the average for the country and assure the consumers that throughout the year they would receive what is generally accepted as standard grade milk.

At present Chicago is one of the few cities of the nation which does not require a minimum fat content of at least 3.25. The average is 3.5 and some cities, Baltimore, for example, require 4 per cent.

Fat Content Varies.

The yearly average fat content of milk received in Chicago is 3.6 per cent, according to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and the United States department of agriculture reports for December quote the average for that month as 3.7. However, during the months of flush milk production, May, June, and July, the average runs lower, around 3.4 per cent. Thus the pending ordinance assure a higher fat percentage during the summer months and would prevent some dairies from selling low grade milk the year round.

Since fat is not the only health value in milk and since the average fat content in Chicago is above 3.5 per cent except during the summer months, the ordinance is not expected to have an appreciable effect upon consumption. It will merely serve as a guarantee to the consumers that they are always getting a minimum fat content of 3.5, the basis on which the farmers are paid for it.

Advises Against Decrease.

If the butter fat in milk were the only food value, and the effect of the ordinance were to raise the average percentage for the year, it would be possible to drink less milk with the same amount of nutrition. Three quarts of 4 per cent milk would be equivalent to 4 quarts of 3 per cent. But Dr. W. A. Evans, health expert of THE TRIBUNE, says the other important food qualities, such as the proteids, lime, which is indispensable for the promotion of growth, and the vitamins, vary only slightly in relation to the butter fat content. For these reasons, Dr. Evans says he would not advise any decrease in consumption as a result of a butter fat increase. All certified milk, prepared under directions of physicians, is now 4 per cent butter fat.

The 3.5 ordinance will require considerable shifting of the herds on farms milking Holsteins exclusively, particularly in the summer months, but this increased expense will be offset by the premiums received for high test milk. It will not affect the distributors, since they merely establish a standard by mixing various grades and sell what the farmers supply them.

Added Expense Justified.

The average butter fat content of milk produced by Holsteins is about 3.39 per cent, and, excluding Indiana, four-fifths of the cows in the Chicago milkshed are Holsteins. Moreover, most of the farmers have only one breed, for the addition of a few Jerseys or Guernseys, with a view of increasing the butter fat test, necessitates the keeping of another bull. But this additional expense is justified by the records of farmers who produce high test milk, for they receive 4 cents on each 46½ quarts for every point above 3.5 per cent. They are also penalized 4 cents on 46½ quarts for each point under 3.5.

Under the old AAA code agreement, the blended price for milk sold into fluid channels and for the making of cream was $1.91 for 46½ quarts [approximately 4.10 cents per quart] but milk that tested 4 per cent brought $2.11. Likewise, 3 per cent milk brought only $1.71.

Require Richer Feed.

The highly bred Jerseys and Guernseys that produce milk with an average fat content of 5.36 and 4.98 per cent respectively, require richer and more expensive feeds than the Holsteins, which may produce twice as much milk with a much lower fat content. Some Holstein herds have been bred up to an average yield of milk containing more than 3.5 per cent of fat, but it is not possible to increase the fat content by better feeding unless the cows have the potential fat producing ability.

MOTHER CLAIMS BABY FOUND WITH ANOTHER WOMAN

But White Wife of Negro Insists It's Hers.

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—An infant found today in the possession of a white woman married to a Negro, who lives in a squalid three room basement flat in 9th street, Brooklyn, was claimed tonight by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Luciano as their daughter Patricia, who was taken from their home on the east side by a bogus nurse last Tuesday.

Mrs. Margaret Stackhouse, a thin, faded woman about 33 years old, insisted that the baby was hers; that it was born in her home only last Tuesday during her husband's absence and and while she was alone in the flat.

Police Call in Physicians.

Several physicians called in by the puzzled police seemed to be of the opinion, after a cursory examination, that the infant really is the 24 day old Luciano baby, but after much wrangling and debate between the Stackhouses and the Lucianos the child and the two women were taken to Kings county hospital for a blood test on which the final decision was to be based.

Following eight hours of questioning, Mrs. Stackhouse and her husband, Angus, were booked on charges of kidnaping.

Might Prove She Is Bogus Nurse.

Police said they had witnesses who might prove that Mrs. Stackhouse was the woman who posed as "Nurse Morieley" in the hall of the Luciano tenement house just before she went up to get Patricia with a bogus note purporting to ask that the child be brought to the "baby contest" at the nearby home relief bureau.

The police disclosed that they had found a toy typewriter with which, they said, the two notes to Mrs. Luciano had been written. According to the detectives, Mrs. Stackhouse borrowed the typewriter on Monday night from its owner, Sophie Matroshana, 7 years old, who lives a few doors away.

Grieving for Husband, Widow Swallows Poison

Mrs. Lillian Staples, 35 years old, of the Servelle hotel, 325 North Austin boulevard, was taken to the West Suburban hospital last night after she was found unconscious in her room suffering from poisoning. Police said she had apparently swallowed fifty medicinal tablets in a fit of despondency over the recent death of her husband, Charles. Mrs. Staples' condition is critical. She has a daughter, Barbara, 14 years old.

ORDER INQUIRY INTO MICHIGAN STERILIZATION

Patients Tricked Into Operation, Charge.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Charges that a number of patients at the Wayne County Home for Mental Defectives had been sterilized over their objections resulted today in an order for an investigation and brought out the fact that hundreds of sterilization operations have been performed in Michigan institutions under a state law enacted four years ago.

Auditor Edward H. Williams laid the charges before the board of county auditors. In reply Dr. Robert H. Hankell, superintendent of the county home, said that 61 operations have been performed on inmates in the county home and all were carried out on petition of the patients' families.

842 Operations Performed.

Dr. Haskell said that 842 sterilization operations had been performed at the Michigan Home and Training school at Lapeer up to last May 31. The law, enacted in 1929, also is invoked frequently in the state asylums, he said.

Williams said he had been informed that a social worker for the training school had induced some of the parents of inmates to give consent for sterilization operations by representing that they were signing petitions for release of their children.

Dr. Haskell said the social worker named assured him there was no basis for the charge.

"No child has been sterilized at the training school except where application has been made to the court by the family of the child, not by the training school," he said. "Everything has been done according to law." The family, he said, was in court when each order was entered.

Patients Mostly Girls.

Of the county home patients sterilized, Dr. Haskell said that 14 were boys and 47 girls. The ratio, he said, was about the same in other state institutions. At the state home he gave the figures as 197 boys and 645 girls. The disparity, he said, is due to the difference in "risk that the two sexes constitute to the community."

Ages of the patients, he said, probably range from 16 to 30.

A few months ago a young man in Osceana county, Mich., secured a $3,200 judgment against three county officials whom he charged with inducing him to submit to a sterilization operation. The case is to be retried soon.

SOCIETY WOMEN HIT HIGH C, BUT NOT LA JERITZA

Alice Hilfreich, the madame's secretary, during which the assertion was made that madame was seriously ill with a high fever and a severe cold, an admittance was gained to the eighth floor suite at the Drake hotel where the singer is resident.

"Madame caught a cold in Syracuse two days ago," said Miss Hilfreich. "There was no taxi at the station and she had to walk to her hotel. See—these newspaper clippings tell how ill she was."

The clippings displayed noted that madame had used a handerkerchief frequently during a recital in Syracuse.

"Could one, perhaps, see madame personally?" inquired the reporter in his best opera-star-interview style.

Miss Hilfreich was shocked. She was horrified. Madame was in bed. Madame had no clothes on. Madame could hardly admit a gentleman to her private boudoir.

Command From Inner Room.

Nevertheless, madame did. It was as the reporter was leaving that a languid voice gave some command from an inner room. After a delay, the reporter, with some apprehension, stepped into this sanctum.

Guarding the bed upon which madame was reclining was a maid of proportions—about 250 pounds of proportions. She glowered at the interviewer and stood so that he could see only a shock of madame's famous golden hair, and one white hand. Secretary Hilfreich stood near and warned him to approach no nearer the sacred presence. In this manner was the interview conducted.

"The report is," said the reporter, "that you had a quarrel with Miss Kinsolving over the money to be paid you for the concert. Her contract called for you to make your only Chicago appearance at the concert. Then, when the Chicago Opera company wanted you to sing on opening night, there was a cash settlement made with Miss Kinsolving so that you could break the contract. What are the facts as to that?"

All Arranged for Her.

"Money, money, money!" said the languid voice, a note of fretfulness being apparent. "What do I know about money? That is all arranged for me."

"Why was the notice of the cancellation posted so late?" the reporter pursued. "Did Miss Kinsolving know earlier than this morning that you would not sing?"

"She knew at 5 o'clock yesterday evening," said the voice with some firmness. A very realistic fit of coughing followed.

The reporter recalled the long standing feud between Jeritza and Rosa Raisa concerning the Puccini opera, "Turandot." Both claimed that the opera was written for them although Raisa seemed to have the best of the argument, having sung in the opera at its world première in 1926.

"Maybe you're just sore because Raisa sang in 'Turandot' at the opera last night?" suggested the reporter indelicately and certainly tactlessly.

A silvery peal of laughter, very, very sarcastic in tone, came from the invalid.

"Raisi, pouf!" said the voice. "Who is Raisa? I never heard of any such person!"

There Is Only Jeritza.

"That is right," added Miss Hilfreich, solemnly. "There is no Raisa. There was only Caruso and Jeritza and now there is only Jeritza."

"Who can stop people talking?" continued the voice from the bed. "Ah, I cannot stop them from talking about me."

Regret was not apparent in the voice as this statement was made. The discussion seemed to be ended and the reporter withdrew.

"You can see how sick she is," Miss Hilfreich pointed out.

Efforts were made to reach Miss Kinsolving yesterday for questioning concerning the late hour of the cancellation of the concert. She was not present at the Stevens hotel when the notice was posted and she did not appear at her office during the afternoon.

COUNTY SEEKS LOAN OF $500,000 TO BUY SWAMP

The county board yesterday passed a resolution authorizing President Emmett Whealan to seek a loan not to exceed $500,000 from the federal public works administration for the forest preserve district, to be used to acquire and improve 250 acres of swamp lands in the Skokie valley district.

The lands, the commissioners said, are contiguous to the tract of forest preserve marshes which some 6,000 CCC workers are now engaged in draining to form a lagoon system.

The resolution, introduced by Commissioner Grace Fleming, was passed by a 10 to 1 vote. Commissioner Marie Plumb voted against it.

ITALY CASTS OFF LAST VESTIGE OF DEMOCRATIC RULE

Duce's Aid Tells Senate of Corporative Law.

ROME, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Italy's final definite repudiation of "every liberal and democratic principle" was announced by Count Cesare Maria de Vecchi in reporting to the senate today as head of a special committee appointed to study the nation's new corporative law.

Referring to corporatism as "one of the brightest revolutions in the history of mankind," he said by its adoption Italy "affirms the absolute supremacy of spirit over material things."

Count de Vecchi, one of Premier Mussolini's four chief lieutenants in the march on Rome, now is ambassador to the Holy See.

Aimed at Marxism.

Corporative law, he said, signals the rebirth of Rome and "champions corporative opposition to Marxism."

"It denies socialism as well, and attacks the roots of what has been called a crisis, but what has been in reality the dissolution of the whole world," the count asserted.

Citing Fascism's fundamental tenet that "nothing can live in opposition to the state or even out of the state," he said:

"Every government that seeks from human society a kingdom of God on earth must make the unity of all interests its prime objective."

Count de Vecchi gave assurance that private initiative will be stimulated rather than suffocated by the system planned to revolutionize the economic life of Italy, and will be guarded against the fatal waste of resources that he said characterizes conditions in other countries.

The project calling for inauguration of the new corporative system is to be discussed in the senate tomorrow and after its approval, which is assured, it goes to the chamber of deputies.

Under the system, legislative privileges vested in a new institution, the national council of corporations, will be shorn from the powers now held by the chamber. Instead of being subjected to approval by a political body, laws considered necessary for the protection of business will be enacted by the business men themselves.

The council is to be made up of both employes and employers, and workers' representatives will have equal voice.

Later in the day Admiral Domenico Cavagnari, under secretary of marine, told the chamber that Italy may "soon be induced to make use of the provision" in the Washington treaty permitting her to construct 70,000 tons of new first line ships.

REMOVE BULLET FROM VICTIM IN BAULER BATTLE

An operation was performed yesterday to remove a bullet lodged near the spine of Policeman John J. Ahearn, who was shot on the night of Dec. 19 in a fight in front of the saloon of Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler at 343 West North avenue. The operation was performed at the Alexian Brothers' hospital by Dr. Frederick Retting.

After the .38 caliber bullet was removed Dr. Retting said his patient's condition was excellent and that Ahearn would recover quickly unless complications developed. Ahearn said he would turn the bullet over to investigators of the state's attorney's office who will investigate to determine if the shot was fired from Ald. Bauler's gun, as is charged.

Policeman Ahearn and a fellow policeman are now under suspension, and Ald. Bauler has been indicted on a charge of assault to kill. Bauler was arraigned on Wednesday before Judge Donald S. McKinlay and the case was continued to Feb. 2, pending Ahearn's recovery. First Deputy Sheriff Fred Wright, also wounded in the battle, is at St. Joseph's hospital.

HULL TELLS OLD WORLD TO TRAIL NEW TO PEACE

Secretary of State Pleads for End of Hatreds.

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull called upon the old world tonight to forget its ancient hatreds and make sure future disputes will be settled only by friendly means.

He pointed to agreements and resolutions of the recent Pan-American conference as an ideal example for Europe to follow and said the Montevideo gathering "generated a fierce sentiment for peace—reflecting the deep yearning of every home in the Americas."

The American statesman, who is returning from the Pan-American parley, tonight gave the final important address of his Latin-American goodwill tour at a state banquet in his honor.

He hailed the result of the Pan-American discussions as "the greatest actual and potential gain that has come to us since the days of independence," and stressed the need for a peaceful settlement of European problems.

The new sentiment for peace, Hull went on, "promises not only to blot out the last vestige of warfare on this continent but to convey its potent and inescapable message to the old world."

"It decreed that blood letting must cease among civilized peoples," he said, referring to resolutions for peace and the signing of nonaggression pacts. "A great new epoch in our relations has been born. A mighty new era of permanent friendliness, understanding, economic peace, cultural coöperation, and all-American solidarity has been inaugurated."

Voices Warning.

While saying that "we are allied together in these great endeavors under a rule of common sense, and we are done with drifting," Hull voiced the warning that "it would be an awful tragedy if the vast significance of this new day should either be minimized or misunderstood."

He called the conference a convocation "of good neighbors" and remarked that "the favorable interest with which the good neighbor policy of my own government has been met in this neighboring region is a sign it is a part of the great American pattern we are fashioning and is in accord with the true aspirations of all our peoples."

He praised as being "vastly important in the future relations of the American republics" the "far reaching proposals for bringing order gradually into economic affairs by lowering tariffs and removing the senseless prohibitions and restraints upon mutually profitable exchange of products among the nations."

BLAZE IN ROGERS PARK CHURCH IS LAID TO FIREBUG

Fire Attorney Thomas Sheehan yesterday was investigating a fire believed to be of incendiary origin which swept through the Rogers Park Congregational church, Ashland and Morse avenues, early in the day. Ten years ago the church was almost destroyed by another mysterious fire and a third conflagration was set about two years ago.

Investigations disclosed that yesterday's fire had been started in five different parts of the church. There were remnants of bonfires in the men's and women's cloakrooms in the basement, in the main aisle of the church proper, and in two places near the altar. Pieces of the altar rug, newspapers, hymn books, and the rector's Bible were used for kindling. Charred bits of this fuel were found on the floor.

The Rev. Stanley E. Crosland, pastor, could ascribe no reason for the blaze save that it was started by a maniac. There was no dissension among the members, he said, and he had received no threats. He believed that the same crank set all three fires.

Seeks Pension for All Ex-Slaves Over 75

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Representative Oscar De Priest [Rep., Ill.] today introduced a bill in the house which would provide $30 a month pension for every ex-slave over 75 years of age. He said the measure would benefit about 100,000 Negroes.

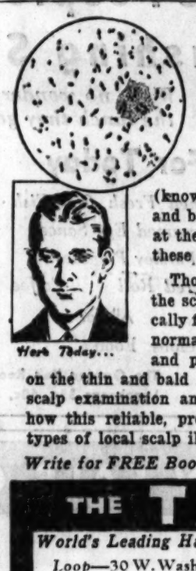
Dandruff Germs Cause BALDNESS



Work Today...

Almost 90% of all cases of baldness can be traced to some form of dandruff infection. Dandruff is caused by minute "germs" (known technically as Flaschenbacilli of Unna and bacille a bouteille of Sabouraud). The sketch at the left, made from a microscope slide, shows these dandruff germs, greatly enlarged.

Thomas treatment removes dandruff germs from the scalp, and leaves it antiseptically free of infection. It stops abnormal hair-fall, ends scalp itch, and permits hair to grow again on the thin and bald spots. Call today for a free scalp examination and see for yourself exactly how this reliable, proved method overcomes all types of local scalp ills.

GOLD PROGRAM, DEVALUATION UP AT WHITE HOUSE

Profit on Metal May Cut Federal Deficit.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Significant steps toward formal devaluation of the dollar and the appropriation by the government of the resulting increment in the value of gold holdings were the subject of White House conferences today.

The move is construed by some authorities to indicate the intention of the administration to use the potential four billion dollar increase in the value of the gold reserve after devaluation to meet in part the 7 billion dollar deficit this fiscal year if difficulty should develop in borrowing the 10 billions required for current expenses and refinancing of maturing obligations.

Procedure Is Discussed.

President Roosevelt conferred first with Gov. Eugene Black of the federal reserve board and later with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., and Attorney General Homer Cummings. Following the conference officials cautioned against the inference that action is imminent. Only questions of procedure in connection with eventual action were under consideration, they said.

The White House discussion appears to have revolved principally around ways and means of effecting the devaluation of the dollar and acquiring for the treasury the increment of value of the 3 billion 600 million of gold now held by the federal reserve banks.

Under the Thomas amendment the President already has the power to reduce the gold content of the dollar up to a maximum of 50 per cent and the legal branch of the brain trust has advised the executive that he possesses ample authority to appropriate the federal reserve gold. On the latter point Attorney General Cummings is understood to entertain some doubts.

May Go to Congress.

The immediate question for the President to decide is whether to act under his present expressly conferred and implied authority or refer the whole matter to congress. On one occasion he indicated that although possessing express authority to devalue the dollar he would prefer that devaluation be accomplished by specific act of congress. The appropriation of the federal reserve gold would be provided for through an amendment to the devaluation act.

Those who are urging the President to carry out the devaluation program without further recourse to congress are contending that the passage of such legislation will open up the whole monetary question with what might be unfortunate results. The free silverites and other inflationists would seize the opportunity to offer amendments, some of which might be adopted, the debate might drag on for weeks.

Quasi-Stabilization Rumored.

There have been rumors in financial circles for several days that the administration is preparing to effect a quasi-stabilization of the dollar in order to steady the government bond market on the eve of the ten billion dollar program of financing the President announced in his budget message and in order to dispel the uncertainty of future monetary policies which business leaders contend is retarding recovery.

Another motive for stabilization imputed to the administration was the feeling that the effort to boost commodity prices through depreciation of the dollar by bidding up the price of gold has been futile. Since the gold purchase operations were initiated on Oct. 22 they have had little if any perceptible influence on prices. The price offered for gold was advanced from $29.80 to $34.06 an ounce, compared with the statutory value of $20.67. For nearly two months the gold price has been raised only once and then only 5 cents. The President has been credited with seeking a graceful way out of an experiment that had proved a failure.

Contend Free Market Needed.

The committee for the nation, closely associated with Prof. George F. Warren, author of the gold purchase scheme, contends that the lack of success is due to the failure of the President to establish a free gold market, buy all the gold in sight, and raise the price to $41.34 an ounce, twice the statutory price. Britain, says the committee, has nullified the President's gold purchase operations by employment of its huge equalization fund in the foreign exchange market.

That the impending steps toward dollar devaluation have any connection with the current sagging of the government bond market is open to a good deal of question. There is every indication that the administration is relying upon government purchase of its own bonds to steady the market. The treasury bought 44 million dollars of government bonds last week and is reported to be buying even more extensively this week. Furthermore, the President is said to have notified the federal reserve board that it may be necessary for the reserve banks to resume purchase of government securities on a large scale.

There is more reason to believe that the administration is getting ready to employ the increase in the value of gold holdings following devaluation to finance the extraordinary expenditures of the government. With the 3 billions 600 millions of federal reserve gold, 75 millions purchased by the RFC, 200 millions in the treasury, and more coming in from hoarders, the government would have an increment of value of about four billions if the dollar were devalued 50 per cent. Paper money could be issued against this four billions of gold at the new value to meet government expenses.

RECOVER BODY OF THIRD VICTIM IN AURORA FIRE

Rescue workers yesterday recovered the body of Fireman Charles Hoffman of fire company 1 of Aurora, the third victim of a $300,000 fire that earlier in the day wrecked the Woolworth building in the Aurora business district. Fireman Hoffman and Capts. Herbert Rees of company 4 and John Peterson of company 5 were killed when a wall of the building collapsed as they battled the flames.

Firemen Albert Burgholzer and Barney Meisch, also injured when the wall toppled, were reported in a serious condition in an Aurora hospital. Policeman Frank Carroll and Fireman Alfons Van Heck were hurt less seriously in the wall crash.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE ST. LAWRENCE TREATY

President Roosevelt has laid the St. Lawrence waterway treaty before the senate with a message strongly urging ratification. The President is impressed by the economic advantages, both waterway and water power, contained in the project and he believes that the treaty between Canada and the United States will provide the way by which the advantages can be realized. Mr. Roosevelt is an eloquent advocate, but the opposition is convinced of the treaty's faults—and some of this opposition is in the President's own party and, more than that, in his own state, which has a substantial interest in the question.

The Mississippi valley and the Chicago region of the great lakes are both opposed to the treaty and both base their objections on several grounds. There is an objection to the surrender of American jurisdiction in Lake Michigan or to an impairment of it; to the involvement of the Mississippi waterway in a treaty inimical to it; to the great expenditure of American money for the benefit of Canadian labor, material producers, and power and shipping interests.

The Mississippi valley feels that it is the victim of competitive interests which have not been fair although they have been politically powerful. President Roosevelt's advocacy of the treaty proceeds entirely from his belief that the benefits will be general and no sectional injuries will be done or are intended.

The senators from the valley states, which regard the project as in part aimed at their heads, will lead the opposition in the senate. They include Senator Lewis of Illinois and Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri. Senator Clark has already called attention to the promotion fund of over a half million dollars which has been put at the disposal of the St. Lawrence lobby. In ordinary legislative parlance this would be called a slush fund. An unusual feature of it is that most of it has been cajoled out of the legislatures of lake states whose people have been hoodwinked by various interests into thinking that the Mississippi waterway to the gulf contains no profit to them and may do them injuries. The fallacy has been exposed many times, but the other side has remained in influence.

People naturally would be suspicious of a proposal so backed when the inequities and inequalities of advantage are so marked as they are in the St. Lawrence treaty arrangements now at issue.

GOOD POLICE WORK.

The capture of Walter Detrick, one of the members of the Dillinger gang which has terrorized Chicago since last September, is a feat for which Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney deserve congratulation. It is apparent that the insistence of these two officials on the utmost vigilance by their men when in direct contact with the Dillinger gangsters is producing results. The police are no longer allowing the gangsters to draw first. The result is that the casualty lists, when there are casualties, bear the names not of policemen but of gangsters. This, needless to say, is precisely as it should be.

WASTED RAILS.

Abandonment of useless parallel mileage by competing railways has several times met with our approval. While past experience has shown that the railways of the country have none too much terminal trackage, there is an immense waste in the maintenance cost of the so-called road hauls. Probably 40 per cent of the total could be torn up without impairing the efficiency of our transportation machine.

Now comes the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic with a proposal to abandon seventy-three and one-half miles of its cross country track in northern Wisconsin and to operate its trains in future over the parallel track of the Soo line. Even with the discontinuance of service on the line in question, no resident in the territory intervening between Superior and Marengo will be obliged to drive in excess of seven miles to railway transportation. When the railroads were first built such a distance might have been presumed to present a hardship, but in these days of improved roads and automotive transportation it means practically nothing to the public, and the railways are enabled to cut maintenance costs in half.

The interstate commerce commission has not yet approved the application, but the examiner who heard the evidence on the ground has recommended that they should do so. Such petitions are getting more and more frequent, and even if beginnings are relatively small they represent steps in the direction of coördinating our road system with our railway system. The railroads were built in the era of horse drawn vehicles. They will become adapted to the era of motor transportation. We wonder if the executives of all of our railway companies have thoroughly surveyed their lines for instances where similar corrections can be made. There doubtless is considerable pride in the ownership of individual lines, but they are mighty expensive luxuries.

TRUCE IN THE MILK STRIKE.

Among those who did not come through the milk strike with any enhancement of credit were the administrators of the AAA. In all the complications involved it may not be easy to determine just how much responsibility these administrators had for the suspension of milk deliveries in Chicago, but it is at least a fact that they had stepped in before the strike, had produced a greater degree of turmoil, more disputes and greater uncertainty, and then stepped out and were unable or unwilling to do anything to help the situation when it was at its worst.

When none of the agitators, disturbers and administrators could do anything but promote disorders, Mayor Kelly and the Chicago aldermen were apparently the only ones who could bring reason back on the scene and milk again into Chicago homes. There is some cause to believe that the strike was a trial balloon sent up by various interests to see how successfully they could force the federal government into compliance with their wishes. The representatives of these interests did not know whether they could get away with it or not, but it was a good time to try. About all they succeeded in proving was that the AAA had nothing in its locker except embarrassment and futility.

The only power that amounted to anything was that which Mayor Kelly and the aldermen finally exercised when everybody else had taken to the woods. The city of Chicago, through its officials, still retained some authority over the milk supply. No doubt the AAA will return to the scene now that a truce has been declared, a probability which is recognized in the agreement taking the issue to arbitration. It caused the consumer no astonishment to discover that the AAA administration is not interested in his equities. The code theories leave him out. To the mayor and the aldermen he is important. There is evidence to support a belief that the strike was of several collusive interests, intending to drive the independents out of business and force a standardization of price and quality, regardless of the taste or pocketbook of the consumer, but this was in accord with the AAA program and merely attempted to do by violence and disorder what the administrators had tried to do by code and legal, if unconstitutional, proceedings.

Although a truce is signed, some of the episodes of the strike ought not to be overlooked by the authorities. That such disorders have become familiar to people, disorders involving the destruction of property, the blocking of roads, the stopping of mail trains and the jeopardizing of railroad transportation, is hardly a reason why they should be encouraged in the future by official acceptance of the theory that the end justified the means.

THE EXECUTION OF VAN DER LUBBE.

The Dutch government had protested to the German Nazi officials in behalf of Van der Lubbe, the Dutch youth condemned for setting fire to the parliament house, that it was a denial of rights to execute him under a law passed after the crime was committed. This representation, aided by the fact that the condemned man was clearly of immature mind, if not feeble-minded, was expected to save him from the headsman. It was generally believed that an agreement had been reached and that President von Hindenburg would commute the sentence to imprisonment. Suddenly the man with the ax is ordered to the scene and Van der Lubbe lost the head which had served him so poorly.

The Nazi government has been strongly suspected of a determination to close the case and forget it before embarrassing evidence of Nazi complicity in firing the building was discovered. The German judges saved the communists accused of the crime and also saved the reputation of the German judicial system in the face of plain efforts at intimidation by a government which has not been checked at any other point. The victims wanted were the communists, but they escaped the ax.

Although the Dutch incendiary confessed a crime the circumstances of his death reveal the execution of a political sentence required by the exigencies of Nazi rule in Germany. Some one had to be beheaded to close the case; and with a romantic flourish Hitler gives the youth the favors of the headsman rather than the ignominy of the rope because the condemned was so stubbornly courageous in avowing that he had set some fires, which the cynical do not believe burned down the parliament house.

Editorial of the Day

HOW ABOUT HIS CASE?

[Detroit Free Press.]

Why, although his qualifications were high, his services valuable, and his integrity unquestioned, did Earle Bailie, special assistant in the treasury department in charge of fiscal affairs, think he must resign his place?

Because he believed that otherwise he would be standing in the way of the senatorial confirmation of the appointment of Henry Morgenthau Jr. to be secretary of the treasury.

Why did Mr. Bailie feel this way?

Principally because Senator Couzens questioned his fitness for his job on the ground of his association with the New York banking firm of J. & W. Seligman & Co., which, the senator contended, had floated several issues of foreign bonds at present partly or wholly in default.

We hold no sort of brief for Mr. Bailie, and we fancy that he can take care of himself. But Mr. Couzens' attitude makes us wonder how good his memory is.

Does Senator Jim recollect, for instance, that when he was mayor of Detroit he affixed his name officially to municipal bonds with a face value of more than $60,000,000 which now are partially in default and have been selling at from 40 to 60 cents on the dollar?

Perhaps the senator has forgotten this. But with refreshment of memory, does he consider himself disqualified to hold his present position and his membership on the senate finance committee because he signed those bonds?

Personally we do not believe Mr. Couzens' approval of the Detroit securities has any bearing one way or another on his fitness for his job in the national capital. But in view of his attitude toward Mr. Bailie, is it consistent for him to take such a view?

SUSPICIOUS.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

DURING THE MILK strike old Bill Jinks went around to every barroom in town and demanded milk, milk, MILK! And then the genteel bartenders would murmur sad regrets that there was some kind of blockade on that kept the milk from coming in to town and so they couldn't get any milk and it was just too bad, but they offered him malted milk, canned milk, powdered milk and milk chocolates. And then what a wild roar old Bill would give. No, sir! he wasn't to be put off by any of that kind of dope; he wanted a glass of milk, real milk, cow's milk, by golly, and he was going to get it or he would know why. And then he would point a warning finger and shake it at the bartenders and roar until the chandeliers rattled and the bartenders would break down and cry. And so old Bill kept charging up and down the streets, in and out at every bar and making himself such a pest that the bartenders would crawl under the bar or run out the back door when they heard him charging in. But yesterday the strike was over, the blockade was lifted, and when old Bill came into a Rush street barroom the bartender smiled exultantly and, holding aloft a quart bottle of milk in each hand, he shouted gleefully, "Here you are, Mr. Jinks, all the milk you can drink today." "Oh the hell with milk," said old Bill; "gimme a glass of beer."

SUBCONSCIOUS.

So far back my memory goes—
So very far, I think,
That only Charon's night-used eyes
May see across the brink.

By a river in a valley,
Even this my memory knew:
That there a seed was planted,
There it sprouted and it grew.

I saw it come to flower
And I saw it die away.
All this do I remember
Of earth's first day.

I remember all the little beasts
That from the earth have sprung,
And all the little gods new made,
And all the hymns that men have sung.

I remember all the caravans
That came to Babylon;
And I remember all the gifts
That people brought to Solomon.

And I remember people
Who lived in Athens and Cathay.
They were not very different
From the ones I know today.

I remember things they did then,
Like stopping at an inn—
And things of less importance:
Taking flour from a bin,

And kneading bread,
And mulling wine,
And tending sheep,
And milking kine.

And I remember smaller things:
Children playing jacks;
How women went to market
Toting millet-seed in sacks.

I know of all the little ships
That once set out to sea
To bring home pearls and amber
And purple dye and tea.

I know of all the victories
Of armies manifold:
I know of all the brave defeats
The dead have never told.

These are things that I remember
Out of all the things I know
Since the seed was planted,
Since it sprouted and it grew.

These are things that I remember
From the lives of other men:
And these the things that I forgot
And had to learn again.

What we need is a mechanical nose to tell us whether it's genuine Scotch or bourbon or whether it's got hair oil and gasoline in it.

THE SKIN AS A GERM KILLER.

C. S. BRYAN and W. L. Mallman confirm the teaching of Dr. Lloyd Arnold that bacteria placed on the surface of the skin die very quickly. If the hands are thickly smeared with live, active, and virulent bacteria within a few minutes it will be found that the organisms have died and most of them have disappeared. The skin is a wall designed to keep within all that belongs there and also to keep without whatever has no right inside.

It is something more than brick and mortar—a physical barrier. It is a compound of living cells, each having active work to do. These cells have a great bacteria killing capacity. So well accepted is the theory that skin cells can and do kill bacteria that many wonder whether ordinary antiseptic washing or painting the skin with antiseptics does any good, and some assert that doing so results in harm.

An explanation of this bacteria destroying power of the skin is offered by Bryan and Mallman. One conclusion is that it is one of the natural powers of the skin cells. However, it is greatly aided by drying. The bacteria on the skin surface rapidly dry out and when they do they become inactive and soon die.

The power of the skin cells to kill bacteria is greatly increased by exposure to sunlight. Part of this is due to the action of sunlight on the germs themselves. However, much of it is due to the effects on the skin cells. Some of the protective substance generated by action of light on the cells is absorbed into the body and becomes a part of the protective machinery of the body. Exposing the skin to ultra-violet light has the same effect.

Arnold himself offers an observation that appears to be contradictory to the above. While the surface of the skin is usually very poor in bacterial life there are enough germs and to spare around the roots of the hairs in the interior of the grease glands. That this is not true of the sweat glands may be because the outward flow of salty water washes them away. He found a rich nesting of staphylococci of the kind that causes pimples and boils around hair roots and in the grease glands. That's the explanation of the well known fact that keeping warm poultices on the skin results in crops of boils and pimples.

ALLERGY MIGRAINE.

Mrs. C. C. D. writes: I submit my experience with migraine, hoping it may be valuable to somebody. For about 20 years I have had migraine, seldom passing a period longer than two weeks without a unilateral headache lasting from one to three days. I am now 45 years old.

The first step in my recovery program was the realization, after many years of trying to keep pace with others, that I wou'l have to lead a quieter life—that I must stop driving myself and being driven. That was good, but only the beginning. The headaches by no means ceased. After a lapse of several years, during which children came, my husband, who is a physician, began following up the allergy scent. Our first child had proved a hay fever victim, and the second had tolerated fresh milk poorly and had, when little more than a baby, complained of headaches. In consequence I began to experiment with diets and found that omitting fresh milk and cream and chocolate produced a marked benefit. The headaches did not cease but became fewer, and I began to enjoy a greater sense of well-being. Among other phases of general improvement I felt less edgy and temperamental.

The next move was the routine practice of taking daily doses of calcium lactate to offset the loss of milk and cream from the diet. That actually seems to be the final trick that has thus far [after several months' trial] wrought a deliverance. I have been practically free from migraine since cultivating the calcium habit. Only two or three times has an attack even threatened, each time to be forestalled by an extra trip to the calcium bottle.

I have waited in suspense to confirm my hopes—and now I almost believe the trick has been turned for me.

ACID FORMING FOODS.

Miss P. B. writes: 1. What foods are acid forming? I try to avoid what I think would cause acid, but I don't avoid the right things. 2. I had scarlet fever last April and have had acne on my face ever since.

REPLY.

1. The acid ash foods are eggs, meats, cereals, and breads. Are you certain you are subject to acidosis? If you are troubled with acidosis, what kind? You may not be on the right track.

2. The fact that you had scarlet fever last spring need not cause you to have acidosis or pimples, or to need to diet now. In fact, those who diet after scarlet fever generally diet too rigorously. The cause of acne is retention of grease in the grease glands. The best single remedy is supercleanliness of the skin.

IT MAY BE ITCH.

Mrs. G. C. writes: My boy is past 9 years of age, weighs 100 pounds, and has rosy cheeks. Every one thinks he looks like a healthy child. This winter, for the last three months, he has had an itch and a rash all over his body and between his fingers. Sometimes it almost disappears and other times it is very bad. It keeps him up most of the night. I have tried to eliminate certain foods but this does not help. I was told it is a blood condition. Is it serious and what can I do about it?

REPLY.

Your description fits scabies, sometimes called seven year itch. It has many other names. It is not a blood disease. Your boy caught it from somebody.

It can be cured by a proper use of a good sulphur ointment. But the boy can be reinfected by contact with infected people or infected garments. Gloves spread it. So may slates, pencils, and books.

SHARING ESTATE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Of three children in a family two are married. The oldest, a boy, has been living at home, supported and clothed by the parents for over twenty years. The father died two years ago, willing everything to his wife, stipulating that upon her death the residue be divided equally between the three children. Can the two married children, upon their mother's death, prevent the oldest child, who is physically able to work, from obtaining his full one-third, with a proper showing on their part that this son never tried to work and provide for his own support? W. H.

No, except that if they can show that he is a spendthrift they might have his share placed in the hands of a conservator for him.

UNPAID RENT.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A owes B $300 rent money. B takes A to court and the judge tells A he must move within ten days. A moves on the eighth day. At the time of moving A had some beer tavern fixtures which were valued at $450. A bought them on monthly payments. One year later from the day which A moved he made his last payment on the fixtures. Now B sues A for the rent, wanting to take the fixtures in payment. 1. Can B do this? 2. If he can do so, does he have to pay to A the difference between the due rent and the value of the fixtures? 3. Was not B paid in full when the judge told A to move? A. L.

1. Yes, subject to the exemption of $400 worth allowed to the head of a family. The fixtures will be sold at execution sale. If A thinks that they are worth more than the amount of the judgment he should be represented at the sale.
2. No, but see 1.
3. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

1. Yes.
2. Depends on the number of pages.
3. Ordinarily it is not necessary for heirs to be separately represented.
4. When the time for closing comes you can expect to hear from the executor or administrator.
5. It seems probable that no steps are necessary at the present time.

From Across the Sea

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ZILUPE, Latvia [on the soviet frontier].—An old woman clad in rags appeared in the Zilupe railroad station and seated herself near the lunch counter.

Her hypnotized attitude as she gazed at the well stocked counter with its sandwiches attracted the attention of the attendants and one of them, taking pity on her, asked her to help herself. She eagerly reached for a piece of saffron flavored raisin bread. With her toothless mouth full of this bread she began to mumble a tragic story. A few minutes later she was being led off to the police station by a gentle Latvian policeman who tried to halt her tears by explaining this was only a formality.

At the police station the woman produced papers proving her story was true. She identified herself as Helen Savelke, 72 years old, Ukrainian living in Mogielef, 200 miles from Zilupe. The woman said she had walked the entire distance begging food from the peasants en route.

Before the war her daughter had married a Lett, Peter Purvinsch of Zilupe. He is employed as conductor on the Latvian state railroad. She said she had not heard from her daughter for years and sobbed she wished to see her again before she died. Her daughter was found living only a few doors away from the police station.

On her wanderings through White Russia the aged woman had been treated kindly by the peasants. One family living near the border gave her shelter until a heavy snowstorm enabled her to cross the closely guarded frontier unseen by the G. P. U. [secret police], who receive a bonus for every refugee they capture.

She reported that only a small portion of this year's crops remain in the hands of the peasants, the government collecting the remainder in taxes. For the last year, she related, she had eaten nothing but black bread and boiled potatoes with an occasional spoonful of linseed oil. This, she says, is the staple food of the White Russian peasants.

SAFEGUARDING THE SANITARY LOAN.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—I have noticed with much interest your editorial on the subject of "Safeguarding the Sanitary Loan." It is, of course, very true that any sizable public expenditure should be carefully safeguarded to insure that modern engineering and manufacturing methods are used.

I am venturing to call your attention to the fact that the various manufacturing industries today have developed the science of drying and incineration to such a degree that there is very little guesswork about these individual operations. Naturally our competitive system has forced industry to develop the simplest and most effective methods for obtaining desired results.

Our own firm is frequently called upon to design and build complete industrial plants, including many forms of drying and solving many combustion problems. We therefore speak with the certainty of experience when we state that the problems of drying and incineration on a large scale have been reduced to an engineering basis. These operations are now carried on with a relatively high degree of efficiency, and we are quite sure that you will find a number of reputable manufacturers of this class of equipment willing to design, build and guarantee driers and incinerators.

While all branches of manufacture are subject to further development it may add to the perspective of this situation to mention that drying of sewage sludge has been carried on continuously and successfully for a number of years by such cities as Milwaukee, Houston, Indianapolis, etc. In all cases it is, of course, essential to use simple, rugged equipment and eliminate as far as possible delicate mechanisms and rapidly moving parts. These fundamentals combined into a proper design will give a low operating cost, which, based on information available to the writer, shows a very marked saving over the present methods of disposal which comprise trucking the dried sludge away and burying it. The process of mechanical drying and incinerating in a continuous unit, of course, gives complete and ultimate sanitary disposal, whereas burying or dumping the partially dried sludge is merely postponing the day of reckoning.

We believe that referring problems of this nature to engineering experts familiar with this work is the simple, obvious way to insure their competent treatment.

THE CARE OF THE DISABLED.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 2.—Your news item, "Denies Veterans Hurt in War Are Neglected," appears to be overly careful not to mention any names of those connected with or responsible for it.

It states that "the organization has concerned itself, since the passage of the act, with the welfare of veterans whose disabilities can be directly attributed to war service." Please pardon the sardonic grin. I know a number of disabled veterans whose misfortunes the organization has so far not concerned itself with in any way.

Is it possible that those responsible for it are "veterans" of the National Economy league? S. B. CORR,

A VICTIM OF THE MILK STRIKE.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—I read in the morning paper yesterday that milk would be delivered, upon request, to homes where there were babies or invalids. Being out of milk this morning and having a four month old youngster who must have milk for her formula, I called my dairy for a quart of milk. I was informed that the dairy would not risk the lives of their drivers by sending them out to make deliveries, but that if I could call at the dairy I would be given milk.

I left my infant with my sick grandmother and started for the dairy. I had to take two street cars and wait for each one about fifteen minutes. After riding for a half hour I reached the dairy only to be told that they were out of milk and that I would have to wait a while. The while turned out to be one and a half hours, and when the milk finally did arrive there was a grand rush of about fifty people for the measly two or three cases of milk. I finally got one quart of milk after being pushed around for about fifteen minutes, so that after two hours of inconvenience and worry I arrived home with my precious bottle of milk.

And they call this "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

MRS. BERTHA BERMAN.

HIS OX SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN GORED.

Crystal Lake, Ill., Jan. 8.—I lived on the farm all my twenty-five years until two months ago when I moved to Crystal Lake.

My folks being prominent dairy farmers some twenty miles from Chicago, quite often I visit them over the week-end. Sunday, Jan. 7, the milk strike was on, but I went home just the same. My folks gave us two gallons of milk, for the children, to help us out, which they do every time we come. Having lived on the farm all those years, I felt I was entitled to it.

Approaching the intersection of Plum Grove and Algonquin road near Palatine, I ran into a mob of about fifty strikers. I stopped, stepped out of my car and found out I was well acquainted with about 50 per cent of the men, some relatives and an official of the PMA local which my father also belongs to.

They searched my car, dumping one gallon of the milk, as one said I was only allowed one gallon. If you farmers out there enjoy dumping milk at the rate of one gallon every now and then, I'll try and frequent the corner more often so you may have the excitement. You know nights grow quite dreary when you stand around waiting for another gallon of milk to come bobbing along.

I wish to mention the fact that my father and brother were 100 per cent strikers and I also was with my brother in the morning, but that is thanks.

TRIES TO ATTACK GIRL, 5; IS BOOKED ON MINOR CHARGE

CWA Worker Nearly Gets Off with a Fine.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Michael Poturski and Oliver Olson, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Michael Feinberg.

Willis Moore, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Robert Logan, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Salvatore Sorlino, robbery, sentenced to life in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; Albert Smith, sentenced to life in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; John Riley, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

John Hudson, 29 years old, 5118 Augusta boulevard, a CWA worker, came before Judge Leon Edelman in Fillmore Street court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Standing at a distance from the prisoner before the bar was a 5 year old girl. Her face was scratched, her neck was bruised, and her frightened eyes were fastened on the prisoner's face, while her hand clutched the coat of her father, who had come with her to court.

Policeman Walter Pidgeon took the stand. On Tuesday afternoon, he said, an alarm had come to Austin precinct that a drunken man was creating a disturbance at 900 North Le Claire avenue. Patrolmen George Hartigan and John Alcock were assigned to investigate, he said.

Police Find Child.

At the given address, Pidgeon's story went, the police found the child in the same bruised condition she appeared yesterday. Hudson was mumbling incoherently that he was looking for a janitor and had come across the child.

A woman of the neighborhood, who had turned in the alarm, told the officers she had seen Hudson drag the child into the basement and later heard her scream, according to Pidgeon's statement. This woman was not produced in court.

The child, herself, was asked to tell what happened. She exhibited a nervous fright, and could only whimper that "that man had tried to do something bad—he choked me when I screamed."

The child's father was sworn. He said that Hudson was a loiterer in the neighborhood, adding that one of his friends had told him the defendant had once attempted to assault the friend's child.

Hudson, himself, took the stand and declared he had no clear recollection of what happened, because he was intoxicated at the time.

Imposes $200 Fine.

On the basis of the formal charge, Judge Edelman imposed a $200 fine and ordered Hudson to serve it out in the Bridewell. He was still pondering the evidence when Lieut. Thomas Duffy, stationed at Fillmore station, intervened.

"This man should not be dismissed so lightly," Lieut. Duffy told the judge. "The scene of this child's experience is in the vicinity of the John Hay public school. There's no telling but what he will go back there when his term is over, and attack another child."

Hudson was returned before the bench. On the judge's order, the disorderly charge was vacated. A new entry was made, charging Hudson with assault with intent to rape. The judge fixed his bail at $10,000 and committed him to the county jail.

At Austin station, later in the day, Capt. Willard Malone said he knew nothing of the case. Sergt. Frank McCarthy assumed full responsibility, however, for booking Hudson on the disorderly charge.

"Hudson was drunk and the child's story was incoherent," McCarthy said. "We figured she would be too scared to go to court. There was nothing to do but book him on the disorderly charge."

JURY TO PRESS QUIZ OF MOTOR THEFT "FENCES"

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 43; recovered, 60; stripped, 9 [from police records for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Wednesday].

The Cook county grand jury yesterday issued a statement announcing that a thorough investigation of automobile theft "fences", would be started immediately. The statement said that the head and members of the police automobile detail and all others believed to have knowledge of persons in the business of receiving and selling stolen automobiles, would be summoned to testify before the jury.

During the day they returned eleven indictments against persons charged with the theft of automobiles, bringing to more than forty the number of alleged auto thieves indicted since the new automobile court was established more than a week ago.

DOCTOR SEIZED AS ACCESSORY IN STORE HOLDUP

Fails to Report Treating Wounded Bandit.

Dr. Sidney S. Wise, 42 years old, a physician with offices at 3200 Warren boulevard, was arrested and booked yesterday on a warrant charging him with being an accessory after the fact of robbery. The warrant was issued by Judge Harold P. O'Connell, who fixed bond at $5,000.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan said that the warrant was obtained after Dr. Wise, who lives at 523 North Homan avenue, admitted performing an operation on a wounded robber without reporting to police.

One Wounded in Robbery.

The prosecutor said that the charge grew out of the robbery in which Frank Gallagher, 30 years old, and Joseph H. Lamont, 25 years old, are alleged to have taken $150 from the Holloway Candy company, 308 West Ontario street, on Dec. 15, 1932. As the bandits fled George Holloway, one of the owners, seized a pistol and opened fire.

Gallagher is alleged to have been wounded and to have sought treatment in the office of Dr. Wise, then at 1301 West Lake street. Both Gallagher and Lamont were seized by police in a loft over 1227 West Lake street on Nov. 13, 1933.

As the state prepared to go to trial in the robbery case yesterday before Judge Harry B. Miller, Prosecutor Regan sent for Dr. Wise.

Doctor Ordered Seized.

The physician failed to answer a subpœna and the prosecutor, Regan had him seized and taken to the Criminal Courts building. There Ruth Meyerson, 23 years old, sweetheart of Lamont, who is under indictment with him in another robbery case, identified the doctor, in the face of his denials, as the physician who performed the operation.

Miss Meyerson said that she aided in the operation in which Dr. Wise removed a bullet from Gallagher's abdomen. After the identification the physician admitted the charge, according to Prosecutor Regan.

After the defendants had been arraigned and the accessory warrant issued, the selection of the jury was begun for the trial of Gallagher and Lamont, but before the first venireman was called court was adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

REVEAL ARREST OF TOUHY GUNNER IN SECRET RAID

Seized Ex-Cop Accused in Factor Case.

The arrest in a secret raid two days ago of William A. [Buck] Henrichsen, former county highway policeman and reputed chief gunner for the Touhy gang, was revealed yesterday when a petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in his behalf before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan in the Criminal court.

Henrichsen, an alleged leader in the kidnaping of John Factor, wealthy speculator, was seized in a secret raid by state's attorney police in an apartment at Montrose and Kedzie avenues. This was revealed after Attorney William Scott Stewart had filed the petition for the writ. The hearing on the petition was continued until 10 o'clock this morning.

Since the arrest, it was learned, Henrichsen has been questioned by the police in an effort to persuade him to testify for the state in the Factor kidnaping trial, scheduled to start Tuesday before Judge Michael Feinberg. Roger Touhy and three of his henchmen are to be tried for the kidnaping. Henrichsen is said to have refused to make any incriminating admission in the face of continued questioning.

"Touhy Gang Demoralized."

"The arrest of Henrichsen was an important bit of work," State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday, "and I expect another, equally important, shortly. We have completely demoralized the Touhy gang."

Henrichsen is one of the four men sought in a man hunt launched by State's Attorney Courtney in December. With three other men Henrichsen was believed to be the leader in a gang fusion movement embracing members of four of the most notorious gangs in the central and western states.

The supergang, according to the prosecutor, included some members of the John Dillinger gang of escaped Indiana convicts, the Touhy gang, the Harvey Bailey gang of Oklahoma, and the Jack Klutas kidnaping gang.

Only Two at Large Now.

The arrest of Henrichsen left at large only two of those named as principals in the man hunt, as Klutas was killed by the police last Saturday in a raid in Bellwood. The two still at large are Charles [Ice Wagon] Connors and Basil Hugh Banghart, both members of the Touhy gang.

At the time the state's attorney named the list of important criminals he announced that Henrichsen was one of the gang that seized Factor and held him for ransom. He said that Henrichsen would be indicted as soon as he was arrested.

WINDOW BREAKER JAILED.

Stanley Slyburski, 20 years old, 3513 Muskegon avenue, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell and fined $100 yesterday by Municipal Judge William E. Helander for breaking a window in a store at 3619 Escanaba avenue.

Senate Confirms W. C. Bullitt U. S. Ambassador to Russia

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—A warning to Russia that continued relations with the United States depend on the good faith with which Moscow keeps its promise to halt subversive propaganda in this country, was sounded today as the senate confirmed William C. Bullitt as first American ambassador to the soviet government.

"The rule that a country has the right to choose its own form of government is utterly reciprocal," Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], said. "The question is whether we have received adequate and reliable assurance from Russia that imported treason shall cease. Russia must understand that the guarantee given by Mr. Litvinov must be primary and continuous. The continuity of the pledge is as important as the giving of it. If kept, then permanent friendly relations have a chance."

Having made clear the position which, he said, he believed was shared by many Americans, Senator Vandenberg explained that he was willing to vote for Mr. Bullitt's confirmation.

Less conciliatory was Senator Arthur R. Robinson [Rep., Ind.]. He opposed both the recognition of Russia and the confirmation of Mr. Bullitt, the Indiana senator said. Several Republicans' voices joined with his "no," when the final vote was taken.

Also confirmed today were Carter H. Harrison, former mayor of Chicago, as collector of internal revenue for the northern district of Illinois, and Walter J. Cummings of Chicago, as a director of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation. Mr. Cummings is expected soon to leave government service to head the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago.

HORNER APPEALS TO SENATORS TO OPPOSE SEAWAY

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner tonight said in telegrams to Senators J. Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich that the state of "Illinois is unalterably opposed to ratification of the proposed St. Lawrence treaty in its present form."

The governor's message said in part:

"Lake Michigan never has been considered part of the national boundary waters and to permit it to become internationalized now would be the surrender of a principle long recognized by authorities on international law.

"Internationalization of Lake Michigan would surrender our basic and essential rights in our greatest inland body of navigable water, and subject to international control water leaving its southern outlet, from Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico. This would seriously jeopardize the future of the lakes-to-gulf waterway."

Friends of Pact Count on White House Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Debate on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada will begin in the senate tomorrow, with issue as to ratification very much in doubt. Unofficial polls among the proponents and opponents of the treaty indicate that if those opposed to ratification were willing to forego oratory and bring about a quick vote the treaty would be defeated.

Administration leaders and friends of the treaty openly admit their belief that they lack the necessary two-thirds to put confirmation across. The guess of one leader tonight was that at the present time President Roosevelt could count on little more than a majority for the treaty.

Roosevelt Urges Approval.

Friends of the treaty are counting on White House influence to bring a sufficient number of Democrats into line to insure senate approval. Already the President has spoken openly in the message he sent to the senate yesterday urging ratification. He followed that up last night, it was learned, by sending for Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, to impress upon the senator his desire to have the treaty go through.

The President has been described as being set upon having his administration memorialized as monumentally as that of President Theodore Roosevelt by the Panama canal. To gain his end, he is reported ready to use every ounce of the pressure that an executive as politically clever as he can employ.

Administration leaders, therefore, are looking forward to a debate that promises to be detailed and lengthy. They want time for persuasive arguments to do their work. From all appearances their wish will be granted; for senators on both sides have laid out a speaking program that is to be counted, not in hours, but in days.

Radicals Pledge Aid.

The desire of the President for ratification of the St. Lawrence pact has already borne fruit. At a conference of the Republican radical bloc called by Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, eight votes were pledged to Mr. Roosevelt. In addition to Senator Norris, Senators La Follette [Wis.], Nye [N. D.], Frazier [N. D.], and Shipstead, Minnesota Farmer-Laborite attended the meeting and promised to work and vote for the treaty. Senators Borah [Idaho], Cutting [N. M.], and Johnson [Cal.], sent word to the conference that they, too, would lend their support. Senator Johnson is expected to be one of the chief speakers in favor of the treaty.

It was also announced today that nine midwestern governors had joined the pro-treaty Great Lakes Tidewater association. The governors were announced as Herring of Iowa, Landon of Kansas, Comstock of Michigan, Olson of Minnesota, Conney of Montana, Bryan of Nebraska, White of Ohio, and Schmedeman of Wisconsin.

Comes Up at Opening.

The theaty was made the unfinished business before the senate on motion of Senator Pittman late this afternoon. It had been hoped by the Democratic leaders that debate might be started before today's adjournment, but discussion arising over presidential appointments intervened, and a recess was taken until tomorrow noon, with the treaty scheduled to come up as soon as the senate convenes.

ACCUSES HIS AIDS OF DOUBLE CROSS IN PLOT TRIAL

Stock Held from Associate, Witness Says.

Charles R. Surface, star state witness in the trial of seven defendants charged with conspiracy to loot the Security Life Insurance company of Chicago and its affiliate, the Northern States Insurance company of Hammond, took the witness stand yesterday in the court of Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

Surface, who was indicted with the other defendants and won a severance on his promise to testify for the state, told the jury that the defendants were not even honest in their dealings among themselves. He said that Attorney John H. S. Lee, partner in the law firm of former Senator Charles S. Deneen, who is one of the principal defendants, was not apprised of the fact that the alleged conspiracy was to include $325,000 worth of stock. This stock, he said, was held out from Lee and was to have been split among some of the others in the transaction.

State's Conspiracy Charge.

The state charges that the conspiracy was between Lee, his associates, and Machir Dorsey, who controlled the life insurance companies. Lee and Harry W. Huttig, another defendant, were the owners of a 27 acre tract near Waukegan, which was called the Manufacturers' Terminal. This property was ultimately placed under a $1,700,000 mortgage and the mortgage was put in the security portfolios of the Dorsey insurance companies, the state charges.

Surface said he had known Dorsey since 1905 and that in 1925 he had been placed on a dummy board of directors in the International Life and Annuity company of Moline, controlled by Dorsey. He said that while acting in that capacity he met most of the defendants from the insurance group. Later he said he was "sort of a bird dog for C. H. Lord in hunting those with money who could be interested in Lord's promotional schemes." It was through Lord, he said, that he became interested in the property controlled by Lee and Huttig, which they had previously acquired from its original owners in a law suit.

Tells of Negotiations.

"I negotiated with Dorsey after he had acquired control of the Northern States Life Insurance company in December, 1928," testified Surface. "At that time he said his company could not handle the deal because it was too big and that, anyhow, it could not be handled direct by the insurance company. At that time I told him that the property was going in the hole and that the owners wanted to dispose of it."

Surface said Dorsey told him he would keep the property in mind and if he could work out a deal on it he would let him know. Negotiations were caried on for several months, between Dorsey, Huttig, Lord and himself, the witness asserted. Attorney Lee was not consulted, he said.

"In January or February of 1929 Dorsey finally said that a deal might be worked out through a separate company which he proposed to organize. He said the deal would have to be one-half cash and one-half paper," continued Surface. "I informed Huttig and he said he would consult Lee. Later he told me it would be satisfactory.

Explains Mortgage Deal.

"Dorsey said that in view of the insurance regulations the amount of the loans could only be one-half of the appraisal value. We had an appraisal of $3,500,000 from the firm of Coats and Burchard and decided on $1,700,000. The deal was fixed at $500,000 in cash, $300,000 in life insurance participating certificates, and $325,000 worth of stock in Edwin Hult & Co., which Dorsey proposed to organize to handle the deal.

"Dorsey said that $300,000 would have to be set aside for improvements to the property, $175,000 would go to Hult & Co. to handle the deal, and $100,000 would be set aside for the first year's interest on the mortgages. I told Lord and Huttig of the proposal and they said it was satisfactory, but not to mention to Lee the Hult stock involved as that was part of a deal between Lord and Huttig."

The other defendants in the alleged conspiracy beside Dorsey, Huttig, and Lee, are John W. Seids, secretary and treasurer of the Hult company; C. Edwin Johnson, vice president of the Security Life; Bertram Day, president of the Northern States company, and Edwin Hult, president of the Hult company.

U. S. SHIP FIGHTS FIRE IN CARGO OFF ENGLISH COAST

LONDON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Lloyds reported from Land's End today that the American steamer Tripp, en route from Houston to Liverpool, reported a fire in her cotton cargo between decks at 7 p. m. yesterday. At that time her crew apparently was smothering the fire successfully. She last reported her position at 8 p. m. Monday as 868 miles southwest of the southwestern tip of England.

The Tripp is a combination passenger and freight ship of 3,513 tons and normally has a crew of 44.

Another message to Lloyds from Yokohama said the American steamer Texas, bound for Dairen, was reported ashore on Sado Island, Japan, in a snowstorm. Assistance was sent to the grounded vessel, the report said.

NILA CRAM COOK SENT TO CHARITY HOME BY MAGISTRATE IN INDIA

CALCUTTA, India, Jan. 11.—(AP)—An Iowa girl, who sought peace when she entered Mahatma Gandhi's seminary and thrills when she left it, found contentment today as a vagrant in a charity house.

Nila Cram Cook told a magistrate that she was homeless and alone and that she had no other place to go, so under the vagrancy act, he sent her to the home for women and girls situated in the Indian quarter of Calcutta.

Miss Cook wants to go to America soon, she said, with her son, now in Ahmedabad under the protection of a guardian appointed by the mahatma. Police said he would not give up the boy without the written consent of the mother. Miss Cook entered a Calcutta hospital Dec. 5 apparently ill and was discharged today. She is regarded as an American subject, but difficulties regarding the son have complicated authorities' efforts to repatriate her at government expense.

GREEN TO HEAR U. S. FINDINGS IN CWA QUIZ TODAY

Inquiry Will Include Relief Groups.

Evidence indicating irregularities in the expenditure of civil works administration funds and the allotment of CWA jobs will be laid before United States Attorney Green today by S. Norman Moe and Joseph Sweeney, investigators from Washington sent to Chicago by the public works administration.

The two investigators told Prosecutor Green yesterday that they believed the federal grand jury should hear the evidence in several cases.

Include Relief Quiz.

It was also disclosed yesterday that the scope of the federal inquiry has been widened to include an investigation of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Complaints that hundreds of grocery orders issued by the commission, supposedly to the needy, have disappeared or are unaccounted for prompted this investigation, it was learned.

The county bureau of public welfare, which supervises the relief of the poor, exclusive of those who are needy because of unemployment, has also been under fire in complaints received by the federal men, it was reported.

A government auditor has been going over the books of both the civil works administration and the emergency relief commission during the last ten days, it was revealed.

Until recently, all complaints concerning the CWA and IERC in Chicago have been forwarded to Washington. Secretary of the Interior Ickes finally decided that an investigation in Chicago should be conducted on the ground because of the multiplicity of complaints, it was said, and sent on Sweeney and Moe with a staff of assistants.

Chairman R. J. Dunham of the CWA for Illinois yesterday issued a statement announcing that all reported irregularities on CWA projects which might involve criminal action will henceforth be handled by Investigator Moe, who will coöperate with the officials of the civil works administration.

"This arrangement was made in order that the CWA may be able to take advantage of the federal investigation machinery to the fullest possible extent," he declared. "The CWA does not have the authority or the facilities essential to the proper handling of criminal investigations in which violations of federal statutes are involved.

Moe to Handle Inquiries.

"Whenever the CWA obtains information indicating the possibility of criminal action, it will turn this data over to Mr. Moe.

"The CWA's authority does not extend to the assignment of persons to projects or to the solution of labor problems. Assignments are made through the U. S. Employment service. Labor problems are to be taken to Benjamin Marshman of the U. S. department of labor."

Renovation of the three seven story concrete buildings which house the headquarters of the Sixth Corps area at 1819 West Pershing road is being accomplished with CWA labor, it was revealed yesterday.

EIGHT SELECTED FOR JURY SERVICE IN HACKETT TRIAL

Eight jurors had been selected yesterday at the close of the day's hearing in Judge Thomas J. Lynch's court to try Frank B. Souder and Gail Swolley for the kidnaping of James Hackett, Blue Island gambler. A second panel of four jurors was added yesterday during the fourth day of questioning veniremen. An alibi defense was indicated yesterday as Defense Attorney James M. Burke questioned prospective jurors concerning possible prejudices against an alibi witness.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C.M.CO.

CITY TO HONOR PRESIDENT ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Will Raise Funds for His Favorite Charity.

Plans were completed yesterday for Chicago's celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday on Jan. 30, when the city will join the rest of the nation in honoring the President. There will be special meetings and benefit parties for the Warm Springs foundation for victims of infantile paralysis, at Warm Springs, Ga. It is the President's favorite charity.

School children, business and professional men's organizations, clubs, and the public generally will attend numerous functions during the day. This was announced yesterday by the executive committee of the city-wide celebration from its headquarters in the Hotel Sherman. At about 11 p. m. President Roosevelt is to speak over a nation-wide radio network to all the public meetings being held in his honor, according to Carter H. Harrison, chairman of the executive committee here.

Proceeds to Aid Charity.

The public meeting here will be at the Auditorium theater, where stage, screen, and opera stars will appear. Colors will be presented, and there will be a review of the nations in a pageant. The proceeds of the sale of tickets, ranging from $50 for box seats down to 50 cents in the gallery, will go to the Warm Springs foundation. Mrs. Ernest Graham is directing the sale of box seat tickets.

By a resolution adopted by the board of education school children will be instructed to pay special attention to the President's birthday. They will be encouraged to contribute pennies to the Warm Springs fund. A committee including James McCahey, president of the school board; William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, and Howard Savage, business manager of the school system, will make the plans for the school exercises.

Medical Groups to Meet.

Dr. Austin A. Hayden, president of the Chicago Medical society, and Dr. Karl Meyer of the Cook County hospital are to prepare data on infantile paralysis which will be used by the medical groups in meetings and in radio broadcasting. Among other organizations planning special meetings are the Chicago Federation of Labor, 35 Lions clubs in the city, the Archer Avenue Business Men's association, insurance groups, the American Legion, and the State Street council.

According to the committee, the hotels are coöperating in the President's birthday celebration and expect to make special cover charges, the proceeds of which will be contributed to the Warm Springs foundation.

Among the members of the executive committee are Mayor Kelly, Howard Gillette, Robert S. Carr, Karl Eitel, Mrs. Richard Folsom, Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, Mrs. George Bass, Charles Vopicka, Ernest Kruetgen, Ernest Byfield, and Dr. Hayden.

JAILS SLOT MACHINE THIEVES.

Joe Kubow, 21 years old, 650 North Morgan street, and Stanley Bojre, 20, of 1214 Ohio street, were sentenced to one year in the Bridewell and fined $1 each yesterday by Judge Alfred O. Erickson for the theft of a slot machine from a restaurant.

END HEARINGS ON '32 ASSESSMENT PROTESTS TODAY

The board of tax appeals will finish its hearings today on complaints against 1932 personal property assessments. The board received only 15,000 complaints this year, as compared to 36,000 against the 1931 assessments.

After the close of the hearings, employés of the board will have the revisions entered on the tax books, and the books will be forwarded by Monday to County Clerk Sweitzer for preparation of tax bills. At that time the board's staff will be able to give various local governments, for budget making purposes, the final official figure on the total of 1932 assessments in the county and other taxing districts.

Personal property tax bills must be paid by March 1, as must the first installment of 1932 real estate taxes.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday continued until Monday his hearing on the Chicago Real Estate board's petition that he grant a 15 per cent cut on building assessments for homes and small flat buildings for 1931.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $202,136, making a total of $100,519,899 collected since enforcement of the Korner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Jan. 11	$ 31,969	$ 33,508
Uncollected	18,662,619	42,801,299
	1930.	1931.
Jan. 11	$ 63,557	$ 72,382
Uncollected	66,172,977	65,292,065

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $7,787.

Awaiting Trial for Wife's Murder, Hangs Self in Cell

Walter J. Ziolkowski, 48 years old, who was awaiting trial for the murder of his wife, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself in the receiving room of the county jail. Ziolkowski had torn a sheet into shreds and hanged himself to the bars of a cell. Ziolkowski shot and killed his wife, Monica, 42 years old, in their delicatessen at 2125 South Lombard avenue, Cicero, on New Year's eve. The shooting climaxed a family quarrel.

COLDS Go Overnight

When You Take The Right Thing!

A cold doesn't have to run its course and expose you to serious complications. A cold can be routed overnight if you go about it the right way. First of all, a cold being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. Secondly, a cold calls for a COLD remedy and not for a "cure-all."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and beware of dealers who offer substitutes.

GUARDING YOUR FUEL SUPPLY

TWENTY sharp-eyed detectives, posted at strategic spots around the city guard the quality of your gas supply

They are keener than any detective of fiction. They work with scientific, machine-like precision, and with good reason. They are testing machines.

They are always on the job testing the gas taken from supply mains at a score of different places, burning the gas, measuring the heat it develops to make sure it conforms to rigid standards of heat content, and recording the measurements, twenty-four hours a day.

In the language of the laboratory, they are calorimeters. They are part of the equipment of the research and testing department of The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, safeguarding the quality of the fuel which is used in 796,000 Chicago homes.

GAS HEAT ends furnace worries forever

To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we install it at our expense—remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

WHY put up with the nuisance of furnace tending any longer? Let us install carefree, automatic gas heat in your home.

With gas heat you say goodbye to back-breaking coal shoveling, dirty hours of ash shaking and hauling, early morning fire tending, anxious hours of waiting, and everlasting furnace watching. Gas heat is clean. Walls and drapes stay clean—no basement dirt is tracked upstairs. You never have to go down stairs to even look at the furnace. A fingertip is your fireman when you heat with gas.

All homes can now afford it

Get the enjoyment and luxury of automatic gas heat. Correct, even temperature day and night. It's easy to have. New low rates and our no-risk offer makes gas heat available for every home—even the most modest. Rates for gas heating are now one-half of what they were in the 1930-31 heating season.

Here is our offer. At absolutely no cost to you we'll install it in your present furnace or boiler. You try it one month, two months, or a year. If within the first year you decide that you don't like it—and you are the sole judge—just order it out. Our it comes and your former heating equipment is replaced in good workmanlike order.

While you are trying gas heat you pay only $3 a month rental on the equipment in the average home. This charge is sent along with your bill for the gas you use. But if you should decide, as we think you will, that you cannot do without the luxury of gas heat, the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied, it stays. If not—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed—AT OUR EXPENSE. We make this offer because of our confidence in the perfection of gas heat.

Scotch Plaids Fashionable for Youngest Set

Skirts and Blouses Popular Child Ensembles.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The loot from Scotland is now complete. . . . Your young cherubs of either distraction can be wrapped in gay Scotch plaids that will positively make you dizzy. There are cunning Scotch kilted skirts for little sisters from two to six. They are buttoned on a cream sateen top . . . skirts that are mere scraps that can also be worn with dotted Swiss blouses, or knockout small plaid sweaters of the same plaid as the skirt, for the ensemble idea is going strong among the youngest set!

You can swank your own plaid or any of three eye-filling combinations—the Stuart plaid, Red Frazier plaid, or the prince of Wales' own particular combine. The sweaters to match are things of blazing glory. Any small lad could start a career of heart-breaking equal to bonnie Prince Charlie's with one of these colorful wool sweaters pulled over his head. Sweaters matched to very small and tailored trousers complete the masculine ensemble. . . . Until you have seen these fetching and exhilarating new shipments of imported Scotch you have seen nothing!

Absurdly small and very decorative Scotch Glengarry bonnets, made of inky black velvet with a cocky little scarlet feather at the side and two long black streamers at the back, are just what you will want to finish these ensembles, and both small brother and sister will gladly wear them.

If you have been looking for something dashing, something different, and something practical, colorful, and eye catching, these are the newest things you can buy for your young and growing progeny. You'll really have to see them to appreciate their Scottish charm.

School Pupils Who Attend Art Lectures Will Hold Exhibition

Youthful artists recruited from the 1,500 grade and high school pupils who attend the lectures for children given every fall at the Art institute are to have an art exhibit of their own.

Pupils are permitted to present drawings done at home for grading at the lectures. Those who show promise are given sketching lessons by Dudley Crafts Watson and George Buehr of the institute staff. Mr. Watson and Mr. Buehr will pick the best drawings of the group on Jan. 25, which will be hung in Blackstone hall at the institute until Feb. 15.

Score—Quotes—Fame—Song—Acceptance—Sight—Sample.

IT was in a Wabash avenue music store. The fussy gentleman in the music score department insisted that the score he wanted had something to do with Marie Antoinette, although he couldn't remember the name of the piece. Finally Thomas A. Snyder, musical p. a., who was standing at the nearby counter, stepped up and suggested that maybe the irate customer was looking for the score of "Let 'em Eat Cake." He was, bought it, and departed forthwith.

* *

STRANGELY enough, although she has stood the rap for it all these years, it was not Marie Antoinette who made the careless statement that lived in history. It was some one standing near her, according to one historian at least. And you probably recall that it wasn't Gen. Pershing who said, "Lafayette, we are here," on that momentous occasion during the world war. It was, you may remember, a colonel in the quartermaster corps.

SUCH-IS-FAME department. Mary Pickford has been America's Sweetheart for years, without a rival for the title. Yet the other day when a woman passenger on a street car saw the crowd awaiting the opening of the doors of the Chicago theater, where Miss Pickford is playing, she commented:

"My goodness! Seeing all those people makes you think that tan dancer is back again!"

JOHN H. CONWAYERS says he came out into the foyer of the Chicago Civic Opera house the other night still transported by the poignancy and charm of Puccini and the delicacy and beauty of Diano's Mimi. And the young thing in an ermine wrap just ahead of him was humming:

"J' Ever See a Dream Walking."

* *

A POSTCARD bulletineer complains that he heard the same song, also "It's Only a Paper Moon" six times in one evening, sung all the way from bass to tenor, from contralto to soprano.

IT was in the neckwear section. A sign on the neckwear counter read "Sample Neckwear." A woman with a small boy by the hand passed by the counter and the child tugged arrestingly at her hand.

"Look, ma. Sample neckwear. Take one," he urged.

Harty Again Displays His Skill as Interpreter of Symphonies

BY EDWARD MOORE.

During the vacation of Frederick Stock, Sir Hamilton Harty is continuing as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The second program of his choice appeared last night and will be repeated this afternoon, a quite different and quite less dramatic list of music from that with which he introduced himself on Tuesday afternoon.

There can be no argument, at least with the music department of this newspaper, that Sir Hamilton is a great interpreter, a highly expert conductor, and a showman beyond compare in the interpretation of an orchestral concert. In these matters he has proved himself so conclusively that a discussion thereof would seem to be little else but a waste of time. At the same time a doubt began to creep in last night as to whether he would not be the better if some one else selected his programs, leaving to him the duty of conducting them.

For, while this is more or less of a personal opinion, his admiration for Sibelius, though shared with plenty of other conductors this year, is not altogether explicable. I do not believe that Sibelius' Second Symphony, billed on the position of honor last night, is quite up to Schubert's Tenth, played last Tuesday. My further belief amounts to a conviction that Frederick Delius' "The Walk to the Paradise Garden" from the opera, "A Village Romeo and Juliet," is by no means as entertaining as Sir Hamilton's own, "The Wild Geese."

And omitting for the present any consideration of the naive innocences of Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik," one can turn to the final number on last night's program, Sir Charles Villiers Stanford's "Irish Rhapsody," and remember that Victor Herbert, unfortunately deceased, as is Sir Charles, once dealt with the same sort of subject, and came out with something considerably more brilliant and more attractive.

But differences about programs are matters of opinion. The interpretations thereof are matters of fact. Sir Hamilton Harty is an interpreter of the first rank. He has an unfailing instinct for the line of melody, and an unfailing ability to make his instinct that of the orchestral artists under his baton. One of them said to me, "He tells what he wants with his stick. He does not have to stop and say what he wants in words." That is the mark of the real conductor.

Sergei and Marie Radamsky, two young artists who for the last half dozen years have been singing through the soviets, are appearing in a single recital at the Kedzie theater tonight. Under the sponsorship of the Chicago central office of the "Icor," they will present a cross section of Russian music of today, partly from the classic répertoire, but to a large extent from the numbers that they have collected in travels through Russia.

Ethel Barrymore Sails to Play on London Stage

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Ethel Barrymore sailed today aboard the Aquitania for England, where she will appear in London in Sir James Barrie's "The Twelve Pound Look."

High Standard Makes Art of Junior League

Judges Make Awards at Successful Show.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

I'm sure the judges, Mrs. Clay Judson [Sylvia Shaw], sculptor; Ambrose C. Cramer, architect, and David F. Leavitt, mural painter, must have been sorry there weren't enough blue and red ribbons to go around yesterday morning when they selected the prize winners in the Junior league's annual exhibition of fine arts, for everything in the exhibit was so good.

But unfortunately there were only the two ribbons in each class, so the judges had to make selections—and very wise ones they made, too, in the opinion of most of those who were at the Casino later when the exhibit was open to the league members and their friends.

"I wish the league would choose as judges people who do not know a single league member," remarked one feminine member of the huge assemblage, and promptly every one within hearing told her that the names were hidden when the judging was being done, so there can be no question of favoritism.

Miss Veronese Beatty was the only sculptor represented, but this wasn't the reason she received the blue ribbon in the sculpture class, for her Madonna really was enchanting. Her other exhibits, a bas relief called "Women of Troy," a head of Miss Frances Weary, and a fountain piece also were good, but the Madonna was the best, every one agreed.

Madeleine Maher Wins Oils Prize.

No one questioned the awarding of the blue ribbon in oils to Madeleine Maher's [Mrs. Philip] portrait of her young son either, for it was a charming picture of a handsome little boy. Mrs. Frederic C. Bartlett Jr.'s "Cyclamen" was given the red ribbon in this class.

"New Hampshire, Autumn" was the title of the colorful water color that gained a blue ribbon for Isabelle Lindsay [Mrs. Charles R. III.], and "Bedding Sunning in Sorrento" was the subject of Miss Cynthia Wilson's charming study which was awarded the red ribbon in this class.

Marie Louise Pritchard [Mrs. Norman] was the only photographer represented, but that again was not the reason she won first prize, for she is an artist of the first class in the art of photography. "Just Water" she called the prize winning picture, and although it was a delicate, exquisite thing, it really didn't attract the attention and admiration that "Little Adam" did. That portrayed the fat baby son of the junior Bartletts sitting on a bed clad as the first Adam was before Eve tasted of the apple. Mrs. Pritchard's portrait of Mrs. Nathaniel Owings was greatly admired, too.

Helen Clement's [Mrs. Franklin] crayon drawing of a Negro's head was given the blue ribbon, and a drawing of Miss Betsey Needham's was awarded the red ribbon in this class.

Miss Borland Gets Needlepoint Ribbon.

Miss Harriet Borland carried home with her last evening when the exhibit closed at 7 o'clock a blue ribbon pinned to a bench that she had made and exhibited in the needlepoint class, and Claire McBride [Mrs. Paul] took home with her a red ribbon pinned to the slippers she had embroidered.

These were the prize winners, and among the other exhibitors were Miss Margaret Sinclair and Miss Margaret Quan, who are needlepoint experts; Miss Katherine Daniels, Mrs. Dorothy Gardner, Buell Mullen [Mrs. James], Sarah Hodges [Mrs. Duncan], Isabelle H. Satterthwaite, who, by the way, received honorable mention for a portrait of her little son; Ruth Holloway, Mrs. Oliver F. Kline, Lena Gilbert [Mrs. Huntly H.], Miss Marguerite Foster, and Miss Betty Ashcraft.

The exhibit opened at 11 in the morning and it was crowded all during the hours it was open, but the largest crowd was there after 3 in the afternoon, of course, to hear Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer [Mary Meeker] talk about "A Little Bit of Sweden" and to enjoy smorgasbord and hot Swedish punch later. Presiding at the tea and coffee urns and the punch barrel were Mrs. Pritchard, Mrs. Robert M. Adams, and Miss Adelaide Atkin, dressed in fetching Swedish costumes.

Mrs. Cramer changed into a similar costume after her talk, but for that she wore her own smart beige gown with a sheaf of gardenias around the neck, and a most becoming halo hat. She kept her audience—it filled to overflowing the ballroom of the club—on mental tiptoe all during her amusing and instructive narrative, and the lantern slides shown by Mr. Cramer were delightful.

The pictures, of country chateaux, canal boats, and various other things encountered by the Cramers on their trip last summer, all seemed to lead up to the pièce de résistance of the lot, a picture of the state building in Stockholm, such a gem of architecture that the Swedish government had to pay the architect an annuity to keep him from starving because none dared commission him to do such a trifling thing as a residence or an office building after he had achieved anything so perfect as the state building. There will be many more Chicagoans than ever before vacationing in Sweden next summer as a result of Mrs. Cramer's talk, I'm sure.

To list those who were there would be to make a list of all the league members, present and past, and their mothers and friends, for "every one" was there, including many men.

A Shock! Dolls in Beery's Dressing Room

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—A party of visitors from Bloomington and Peoria, Ill., today got the surprise of a lifetime on the set of "Viva Villa" at MGM when their guide from one of the studio offices led them on one of the portable dressing rooms for a peek inside.

"This is Wallace Beery's dressing room," they were told.

They looked in, and then looked at each other in disbelief.

The dressing room was full of chains of paper dolls. The dollies were all over the chairs, the rug, and the table.

The guide, to whom movie sets were a humdrum and routine matter, had not looked into the dressing room, and consequently he didn't explain.

The lowdown is, however, that Wally, the scowling, swaggering, beetling, mustachioed guy of the film story, had been entertaining his 3 year old daughter, Carol Ann, on the set, and Carol Ann had cut the dollies and then decided she wanted to leave the dressing room and go somewhere for a drink of water.

She also walked in front of the camera one day this week, spoiling a scene, but as it was the first time the little girl ever committed such a scandalous act, and because she is a great favorite with everybody on the set, all was forgiven and she's still visiting Papa Wally whenever he has time to see her between shots.

The Warner studio, after trying ever so hard for three weeks, obtained a group photo of all the scrapping and temperamental principals in "Wonder Bar." Today, when the photo came through, it showed all five scowling, and the studio ordered the photograph destroyed before a copy could leak out and show Jolson, Del Rio, Cortez, Kay Francis and Dick Powell all in an acute appearance of distaste.

Warners will soon remake "Beau Brummel," silent vehicle which brought John Barrymore back to the screen ten years ago to start his present tenure as a movie star. There is rivalry between Bill Powell and Warren William to take the old Barrymore part. Powell may remember that it was two stories that he declined to make, "Mouthpiece" and "Dark Hour," which started William to stardom.

Dixie Lee [Mrs. Bing Crosby] may get the lead in "Melody in Spring" opposite Lanny Ross, in which case she may be playing with her husband's rival radio crooner in a rival story on the same film lot as Bing.

The pair are the most amiable and mutually appreciative of rivals, it ought to be noted. In fact, no rivalry exists as far as Bing and Lanny are concerned.

Lionel Barrymore was asked to name the ten most interesting people in pictures. Here is what he said: "It would be impossible to name ten uninteresting people in the whole world if you know people."

At the first ball [$27.50 per ticket and tail coats] of the new Screen Actors' Guild, to be held in the Biltmore hotel here Saturday, Russ Colombo, Bing Crosby, John Boles and Eddie Cantor will sing, each giving one verse of a song written for the occasion. Cantor's voice will be brought over wire from New York.

Alumnae Will Hear School Essay of 1866

Dearborn Seminary Club to Meet Wednesday.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of the Dearborn Seminary Alumnae association are going to hear a graduation essay that was prepared way back in 1866 at their 53d annual meeting next Wednesday. Lizzie Hoyne wrote the essay then and read it at the exercises which marked her graduation from the old seminary, the only school she ever attended, and now as Mrs. Clifford Williams and the oldest member of the alumnae association [she is 85, but is as active as the average woman of 60] she will read it again to those who also received all or part of their education at the old school which no longer exists except in the memories and hearts of those who attended it.

The annual meetings always are held on Jan. 17 because that is the birthday of the founder and first principal, Zuinglius Grover. Nothing but ill health or absence from the city prevents any member of the association from attending a meeting, and usually if some one is away she sends her greetings to her old schoolmates by letter or wire, just as Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson always does, whatever part of the world she is in on Jan. 17. This winter she is at Chandler, Ariz.

The meeting next week will be in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone with a business meeting at 11 o'clock and luncheon at 12:30, after which Mrs. Williams will read her essay. Then Mrs. Alexander Hodgart, elected president of the association at last year's meeting just after she had returned from her third trip around the world, will give an illustrated talk entitled "Alone in the South Seas." Last year the highlight of the program was the reading by Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw of a story written when she was a "sweet girl graduate" in 1888.

A few of the other well known Chicago women who learned their three Rs at the old school which first was at Wabash avenue and Washington street and then was moved after the great fire to the Follansbee mansion at Wabash avenue and 22d street are Mrs. Ferdinand Peck, Mrs. Charles S. Williamson, Mrs. Charles H. ReQua, Mrs. John E. Jenkins, Mrs. Walter E. Faithorn, Mrs. William G. Sage, Mrs. John G. McDonald, Miss Helen Drake, Mrs. Henry A. Blair, Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell, Miss Carrie Blair Neely and Mrs. Arthur M. Acton.

Herma Clark to Talk on Old Stage Favorites.

Winter would be incomplete without one of Herma Clark's illustrated stories of the past to delight those whose memories hark back to the Victorian days and beyond. On Sunday afternoon. . . . Jan. 28, at the Drake hotel . . . Miss Clark will give "Footlight Favorites of Yesterday," replete with stereopticon slides as the third in a series that has presented "The Gay Nineties" and "The Elegant Eighties" in former years.

This lecture will include in word and picture such bygone stage stars as Irving, Terry, Mary Anderson, Sol Smith Russell, and Lily Langtry. Many of the pictures which have just

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

SYNOPSIS.

Bruce Pomeroy, brought up in poverty, befriended a Russian, Boris Orleneff. In return Orleneff, before his death, left Pomeroy an invention, which is about to make Pomeroy a millionaire. Orleneff stipulated that his brother's family, whom he considered parasites, were not to get a cent from the invention. While walking through New York's Central park one winter's morning Pomeroy is kidnaped and taken to a small island off the coast of Maine, where he is made a prisoner in a luxurious home, but kept on a starvation diet. His captor is Boris Orleneff, nephew of the inventor. Boris' cousins, Cyril and Olga Norrikoff, assisted in the abduction. They want Pomeroy to make a settlement. He refuses. Pomeroy is allowed to join the family circle. He manages to elude his guard. Grateful, but a raging storm makes escape impossible. Olga Norrikoff tells Pomeroy they are all starving. That the house was lent to them for the winter. Boris and Cyril hadn't been able to get work. Pomeroy arranges through Grateful to get food supplies from Andy Mason, the caretaker. He has fallen in love with Irma Orleneff, Boris' sister. Cyril's mother dies and his father commits suicide. Cyril had left before the tragedy in a leaky boat to get help from the mainland. Meanwhile, in New York, Herbert Schuyler, a witness to Pomeroy's abduction, comes forward. He traces the license number of the car that was used. It is owned by two brothers in Maine, of good reputation. Schuyler goes to Maine to see them. Pomeroy has put up a signal of distress on the island, which has been sighted. The Bradleys and Schuyler sail to the rescue. Other business associates of Pomeroy's follow.

INSTALLMENT XLVII.

A NIGHTMARE ENDED.

Another ring of the doorbell was followed by another bustle, and the imperious voice of Marcus Vanderhoof raised in command. The steps of Marcus Vanderhoof strode along the hall, and the portly presence of Mr. Vanderhoof himself surged into the library like a wave.

"Well," he boomed as Pomeroy hurried to greet him, "this is a nice state of affairs! Taking your ease on an island while your friends are half crazy. I meant to send Johnson after you alone, but I got so worried I came, too. Besides, I had nothing on, this week-end."

The men shook hands and Pomeroy introduced Vanderhoof and Johnson to Orleneff and briefly repeated his explanation.

"No boat, to telephone, no radio!" Mr. Vanderhoof barked. "By God, I didn't think there was such a spot on the continent."

His face sobered when he learned of the recent deaths and disappearance. Also, his temper improved perceptibly. There was real rescue work to be done here.

"You've been having a devil of a time, my boy," he commented, and threw an affectionate arm over his young friend's shoulder.

"Merger all right?" he brought out in a low voice.

"No three men were ever more welcome or more needed than you and Mr. Schuyler and Mr. Johnson," Pomeroy soberly agreed. "I've got a lot to tell you a little later on!" Vanderhoof, of course, must know the whole truth as soon as they were alone.

"If you will take Orleneff and me to the mainland when you go back," he went on, "we can start a search for Norrikoff. Perhaps Mr. Schuyler will go back with us in your boat, and we can send the bodies of the General and Madame Norrikoff over in the Bradley boat. You three can go back to New York tonight, if you have to. Not that I want to be inhospitable," he grinned. "But of course I'll stay over and go down with the family tomorrow night. By George, it was good of you fellows to look me up," he went on heartily. "I'm so excited I haven't half thanked you. But you can be sure I'll never forget this."

These details over he put the question he hardly dared to ask.

"Merger all right?" he brought out in a low voice.

"O. K. Only waiting for you to get back."

"How about Lansing?"

Vanderhoof laughed. His plump face took on the look of a mischievous schoolboy's.

"He's been spinning like a top ever since you left—but I haven't let him spin out of sight!"

Pomeroy pressed his arm.

"I won't forget that, either."

Irma and Grateful entered the room, Grateful bearing a tray of hot coffee and hot toast.

"The Bradleys an' Daniels is havin' theirs wit' me in the kitchen," he explained and hurried away, leaving Irma to attend to the service in the library. The newcomers threw off their oilskins and settled down in big chairs before the fire. Orleneff slipped away unseen. Vanderhoof drank coffee and munched toast contentedly.

"You haven't got much on the mainland at that," he explained. "This storm has been the worst in twenty years. The damage right along the coast has wiped out millions. Light ships have been dragged from their moorings. The surf has battered down sea walls and destroyed a lot of cottages. And if you imagine we had a pleasant trip out to this island, young man—" he ended with deep feeling.

Schuyler groaned and turned the groan into a laugh.

"I'd almost rather spend the rest of the winter on the island than go back," he confessed.

"No, you wouldn't, Mr. Schuyler—not if you had tried the island."

It was almost Irma's first remark, aside from her words of conventional greeting. Her tone made the newcomers look at her quickly.

"She's just about all in," Bruce explained in a low voice, and added, "We've been through a good deal of a nightmare here."

The visitors brought out cigars and cigarets and the men smoked and talked, drawing Irma into their conversation when they could and getting a new sense of the nightmare of those days from the look in her eyes. Grateful came in with more coffee and hot toast. His round face shone. Pomeroy drew him aside and ordered him to have the Norrikoff bodies put into the Bradley boat.

"All this is very nice," Mr. Vanderhoof said at last with a sigh of repletion, "but we've got to be starting back. It's a hell of a trip, boy. It's going to take me a long time to get over it."

"And me," Schuyler agreed, turning pale at the prospect.

"I'm awfully sorry, but you can see for yourselves that the need was great. If you will excuse me I'll get ready, and get Orleneff to go with us." Pomeroy jumped to his feet. "By the way, Mr. Vanderhoof," he added anxiously, "did you bring any extra money with you?"

"A few hundred. How much do you want?"

"A couple of hundred, if you can spare it. I could get a check cashed at the harbor, if it wasn't Sunday. Orleneff hasn't much ready money with him. All this was so terribly unexpected."

The financier handed over an impressive roll, and getting up shrugged into his overcoat and slicker. Pomeroy took the stairs three steps at a time and found Orleneff roaming around the upper hall.

"Mother's still asleep, thank God," he explained, "and Olga has locked herself in her room."

"Good Lord, you don't think—"

"No. Nothing like it. Olga's not that sort."

"How's this for the program?" Pomeroy asked. "You and I go over to the mainland now with my friends, and send the bodies in the extra motor boat. We'll get a party started out right away to look for Cyril, and then we'll interview the undertaker. I think he can do everything tomorrow, so that we can take the evening train, with the bodies, for New York. Is that satisfactory?"

"Of course. But oughtn't some one to stay here, in case Cyril—"

"Do you think there's one chance in a million?"

"No."

"Neither do I. Even the search is only a gesture, but of course we've got to make it. If nothing is heard or found by tomorrow night we'll leave Owen Bradley in charge and have the search continued. But we needn't stay here, unless you want to. I'm quite sure we'll have something definite by tomorrow night, and that it will not be good news. You can make a quick trip back, if it becomes necessary."

"I guess you're right. Grateful has just told me the fellows in the kitchen report wreckage from some motor boat. It was nothing they recognized as ours—but still—"

Orleneff went off to explain to Olga, and Pomeroy, hat and coat on, sought Grateful in the kitchen. The other men had returned to the boats. Pomeroy mentioned his plans briefly and added, "You're coming over with us now to get provisions for tonight and tomorrow. Plenty of 'em—chicken, green vegetables, fruit, all that sort of thing. Enough for a big dinner tonight and three good meals tomorrow. The family won't realize how much food helps, but it does."

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN BEER AND ALE VEXES MANY; HERE'S ANSWER

Now that repeal has settled down snugly in our midst, the new generation is asking a lot of questions, frequently to the embarrassment of oldsters whose memories sometimes are overtaxed.

One of the things they want to learn is wherein lies the difference between beer and ale. Both apparently are made with the same materials, and it seems like a fair question.

The answer is that they're almost as dissimilar as day and night. Different processes entirely are used; entirely different yeasts are employed. Brewers of ale will not even allow ale and beer tanks in the same cellar. Ale is brewed from the surface, beer from the bottom of the vat.

During prohibition many breweries made a temperance beverage containing less than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol, and they used the pre-prohibition vats and tanks for this purpose. But the ale cellars remained sealed all through the arid days.

SAGE HIGHLY ESTEEMED SINCE TIME OF ROMANS

The Romans held sage in high esteem for its medicinal values. One famous Roman physician asked the question, "Why should a man die while he has sage in the garden?"

Long ago the Dutch began the custom of drying sage leaves to be used as tea. The Chinese are said to have expressed their astonishment that the Dutch traders should come to them for tea when they had sage which was so superior. Consequently, the clever Dutchmen were able to obtain four pounds of tea for each pound of sage.

'OLD JARS CLASS' IS FEATURE OF CANNING SHOW

1874 Pears Take First; Notables Enter.

A unique feature of the recent International Canning Contest was the Old Jars Class. Almost three hundred jars were entered in this class. The first prize was given for a jar of pears which was canned in 1874. It was in perfect condition and had the original cap on it, exactly as it was canned 59 years ago. The pears were perfect and were in the brown sirup characteristic of the period. Second prize was given for a jar of cherries 57 years old and perfect.

Another class was the Celebrated Personalities Class, which was entered only by those who received invitations to do so. Amos 'n' Andy sent in not dogs and hamburgers; Ben Bernie entered a jar of home cooked wieners and also what he considered a Century of Progress balanced meal. The meal consisted of popcorn, hot dogs, hamburgers, beer, and a jar of jelly in which was placed a perfect fan dancer.

Mary McCormic, operatic star, received a silver bud vase for a jar of peaches which she herself canned. Buddy Rogers preserved peaches and prunes and Ole Olsen and Chic Johnson sent in a cooperatively owned jar of pickles.

Household Hints

Running a piece of sapolio through the food grinder is one way to sharpen the grinder.

Dried fruits such as dates, figs, raisins, or currants used in cooked breakfast cereals, muffins, cakes, cookies, and steamed breads add valuable minerals in the winter menu.

In poultry, the dark meat contains twice as much iron as the light meat.

FRUIT COMPOTE IS COMING BACK TO POPULARITY

Fruit compotes are increasing in popularity. During the winter months prunes, figs, apricots, and other dried fruits may be combined. To prepare them properly a sirup of sugar and water should be made. The amount of sugar will depend on the tartness of the fruit used. The fruit should be placed in this sirup and cooked slowly until it is tender. Simmering is best, since care should be taken that the fruit is not broken or mashed. Fresh fruits in season may be prepared in the same way. Various seasonings may be added to the fruit, such as clove, lemon peel, or vanilla.

All over the country girls are turning to Hollywood's complexion care—proving that it really does bring a thrilling new beauty to the skin.

Actually 9 out of 10 Hollywood stars use fragrant, white Lux Toilet Soap. And, of course, theirs are the loveliest complexions in the world!

Get some Lux Toilet Soap today. Begin at once to win new loveliness!

Precious Elements in this Soap—scientists say

"Tests show Lux Toilet Soap contains precious elements Nature puts in skin to keep it youthful," scientists explain. "Skin gradually loses these elements—grows old-looking. This soap checks the loss of these elements from the skin. Readily soluble, completely free from harshness, it is a remarkable aid to complexion beauty."

SHOPPERS FIND MANY FOODS ON BARGAIN LIST

Meats and Vegetables at Special Prices.

BY PAUL POTTER.

After nearly a week during which their supply of bottled fresh milk has been limited by the farmers' strike, Chicago housewives this morning can count on a full supply at the doorstep or in the store. The prospects are that when the strike arbitration is settled, the price will be reduced from the present figure of 11 cents a quart.

The milk industry of Chicago has learned that the consumers hold that the price of 11 cents for a quart of milk is too high, but the expected reduction of 1 and possibly 2 cents a quart in the retail price will be tended by the assurance that the milk will be of good quality. The lower price is expected to bring increased consumption.

Items on Bargain List.

Changes in the prices of fresh fruits and vegetables, meats, and staple items in the last few days make it possible for the careful shopper to find attractive bargains for the week-end menus. Oranges, potatoes, onions, many meat cuts, cauliflower, strawberries, tomatoes, spinach, and many canned goods are to be found among the bargains.

For several days there was a shortage of oranges, especially the smaller sizes, in the Chicago market. This was due to curtailment of shipments of the smaller oranges from the southern states in which all growers are licensed by the government in order to restrict shipments. The object is to obtain at least production cost and retain low price culls.

The smaller oranges had been selling at unusually low prices in Chicago and in other markets. The supply was almost shut off and prices rose, but two days ago sufficient of the small size oranges were again coming to the Chicago market to lower the wholesale and retail price for today's shoppers.

Meat Prices Decreased.

Included in the new meat bargains as contrasted to prices of a week or fortnight ago, are such items as fresh ham and spareribs. The price of bacon also has been decreased somewhat. Fresh pork roasts and the large roasts of beef continue to be bargains, and leg of lamb is moderately priced in many meat markets.

White potatoes for boiling and baking, while they are attractively priced now, continue their upward price trend, due to the fact that a crop smaller than normal was harvested in the northern producing areas last fall.

The broad leafed spinach is not as plentiful in Chicago as in normal winter seasons. The curly leafed Savoy type, preferred on other markets, but not in Chicago, is lower in price and is considered easier to get to the table in a fresh condition. The complaint of Chicago housewives, salesmen explain, is that the curly leafed type is harder to wash and prepare than the broad leafed spinach.

Larger shipments of strawberries are arriving from Florida and this fact, coupled with the beginning of the harvest in Mississippi, has caused prices this week-end to be several cents a pint lower than they were two weeks ago.

Many bargains in canned foods also entice buyers. Special prices are listed for such items as tomato juice, canned fruits, pork and beans, fruit juices, pickles, and preserves. Sausage meat in pound cartons is a breakfast or luncheon item that combines with other bargains in various cereals, pancake flours, and sirups.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

The frequently used kitchen utensil is much easier to find when it hangs on the wall than when it lies on a shelf or in a drawer among other utensils. If it has no hook to hang by, a screweye from the five and ten is easy to attach.

QUICK FROZEN FOODS ARE NEW AND PRACTICAL

Fresh Eatables Submit to Preservation.

BY MARY MEADE.

I've just finished a week of adventuring with a dozen of the most delicious foods I believe it has ever been my good fortune to nibble on questioningly and then eat up joyously. And, while I'm still all a-tither with enthusiasm, I want to pass on the glad, good news.

The hero of the tale is the new quick-frozen foods which first came on the market three years ago, took New York merchants and housewives by surprise in 1931, and have only just now made their debut in Chicago. You've probably known about frozen foods a good many years. And you may not have found them entirely satisfactory. One explanation for that lies in the fact that until these last few years only the slow methods of freezing were used. This process allowed large ice crystals to form from the water in foods, rupturing the cell walls and injuring the texture of the foods, as well as later releasing much of the precious juices into the cooking water and leaving the to-be-eaten a pretty poor excuse for its original sound freshness.

Full of Flavor.

But, thanks to a scientist and inventor, those are all things we can now forget about. Fruits and vegetables which are frosted by the new quick-freezing method are harvested when at the height of their ripeness and are full of flavor. At the place of harvesting they are cleaned and prepared for the cooking kettle, then packed neatly into sturdy waxed cartons, completely sealed, and passed into a frigid tunnel, where the temperature shivers down to 50 degrees below zero! There they proceed to freeze at the rate of an "inch per hour." That is, if a carton is one inch thick it's frozen from both sides at once and comes out of the tunnel in one hour a hard, solid brick.

Then what happens? These quick-frozen foods are never allowed to thaw in the slightest degree until delivered to the home kitchen. They're housed, shipped, and kept at the store where you buy them all at subzero temperature. No preservatives are ever used. The 50 below does the job to perfection. Also the freezing takes place with such speed that the structure of the food is uninjured and, folks, it's almost unbelievable until you try it yourself, but the flavor, "feel," bouquet, and every bit of even the appearance of freshest of fresh food is there when you open the frozen package and turn out the peas, spinach, lamb roast, or what-have-you, ready to cook.

Come in Small Packages.

It's interesting to know that these quick-frozen foods come in small, family sized packages, cook in less time than usual because the cellulose structure of the foods has been ever so slightly broken, take only three hours to defrost at room temperature, and four to five hours for the job in the refrigerator and, lastly, that if you are in a hustle it's wholly unnecessary to defrost them at all before cooking. Simply slip the solid cake of frozen food out of the box, drop it into boiling (usually salted) water, and as soon as it has again come to boiling, a matter of two minutes, count the cooking minutes. Most vegetables cook to perfection in from five to ten minutes.

Now what's to be had among these modern new foods? Among the fruits there are blackberries, blueberries, cherries, cranberries, raspberries, rhubarb, and whole or sliced strawberries. Vegetables include asparagus, green and wax beans, broccoli, cauliflower, corn on or off the cob, lima beans, peas, spinach, and squash. In the fish line we have our choice of cod, halibut, sole, haddock, salmon, or mackerel fillets. Also there are swordfish steaks, clams, oysters, and lobster meats. Poultry and game meats include chickens for broiling, boiling, frying, and roasting; also turkeys, rabbit meat, and ducklings. Among other meats are leg of lamb roast, rib roast of beef, lamb chops, sirloin steak, calves' liver, veal cutlets, sausage links, and ham.

Are Comparatively Reasonable.

So far, splendid! And now what of the price? In the main each package is designed to hold enough for five or six medium servings, with the majority of the packages of fruits and vegetables ranging from 20 to 30 cents a package. This gives us each serving for 3 to 5 cents per person. Other foods are comparatively reasonable. In figuring out whether these foods will be valuable to your families, of course, it's to be considered that such frozen foods are 100 per cent usable and that we pay for just what we eat. You will find many times, when a vegetable or fruit is "in season," that it may be bought more cheaply fresh at the markets. The quality may not be so good, it will take a bit of extra work to prepare it, but if pennies are crucially important at these times a little may be saved by buying market fresh foods. However, if time is important and if we hunger now and again for fresh foods which have sailed in price because they've grown out of season, then the glory and the saving will be ours if we look to the grocer's cold box and the new frozen foods.

At present these foods are found only at a centrally located wholesale house in the city, which also sells the articles retail and will deliver, but it is hoped that within a very few months they will be more generally available.

KEEP ON HAND SIRUP TO MAKE HOT CHOCOLATE

Nourishing, Convenient in Winter.

Skating, skiing, sliding, or even just playing in the snow engenders hearty appetites in young people, and redoubles the demand for mid-afternoon "eats." Something hot, nourishing, and light is needed to meet this need, and hot chocolate admirably fulfills the requirements.

If a supply of chocolate sirup is made and kept on hand, hot chocolate may be produced at a moment's notice by the addition of milk.

2½ cups [1¼ pounds] of sugar.
2 cups [½ pound] of cocoa, or 8 squares [½ pound] of chocolate.
8 cups of water.
¼ teaspoon salt.
Vanilla if desired.

Mix thoroughly the cocoa or chocolate and sugar. If chocolate is used, grate or shave it before mixing with the sugar. Add the boiling water, stirring thoroughly, and cook in a double boiler for two hours, stirring occasionally.

The sirup may be kept in glass jars. Two tablespoons of sirup to one cup of milk constitutes a good adult proportion; for small children only half this amount of sirup should be used.

Float a marshmallow in each cup of chocolate, and serve with salted soda crackers or whole wheat crackers, suggests the New York state college of home economics.

A FEAST OF FISH FLAVOR UNKNOWN TO MOST PEOPLE

JANE: "How do you get such delicious deep-sea taste in your fish, Mary?"
MARY: "Why that's the taste you get when you cook fish right out of the water."
JANE: "I suppose we land-lubbers don't know anything about the fresh-caught taste of fish."
MARY: "We certainly don't. You can't tell how fish is going to taste until you buy it, unless you know how old it is. Even your dealer doesn't know that."
JANE: "And old fish has little or no taste."
MARY: "That's it. But I found out that if I bought 40-Fathom Fish it always had that fresh-caught, deep-sea flavor that you get at the sea-shore. For 40-Fathom Fish fairly fly from deep sea nets to your dealer."

Ask your dealer for 40-Fathom Fish by name. If fish in no wrapper or fish in some other wrapper is offered you as 40-Fathom Fish, don't buy it, for it is not 40-Fathom Fish. Get 40-Fathom Fish in the 40-Fathom wrapper with the name and old fisherman on the wrapper, or don't take it.

Healthy ... Happy ... Wise!

COUNT on your fingers those friends of yours who get a lot of happiness out of living. Health helps them see the bright side of things—smooths over the everyday bumps. They're happy because they're healthy.

Downcast days frequently follow common constipation. It may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet it can be overcome usually by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity.

ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Special processes of cooking and flavoring make Kellogg's ALL-BRAN more palatable than ordinary bran.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IMPORTANT!
One important thing to remember in buying a bran product for the relief of constipation—is to look at the label. The Food and Drug Administration has advised that all bran products should state clearly on the package just what they contain.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—because it is all bran with only flavor added, gives you the generous amount of "bulk" needed to promote proper elimination.

Keep on the sunny side of life

Some Parents Brag of Child's Naughtiness

But They Won't Like Him as "Wild" Young Man.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The onlooker who loves children and who sees them abused or mismanaged has a hard time. Her suggestions are usually resented, and yet she feels an intense desire to help the children, who cannot help themselves. So in desperation she often writes to me. Her appeal takes various forms:

"Won't you write an article on a mother who screams at her little girl from her window every time she does the least little thing? We neighbors are heartsick at seeing this sweet child abused and thought perhaps an article from you would do some good," is one. Another appeal reads:

"Won't you write an article that may have some effect on two young parents who scold and slap their two year old for every little thing he does that isn't perfect?"

Other letters make other requests but want so much to have the circumstances disguised that I can't describe the situation clearly enough to have it do any good. If you want me to write an article that may be seen by the parents and may protect the child, you will have to be willing to take a chance on the mother discovering that some one has "told on her."

Recently a letter without any such "string" to it came in:

"I would appreciate it a great deal if you would write an article concerning your opinion of a mother who considers herself intelligent, yet constantly boasts of the fact that her elder boy is a devil and that she cannot control him, although he is only twelve years old. The point is that she does this in his presence."

I've heard mothers make these boasts myself: "I can't do a thing with Dorothy—she just won't eat—and we have to tell her stories," and so forth, and so forth.

Children love it. It makes little heroes of them. It gives them the center of the stage. And it gives them a decided sense of power—but the wrong kind of power of course.

The boy described in the letter quoted is going to live up to his reputation of being a little devil, with a mother who boasts of it. He's going to get more and more self-conscious about himself. And then one fine day, when he's older and his actions can no longer be controlled, his mother will say—no longer boastingly but bitterly or sadly this time, "John is so hard and selfish and wild—I don't see why he should be so."

Don't discuss your children's behavior in their presence—but whatever you do, don't boast of its undesirability. You're storing up trouble for yourself and harming your child if you do.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1934: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE UNIDENTIFIED BODY.

On the beach just above the high water mark of the blue and gently rolling waves of the Atlantic a coast guardsman discovered the body of a drowned man.

The coast guard station communicated at once with the small Maine town in which Prof. Fordney was vacationing. Together with the chief of police and a doctor they hurriedly made their way to the scene.

Dr. Simpkins said the man, who had nothing of an identifying nature on his person, had probably not been dead more than four or five hours.

"Well, then," Chief Meriden remarked, "he must have been thrown overboard from a boat that wasn't very far offshore. I know this coast along here. We'll inquire if the coast guard lookout has seen any suspicious looking boat about in the last few hours."

The station lookout reported he had seen a small, peculiar looking, fast moving yacht offshore and the man who discovered the body said he was confident that it had not been there when he came on duty two hours before he found it.

The professor, whose feet were soaking wet, was in a grumpy mood—for him—and while drying himself in the coast guard station pondered over the fact that the dead man's face somehow looked familiar. His inability to recall where he had seen him didn't increase his amiability. Thus when he heard Chief Meriden ask the coast guard commander to send his cutter out in search of the vessel from which the man had been thrown, he irritably said, "That's the most futile thing you could possibly do—the dead man was not washed ashore."

WHY DID HE SAY SO?

Alumnae Will Hear School Essay of 1866

Dearborn Seminary Club to Meet Wednesday.

come into the possession of Miss Clark will be shown for the first time in Chicago.

A dozen or more of this season's debutantes and several post-debs will have a post-holiday reunion this noon at the luncheon Mrs. Louis Henry Risser is giving for her lovely young daughter, Miss Jean Risser, at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

Mrs. Risser and her daughter have included in the guest list the girls with whom Miss Risser studied at her aunt's school. . . . Miss Risser's in Rome. . . . During the last two years.

St. Chrysostom's Will Celebrate Anniversary.

A midwinter affair that will include in its invitation list many of the city's oldest and most prominent families is the reception and tea planned for the afternoon of Jan. 28 in celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of St. Chrysostom's church. It will be held in the guild hall of the church which is a memorial to the late Mrs. Frederick F. Norcross.

On the committee in charge of the arrangements are Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, Mrs. Fletcher Durbin, Mrs. George B. Foster, Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. Edmund J. Doering, Mrs. Joseph H. King, Mrs. M. Paul Noyes, Mrs. Harold C. Smith, Mrs. John T. Redmond, Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, Mrs. Benjamin F. Taylor, and Mrs. L. Parsons Warren.

When Chauncey McCormick went south to Miami he was undecided about whether he would be able to return in time for the 50th annual meeting of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society next Thursday, but you may be sure he would like to be at that meeting, for the society, of which he is president, is one of his chief charitable interests.

New directors and officers will be elected at the meeting, which will be held at 12:30 o'clock in the tropical room of the Medinah Michigan Avenue club.

Mrs. McCormick is planning to join her husband in Miami shortly.

Official business . . . annual reports and the election of officers . . . will supplant a program at noon on Jan. 20 when the New Orient society meets for luncheon at the Arts club. Each member may bring two guests. Prof. James H. Breasted is the honorary president and Dr. Berthold Laufer the honorary vice president.

Many Society Folk Start on Vacations.

Every train leaving Chicago for the east, south, or west carries vacationers who are en route to warmer and sunnier climes, although in no place where the sun shines regularly could sunshine be appreciated the way it was here yesterday, we're certain. Mrs. Ambrose Cramer is sailing tomorrow from New York to join her daughter, Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, in Jamaica for a six weeks' stay.

Mrs. Carter H. FitzHugh and her daughter, Miss Mildred FitzHugh, will leave for a West Indies cruise before long. They're leaving Lake Forest on the 24th to sail on the 27th.

Mrs. J. Russell Forgan will arrive at home on Monday from a short trip to New York and ten days later she and her children wil leave to join her mother, Mrs. Jackson Johnson of St. Louis, at Daytona Beach, Fla. Mr. Forgan has gone to New York on business, so Mrs. Forgan will divide the late winter and spring between Florida and New York. There is a possibility that the Forgans will move to New York, but they hope to be back in Chicago to stay by early summer. It is needless to say that their many friends here are hoping that they won't become New Yorkers permanently.

Mrs. J. Scott Dow Jr. is leaving today for three weeks of Florida sunshine on the beach at Miami where she will visit her husband's parents.

The Joseph T. Bowens just waited for their daughter, Gwendolyn, to return to school at Farmington and then they left for their beloved ranch at Castle Hot Springs, Ariz. Mr. Bowen may find it necessary to return to Chicago earlier, but Mrs. Bowen plans to remain at the ranch until late spring.

Mrs. Seymour Wheeler Will Enjoy Cruise.

Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, who usually spends the late winter at Castle Hot Springs, is taking a cruise to South Sea islands this year. She is sailing today from Los Angeles for a four months' trip. Her daughters, Christabel and Eleanor, are remaining in Lake Forest with Mr. Wheeler while their mother is away.

The Walter P. Paepckes slipped out of town quietly just before Christmas and are enjoying life in Honolulu, but they will be at home before long.

Mrs. Lawrence Williams and her young son, Larry, left the first of the week for about three weeks in Bermuda.

Mrs. James B. Waller and her children, all of whom are convalescing from whooping cough, are going down to Pinehurst the first of the month to visit Mrs. Waller's mother, Mrs. John Given.

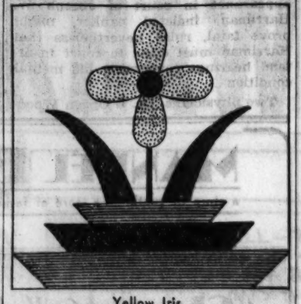
Mrs. William H. Bush and her daughter, Carol, will arrive at home today from a three months' trip to China and Japan. Miss Emeline Bush remained to study Chinese painting in Peiping where she is staying with Mrs. William J. Calhoun.

Mrs. Chauncey Blair to Visit Relatives.

Mrs. Chauncey J. Blair will be in Chicago for several days around Jan. 25 on her way from New York to California. She will be with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, at 70 Cedar street, while she is here. If Mrs. Blair's granddaughter, Mme. Gonzalo de la Gandara, and her husband carried out the plan she had written to Mrs. Blair before her little daughter was born, the baby is named Luz, the Spanish word for light.

Mrs. John Liddell will be in the city in about another month for a six weeks' stay with her sister, Mrs. George M. Silverthorne of Riverside, who, with Mr. Silverthorne, is at the Ambassador for the winter. Mrs. Liddell will be on her way from Switzerland to her home in China.

Quilt Embodies Gay and Modern Color Harmony



Yellow Iris.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The discriminating person, with an eye to color harmony, will take keen enjoyment in making this attractive modern quilt block. The original quilt, with its faint touch of modernism, was made in shades of cream, green, red, and brown. While it is tremendously effective in these colors, it also may be made in lavender, yellow, green, and flower pot red.

For a pattern of this quilt design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service office, One South Dearborn street.

Dawes Outlines Plans for Better 1934 Exhibition

Ohio Society Cheers Pledge of Success.

Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress, in revealing plans for the Fair next summer expressed a conviction yesterday that the second season of the Exposition will be far superior to its first. He predicted further that 1934 will bring a revival of national spirit and confidence which will be reflected notably in A Century of Progress.

Members of the Ohio Society of Chicago, before whom Mr. Dawes spoke at their luncheon in the Hotel Sherman, rose and applauded when he concluded his address with the words:

"We will have a more outstanding exhibition this year than we had last summer. We will also have better support. I am confident that we will achieve a greater attendance record than last year and that the Fair will meet with greater general success."

Mr. Dawes first outlined what he considered the successes of the Exposition of last summer in educational, economic and recreational fields. Then he launched into an optimistic recital of the plans for the coming summer, enumerating several new features in lighting, in new buildings, the policy of management, and concessions.

"I want to corect any impression, however," he said, "that the Fair will be new in essence. All that was worthy of high commendation last year will be retained. What has been modified by the advance of science or discovered since last year's Fair will be added."

Mistakes of last summer will be rectified for the second year of the Fair, the speaker said. The lagoon, which he described as a couple of black eyes, will be brightened with a new lighting system. The decoration of the entrances will be improved and given more dignity.

"Already seven contracts for historical villages have been signed," President Dawes continued. "These will be an English village, a Swiss village, a German one, a Spanish one, a French one, and an American colonial settlement.

"Objectionable features of the past year will be avoided. More than a half of the exhibitors have signed for the second year. Space for concessions has been requested far beyond what can be supplied. In so far as the Exposition is concerned, the activities of the century will be shown as they were last year with progress of the last year recorded.

Discussing the economic advantages of last year's Fair, President Dawes said that the railroads reported that approximately 4,000,000 persons came here by railroad in the five months to attend the Fair. The lowest estimate during the same period by motor car was another 4,000,000, and about 1,000,000 by bus.

"This would give us a total of 9,000,000 who came here from other places to see the Fair," President Dawes said. "More than 22,000,000 attended the Fair. This proves the loyalty of Chicago's residents, for we figure that about 80 per cent of the admissions were among local people.

"Financially the Fair was of great benefit to the city. One thousand five hundred and sixty conventions were held, attended by 1,500,000 visitors who spent $95,000,000. Stores increased their sales from 40 to 60 per cent.

"I do not come before you as a prophet or economic expert, but I am assured that we will see better times in 1934 than we saw in 1933."

President of Holy Cross Speaks to Alumni Here

Blue of Periwinkle, Night, Sky Variety, Is Preferred Color in Paris This Winter

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The blues, so the color experts say, will have us all in their grip by next spring, but Paris has already succumbed this winter. I have seen more fashionable women wearing blue this season than for a long time. Blue isn't usually a shade for winter, and particularly the kind of medium and lively blues which Paris has taken up. Periwinkle, gendarme [a gay navy], night blue, and summer sky blue are shades of the mother color that are worn a great deal here for daytime and evening.

The smart Molyneux ensemble in our sketch is made of periwinkle blue wool and has, in addition to its color, the tunic dress that is an exclusive fashion this season. The coat is a straight three-quarters wrap of the blue wool with mink set on in spiraled stripes around the big sleeves. A small choker collar of the mink is worn at the neck, and there is a pillow muff of mink.

The dress, shown in the background, is straight line, with a three-quarters length tunic having shoulder yoke and sleeves in one piece. A square rhinestone buckle drapes the front of the neckline and the twin belts have rhinestone buckles. Marion Davies, the movie star, has this ensemble.

Stress Intellect, Plea of President Hutchins at Trustees' Dinner

Five hundred members of the faculty and administration of the University of Chicago, attending the annual dinner of the board of trustees at the Shoreland hotel last night, were told by President Robert Maynard Hutchins that the institution must continue to insist on intellectual emphasis in its work.

In his talk President Hutchins reiterated former statements that it was the duty of the university to give its students theoretical knowledge, or pure science, rather than a collection of facts that could be gained by experience.

"If research is understanding and education is understanding," he declared, "and what the world needs is understanding, then education and research are what the world needs. They offer the only hope of salvation, the hope held out to us by the intellect of man."

Harold H. Swift, president of the board of trustees, was toastmaster at the dinner. Speakers included Dr. C. Judson Herrick, for the faculty, and Frank McNair, for the board.

Ideal Weight Determined by Clever Chart

Measurements Are Also Obtainable.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

We have different systems of determining the weight according to age and height, or according to height without the age factor. Standards, these are, by which the average one may learn about what he or she should weigh. Insurance companies' charts are considered as reliable a source for this information as can be gained. And these are most freely used.

Now, we have formulae being worked on that will prove more interesting to women than the standardized weight charts. Women are always eager to know if their waist, hips, bust are in good proportion. The corset people have worked out charts along this line—and the physical culture departments of schools, too, have given us some helpful material.

Of course, we've changed our general standards somewhat of recent years. That is, we do not pay so much attention to one ideal standard of measurement, as a perfect 36 of other days. Today it's more in keeping to be the ideal you than an ideal 36 or 34. That is, if you are a 38 and you are in good proportion you are just as likely to be a knockout as if you were the perfect 36 of a few years back. Or, if you are a nicely proportioned 32 or 34, you'll get by perfectly.

Miss Sylvia Matteson of Chicago, who has made a study of women's figures, offers a formula, which she says agrees with the charted measurements of style authorities. Miss Matteson's formula for obtaining the correct measurements follows:

Begin with the height of the figure in stocking feet. From the height determine what the bust measurement should be, in the following manner:

HEIGHT.	BUST MEASURE.
For 5 feet	30 inches
5 feet 1 inch	31 inches
5 feet 2 inches	32 inches
5 feet 3 inches	33 inches

Rule: The bust measurement exceeds thirty inches by the same number of inches that the height exceeds five feet.

To determine the waist measurement: From your ideal bust measure [according to height as shown in above table] subtract eight inches.

To determine hip measurement: Add two inches to the bust measurement.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Bayard Sands Litchfield and Miss Barbara Litchfield will pass the remainder of the winter at Sea Island Beach, Ga., where they have leased a house.

Sir Harry Gloster and Lady Armstrong, who will sail tomorrow on the Britannic, gave a dinner last evening for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Watson, Capt. and Mrs. Thaddeus Armstrong, and Miss Constance Armstrong.

THE STAGE

"Autumn Crocus," the romantic comedy which started Francis Lederer on his American career, will be staged in the Studebaker theater next Monday night for an engagement of one week. Madge Kennedy and Rollo Peters will have the leading roles. Robert Henderson, director of the spring drama festivals in Ann Arbor and Detroit, and Helen Lowe will also be prominent in the company.

This English comedy, written by C. L. Anthony [a pen name] was launched in New York in the fall of 1932, and had a notable run with Lederer and Dorothy Gish as co-stars. Matinée performances will be given in the Studebaker on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons.

To follow "Autumn Crocus" the new lessees of the Studebaker—the Randall Productions, Inc., under the management of Horace Sistare—announces "Elizabeth Sleeps Out," a comedy by Leslie Howard, the actor who is now having a vogue in films. Carrie Reynolds, a well known comedienne, will lead the company. The première has been fixed for Sunday night, Jan. 21.

Walter Hampden will give "Macbeth" in the Erlanger theater tonight for the first time during his current engagement in repertory. The booking to follow Mr. Hampden at the Erlanger, under the auspices of the American Theater society, will probably be "The School for Husbands." This Theater Guild production is a musical version of Molière's classic comedy, "L'Ecole des Maris." C. C.

Youthful Frock Features Popular Slimming Tunic

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This smart, slimline tunic dress has a pleasing neckline and very youthful sleeve detail. The tunic opens at the lower front, allowing ample freedom of movement, yet still retaining its straightness. A chartreuse ribbed silk crêpe, with brown trim, made the original of this design.

The pattern, No. 3345, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained tonight at the annual dinner for the heads of diplomatic missions in Washington. Since Turkish Ambassador Ahmet Muhtar, who is the dean of the corps is a bachelor, Lady Lindsay, wife of the British ambassador, was the President's dinner partner. This dinner served to introduce into the corps the new ambassador from the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics.

The dinner was followed by a musical at which Jascha Heifetz, violinist, gave the program, with Aspar Sander at the piano.

Mrs. William Howard Taft entertained at luncheon today.

The wedding will take place in June. [Paul Stone-Raymor Photo.]

Awakened Wives Doubters About Other Women Fun

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Men, you'll have to tell us how you expect wives to believe that you love them and then at the same time, carry on a heart-breaking affair with some other woman!

It's more than you'd ask yourself to believe were a wife to try to offer you that story. Of course, you'll say, "But it's different!" And it is, from your point of view, but how to make the little woman swallow it.

The victims of this philosophy of yours are amplified by today's Heartbroken. For fifteen years she thought her man could do no wrong and wouldn't listen when some one tried to tell her he was being seen about places and not with his legal mate. The idea! Not the devoted father of those three bright children whom he apparently adored, nor the ever courteous and generous mate she herself had known for fifteen years.

But that letter discovered in his trousers' pocket! No denying that evidence!

Heartbroken's husband swears on bended knees that there is but one woman in the world for him and only one. That is, only one real one. These others are phonies, will o' the wisps born for a reckless hour. No more meaning in a man's life than a brief session with John Barleycorn.

It's a good story, but how, we ask with the heartbroken wives, are you going to sell it where you want it sold? You tell us, gentlemen, and perhaps we can translate your philosophy into more understandable terms for the women. As it stands now, they just can't figure out how you expect such loyal behavior from them, why you're so ready to damn one of the fair sex caught trifling, and reserve for yourselves such an elastic standard.

"I felt the whole world suddenly grow dark," Heartbroken confides about the hour of her disillusionment.

Disillusion to her, just a naughty incident to you! Perhaps it is for the security of marriage in general, that the woman is not provided with the broadminded equipment to meet the test.

But you tell us, men! We're listening!

Discovers Relief for Stomach Distress After 25 Years of Terrible Suffering
Amazing Report of Chicago Man Brings New Hope of Relief to Thousands of Stomach Sufferers

Charles F. Blaine

"I HAVE suffered with stomach distress for the past twenty-five years," says Mr. Charles F. Blaine of 901 N. State St., Chicago. "I got so I could not even hold milk or water on my stomach. I was so nervous that I could not sleep at night, the least little noise almost drove me mad and I lost weight until I was down to eighty-nine pounds. I have taken every patent medicine that I ever heard of. I have spent thousands of dollars in the past twenty-five years and have had a great many x-ray pictures taken.

"I had just about given up hope of getting relief, when a good friend of mine sent me some of Willard's Tablets. After using four tablets I began to eat and sleep like I had never done in years. I have been using Willard's Tablets now for three weeks and I have gained eleven pounds and feel like a new man.

"I will be pleased to write letters to anyone and tell them what they have done for me. I want to thank the makers of Willard's Tablets for the first happy days I have had in twenty-five years."

FREE! Willard's Famous Message to Stomach Sufferers FREE!

Poor Digestion, Acid Dyspepsia, Sour or Upset Stomach, Gassiness, Bloating, Heartburn, Constipation, Bad Breath, Sleeplessness, Poor Appetite, Headaches, due to Excess Acid . . . These are the conditions for which the marvelous Willard Treatment is designed to bring relief. Thousands of letters from grateful people everywhere, tell of the astonishing results obtained.

No matter how long you have been suffering, or how many other "remedies" you have tried, read Willard's Message to Stomach Sufferers which points the way toward health and comfort. This famous message has been the means of bringing blessed relief to thousands of stomach sufferers, many of whom had suffered for years and were on the verge of despair before finding definite relief from their agony.

CANADIAN TITLES ISSUE MAY BRING TRADE FOR U. S.

Bennett Foes Open Fight in Jan. 25 House Session.

Here is the fourth of a series of dispatches on United States-Canadian trade possibilities. Mr. Kinsley is making a trip through Canada as part of The Tribune's campaign to give its readers information which may help America regain old export markets or develop new ones for its agricultural and industrial products.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 11.—The session of the Canadian parliament which opens Jan. 25 will be the scene of a historic and perhaps final struggle over the question of the perpetuation of British titles in this western democratic world. Most Canadians thought this was ended in 1919, but Premier R. B. Bennett decided otherwise and a political storm has been stirred from coast to coast by the New Year's honors announced by his majesty last week on the advice of his Canadian ministers.

It is predicted by political observers here that this issue will reach the dignity of a want of confidence vote, in which the Liberals will have the support of the more radical third party. While the Conservatives have a majority of 40 and may win on this issue, it will not help their rule, which is coming to a close this year or next, and may precipitate their demise this year. This would have important consequences in trade and other policies relating to the United States, for in these days international trade and politics are wedded, or at least in a state of companionate marriage.

Liberal Trade Motion Planned.

It is significant that the clerk of the house of commons announced today that William Duff, a Liberal member from Nova Scotia, will introduce a motion for a reciprocal trade agreement between Canada and the United States immediately after the opening of parliament.

Two knighthoods, four orders of knighthood not carrying the ceremonial prefix of "sir" and 33 lesser honors, 32 of which are for women who have performed notable service in welfare work, were the honors announced. While there is no particular objection to this list, and it is admittedly free from the taint of money influence, the resumption of the practice has aroused diverse emotions among Canadians, ranging from disgust to delight.

W. L. Mackenzie King, the opposition leader, has taken up the issue, declaring that the action of the Conservative leader in inviting the honors was an affront to parliament, which in 1919 adopted a resolution requesting the king not to grant any more titles to Canadian citizens. Two years ago another parliament refused to reconsider the question.

King says on this subject:

"It is perhaps sufficient to say that selecting the present, of all times, to restore titles, is but one more instance of how remote from realities the present administration is in its conduct of public affairs, and how far from understanding the country's real problems and needs."

The Liberal party has always stood against titles in Canada on the principle that it creates class distinction. It is recalled that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, their late leader, refused a title many times and only accepted when Queen Victoria wrote his name as "Sir Wilfrid" on a place card at her dining table, making him a knight by her own prerogative.

Calls List an Aristocracy.

The Montreal Standard says that the list comes as close to being an aristocracy of intellect and morals as is humanly possible and continues:

"This is the kind of aristocracy that carries with it no danger to Canada. It seems reasonable that our closer business connection with the British empire should not tend to separate us from its honor producing resources. A few titles, judiciously bestowed, will serve to advertise that we remain a part of the biggest show on earth and intend to stand by it."

The attitude of the prime minister and his supporters has been that the resolution of 1919 was never adopted by the senate and that the present government was not bound by its dead hand. Government house is said to be worried over the situation, and the position in which the king would be placed by a vote against the honors.

Under the caption "And Nero Fiddles" the Toronto Star launches a vigorous attack on the restoration of titles without consulting parliament. "With one million five hundred thousand men, women and children victims of unemployment in the dominion," it states, "unemployed persons and their dependents living on public relief, and with another million and a half suffering deprivations, tightening their belts and managing somehow, the news that Prime Minister Bennett has restored titles will add to discontent from coast to coast."

The Montreal Gazette, in supporting the custom, says that the 1919 resolution did not have wholehearted support and that it "savored more of Democratic snobbery than of any wholesome social principle."

The Ottawa Citizen says that the strengthening of Canadian loyalty to the throne is entirely desirable, but that the king should receive advice from his private councilors rather than from his ministers. This would mean that the names would be submitted by the governor general. The 1919 action was taken, the Citizen says, because of a widespread loss of confidence in the integrity of the honors list.

BRITISH PORK-WHISKY DEAL WITH U. S. MADE EFFECTIVE MARCH 1

LONDON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The increased pork quota promised the United States for doubling Great Britain's liquor quota will become a permanent fixture March 1, it was announced officially today. The correct quota, it was explained, is 7.64 per cent, increased from 6.3 per cent. First reports had the new quota slightly lower.

An announcement here that the French government has agreed to restore most of the quotas of British products which had been reduced was expected to hasten final arrangements for the pork and whisky deal with the United States.

Paris Heeds British Protest.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—(AP)—France heeded a protest by the British government today and restored to 100 per cent its previous quota on a large list of British products. J. R. Cahill, the British commercial attaché, informed the foreign office yesterday that his government considered it had the same right to preferential treatment as was accorded the United States.

Panama Seeks Reciprocal Trade Treaty with U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Jan. 11.—There is a possibility of a reciprocal commercial treaty between Panama and the United States along the lines of the one recently signed between the United States and Columbia, THE TRIBUNE learns. Panama is seeking free or privileged entry into the United States of bananas, cocoa, cocoanuts, hogs and liquors in return for protection to United States manufactures and products imported here. Antonio C. Gonsales, United States minister here, said he would be glad to intercede for such a treaty.

IRELAND SENDS ENVOY TO U. S. TO SEEK TRADE PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 11.—Sean Leydon, secretary of the department of industry and commerce, left for the United States today to investigate avenues of trade between the Free State and the United States.

The Free State imports a considerable amount of goods not produced here and is anxious to trade these for exports. The difficulty here is that the exports are mainly agricultural.

Hitherto these were absorbed by Great Britain, which is now developing home agriculture as a setoff to industrial collapse. It was stated definitely that Leydon's visit was not concerned with liquor quotas.

GOLFERS MEET REAL BOGEY ON THE 13TH GREEN

A gunman invaded the golf course of the Flossmoor Country club yesterday and robbed Harold O. McLane, an insurance man who maintains offices at 220 South State street, his three guests and four caddies of a total of $36. The holdup occurred on the 13th green of the club, beside Vollmer road near Western avenue. The bandit retreated to an automobile driven by a confederate. The golfers finished their round before notifying police. The guests were P. T. Barrett, H. A. Bangham, and G. H. Nelson.

JOS. W. HARRIMAN MUST COME INTO FEDERAL COURT

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey, after hearing testimony today that the appearance in court of Joseph W. Harriman, indicted banker, might prove fatal, ruled nevertheless that Harriman must come to court to attend hearings concerning his mental condition.

Two physicians, Dr. I. Ogden Woodruff and Dr. William S. Oppenheimer, had testified the banker was suffering from angina pectoris and that he had suffered numerous heart attacks.

"The testimony," said Judge Caffey, after hearing both witnesses, "is wholly insufficient. I've got to be shown. I'm not going to take doctors' vague surmises."

EVANSTON GETS THIEF.

George Witters, who confessed following his arrest in Milwaukee that he had taken articles valued at $400 in a burglary Jan. 6 of the home of Hilbert A. Dahl, 831 Ingleside place, Evanston, was turned over to Evanston police yesterday by Milwaukee authorities.

BLACKHAWKS BATTLE BRUINS TO TIE, 0 TO 0

12 NEW CITIES JOIN FIGHT FOR GOLDEN GLOVES

5,000 Boys Outside Chicago to Battle.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Like the presidential election every four years, it's not news that there's going to be one—every one knows that—but the news is "who's going to run."

So it is with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's Golden Gloves boxing tournament. As regularly as winter rolls around there's going to be one. The news today, however, is that newspapers in 12 new cities have this year become members of THE TRIBUNE's Chicagoland Golden Gloves family. Their joining up increases the original happy little family of 12 cities to a healthy fighting group of 35.

Because of this year's amazing growth more than ever does the impending battle for the Golden Gloves stand out as the world's greatest amate r boxing affair. Inasmuch as there is usually an average of 140 entrants for each sectional tournament, the composite strength of that final Chicagoland team ought to be around 5,000 man power.

Thousands from Chicago.

And understand, this is just the Chicagoland group and does not include the thousands who enter from the city of Chicago itself, which is of course the largest member of the family.

The newspapers which this year are becoming members of the Chicagoland Golden Gloves group are:

MICHIGAN.
Detroit Free Press,
Bay City Times,
Ann Arbor Daily News,
Kalamazoo Gazette,
Jackson Citizen-Patriot,
Muskegon Chronicle,
Flint Daily Journal,
Benton Harbor News Palladium.

ILLINOIS.
Bloomington Pantagraph,
Centralia Sentinel.

WISCONSIN.
Eau Claire leader.

NEBRASKA.
Omaha World Herald.

The newspapers which made up the Golden Gloves group last year and which again will send their champions to THE TRIBUNE'S Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium on Feb. 26, 27, and 28 are the following:

MICHIGAN.
Grand Rapids Press.

OHIO.
Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

TENNESSEE.
Nashville Tennessean.

WISCONSIN.
Green Bay Press-Gazette.
Milwaukee bureau, Chicago Tribune.

IOWA.
Davenport Times.
Dubuque Telegraph-Herald.
Burlington Gazette.

ILLINOIS.
Rockford Morning Star.
Peoria Journal-Transcript.
Springfield State Register.
Danville Commercial News.
Quincy Whig-Herald.
Streator Times-Press.
Joliet Spectator.

INDIANA.

South Bend News-Times.
Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.
Gary Post-Tribune.
Lafayette Courier and Journal.
Kokomo Tribune.
Michigan City Dispatch.
Vincennes Sun-Commercial.

Must Find New Champions.

Not more than two former champions will compete for this year's team. All the rest have turned professional. So it is evident new champions must be found.

Chicago boys have been quick to sense this situation and they are entering the city sectional tournaments in larger numbers than ever before.

Still it has been quite evident during the tournaments of the last few years that the greatest strides in mastering the art of boxing have been made by the youths in the outlying sections of Chicagoland.

So, to be perfectly frank with you boys in Chicagoland, we are depending on you for much of the punch and the power which will enable THE TRIBUNE'S team to journey east and whip New York late in March.

Only One New Rule.

The rules, with but one exception, are the same as they were last year. The rule that all bouts will be three rounds of two minutes each will continue until the night the championships are decided in the Tournament of Champions. Then, if the fight is so even the officials find it difficult to return a fair decision, they may order a fourth round of two minutes. This applies only to the eight championship matches.

The army of Chicagoland boxers is already in training and some of the sectional tournaments will come along within the next ten days. There will be fighting in some sector or other from then until the champions begin moving toward Chicago for the spectacular Tournament of Champions.

BIG 6 MAY COME IN

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Big Six schools may send representatives to the Golden Gloves boxing tournament at Omaha Feb. 13-14. C. L. Brewer, conference secretary, has asked a vote on the matter.

While boxing is not officially recognized as a Big Six sport, rules of the conference ordinarily permit competition in meets sponsored by the A. A. U., Brewer said.

THE GUMPS—COME GET IT WHILE IT'S HOT

WELL- THERE THEY GO- UNCLE BIM AND HIS BRIDE-TO-BE- AND THEY SAY SHE TRAVELS ON HER GOOD LOOKS-
IF THAT IS THE CASE THAT ACCOUNTS FOR HER NEVER BEING FOUND FAR AWAY FROM HOME- WELL, POOR BIM- I WISH YOU LOADS OF HAPPINESS AND JOY- AND I'M GLAD THAT YOU CAN CONTINUE TO BE YOUNG IN SPIRIT AND THAT YOUR HEART IS NOT FROZEN-

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

THE baseball winter season is half over and no one has revived the anecdote about Heinie Zimmerman and the suspected imposter. . . . A man seeking to crash the gate sent in his name to Zim and, by way of refreshing the player's memory as to his identity, asked the usher to refer to the hotel episode in Toledo. . . . Receiving the message, Heinie said: "He's a phoney. There ain't no Hotel Episode in Toledo." . . . This is the first year in 15 the gag hasn't had a play. . . . Another perennial among the baseball folk is the one about the relief felt by Lou Gehrig when he found the entire grandstand in Waco, Tex., screened in. . . . He had heard that Waco was a great place for the fans to hurl epithets at visiting players. . . .

Crowds, or lack of them, mean little to a football player who has real love for the game. . . . Pug Rentner, who played before thousands in his student days at Northwestern, says he got just as many thrills as a member of the Highland Park All Stars when a few hundred was considered a big gathering. . . . Hannah Williams Dempsey, wife of the former heavyweight champion, is of Welsh descent. . . . Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, always carries a typewriter. . . . Says he got the habit when writing sports for the New York Times 25 years ago. . . . Athletic directors and coaches are reported to have been chagrined at the apathy Chicago displayed toward their recent meetings. . . . Hence their decision to return to New York for next year's sessions. . . .

Noble Kizer of Purdue was host to his old boss, Nelson Kellogg, at a stag in the Lafayette club after the Minnesota-Purdue basketball game. . . . After considerable discussion the guests decided that Nick Kearns, basketball official, was wearing spats. . . . Several had contended it was his long underwear. . . . Bill Riley, Northwestern tackle who recently returned from playing in the East-West game in San Francisco on New Year's day, said it reminded him of the Wildcats' 1933 season. . . . The East lost the ball on its 12 yard line by a fumble on the first play of the game. . . . This is the first winter in many years that Ted McGrew, National league umpire, has not resided in Florida, southern California or Mexico. . . . He is taking it in Indianapolis. . . .

Chicago printers, who after four years are just getting so they can handle the name of Donnie MacFadyen of the Blackhawks, have another problem in the offing. . . . The White Sox have a pitcher named Otho Nitcholas. . . . Clark Shaughnessy is beginning to worry about the eligibility of next fall's Maroon football players. . . . He has asked all the boys to report on their scholastic progress from week to week. . . . The eligibility problem has been less acute this year, however, than for many seasons. . . . Only one serious casualty occurred during the year—Ralph Balfanz, a fine sophomore end. . . . From the way Mrs. John Hay Whitney's horses have been winning during the early days of the Florida racing season she will supplant her cousin-in-law, C. V. Whitney, as America's leading owner in turf affairs this season. . . . Her 3 year old Singing Wood has a chance to win more than $100,000 in the rich 3 year old specials of next spring and summer. . . .

MOLINE FLYER WINS FIRST RACE AT MIAMI MEET

Expect Speed Record Today in Curtiss Trophy.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 11.—The sixth annual all American air races opened here this afternoon with a stirring demonstration of military flying by army bombardment and pursuit planes, navy attack planes, and marine fighters. Ten thousand persons attended the performance, which is one of the high spots of the opening of the Miami winter season.

The first race on the program, for small planes, was won by Harold Neumann of Moline, Ill. He covered the three laps of the 5 mile course at an average speed of 80 miles an hour in a Taylor Cub [Aeronca] motor to win a prize of $100.

The second race, for planes with larger motors, was won by Douglas Davis, air mail pilot of Atlanta, Ga. He flew the three laps at an average speed of 130 miles an hour in a Travelair biplane [Wright J-67 motor] to win the $200 first prize.

Bomb Dropping Contest.

A dead stick landing contest was won by Webster F. Schmaling of Armonk, N. Y., when he came within 11 feet 4 inches of the mark in his Bird biplane [Wright motor]. Neil McCray of Fairview, Pa., won a bomb dropping contest in his Stinson monoplane [Lycoming motor] by coming to within 19 feet 5 inches of the mark. Jerry Wessling of Toledo won a precision parachute jumping contest.

Three navy hell divers, attack planes, from the naval training station at Pensacola, gave a performance of formation stunting that rivaled the former navy stunting trio, the High Hats. Lieut. L. H. [Sandy] Sanderson lead his squadron of Boeing pursuit planes through five bombing tactics. They are from the marine base at Quantico.

Nine ponderous army bombers, of an obsolete type, bombed a papier maché village named Depressionville. Thirty fighters of the army's 8th pursuit group at Langley field flew through new tactical formations. The finishing touch was a mass parachute jump of eight men from a tri-motor plane. The only accident occurred when Mrs. Peter Brooks of New York nosed her plane over on landing.

Curtiss Trophy Race Today.

The Curtiss trophy race, scheduled to be run off tomorrow, is expected to produce the best speed shown at this meet. Among the entires received to date are Harold Neumann, flying Ben O. Howard's racer, IKT, . Laird biplane, for which the pilot has not been announced and Doug and Art Davis flying their streamlined stunt ships.

Art Davis of East Lansing, Mich., wartime pursuit pilot whose ribbon cutting and balloon bursting amused Chicagoans at the American Air races last summer, put on his act with a new embellishment—a stream of smoke poured from the ship, forming a pattern on the sky as he stunted near the ground. The average speed of his plane was 130.40 miles an hour.

About five hundred pilots were on the field for the opening of the races, outnumbering the planes almost two to one. The meet rapidly is becoming more of a social than a flying occasion, with many parties planned every night. Col. Henry L. Doherty entertained the pilots who took part in his cruising race at the Miami Biltmore tonight.

C. Y. O. Squad Boxes Tonight on West Coast

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Chicago, Los Angeles, and San Francisco Catholic Youth organization boxing stars were ready tonight for the big test tomorrow when the sixteen boys from Chicago will meet the combined teams of Los Angeles and San Francisco in the biggest amateur boxing event ever staged west of Chicago.

Dreamland auditorium is practically sold out for the show, according to reports today from the office of Msgr. Francis P. McElroy, who is head of the C. Y. O. activities in San Francisco. This means that approximately 8,000 spectators will see the amateurs in action.

Do Road Work.

The Chicago boys, carefully tutored and trained since they arrived in San Francisco last Saturday by Packey McFarland and Paddy Kane, went on the road early this morning and then took only light exercise at the Y. M. I. this afternoon. All the boys are within a pound or two of weight.

The pairings for the program tomorrow night were announced this morning by Msgr. McElroy. They are:

112 POUNDS.
Manuel Fuste, San Francisco, vs. Frank Schults, Chicago.
Henry Fuscaldo, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Smith, Los Angeles.

118 POUNDS.
Andy Scrivani, Chicago, vs. Tino Derama, Los Angeles.
John Scanavino, Chicago, vs. Jim Mace, San Francisco.

126 POUNDS.
Jimmy Christy, Chicago, vs. Emilio Magano, Los Angeles.
Sam Scaglio, Chicago, vs. Mickey Martin, San Francisco.

135 POUNDS.
Phil Kenneally, Chicago, vs. Norbert Meehan, San Francisco.
John Barbara, Chicago, vs. Bill Trillo, Los Angeles.

147 POUNDS.
Bob Lamonte, Chicago, vs. Andy Bonsano, San Francisco.
Nester Brugrman, Chicago, vs. Nick Petralia, Los Angeles.

160 POUNDS.
Charles Wozniak, Chicago, vs. Fred Apostoli, San Francisco.
Sam Cahill, Chicago, vs. Jerry Breslin, Los Angeles.

175 POUNDS.
Raymond Wozniak, Chicago, vs. Leo Greenhalg, Los Angeles.
Stanley Lusak, Chicago, vs. Girard Declerq, San Francisco.

HEAVYWEIGHTS.
John Logan, Chicago, vs. Lowry Petronne, Los Angeles.
Jules Bracke, Chicago, vs. Joe Duffy, Los Angeles.

In the Wake of the News

PROS AND AMATEURS.

KID HOWARD'S gymnasium, for twenty-five years training spot for professional boxers or those wishing to become professional boxers, has closed with its sponsor's declaration that professional boxing is dying and that amateur boxing is taking its place. While Veteran Kid Howard (Howard Carr) does not thoroughly approve the supposed transition, he recognizes his gymnasium no longer was being operated at a profit.

The Wake takes that familiar "yes and no" attitude toward Kid Howard's opinion. Pugilism of the professional brand certainly is not what it was from the financial viewpoint. This is due, we think, both to the business depression and to lack of popular attractions of the Jack Dempsey type.

Since the Manassa Mauler lost his title to Gene Tunney at Philadelphia in their first encounter in 1926, no heavyweight champion since has possessed all the qualities appealing to an adulation willing public. Tunney was a master boxer, not an aggressive slugger. Many newspaper men and part of the public thought he looked down on his own profession because of its many unsavory associations and called him "high hat." Feeling as he did, Tunney attained his objective of champion and the financial independence that went with it and retired.

Max Schmeling, who beat Sharkey for the vacated title, was a good fighter, but not a "killer." He was methodical and thorough rather than brilliant. He went back to Germany between bouts. Thoroughly likeable personally, his prowess rather than his personality was his drawing power.

When Jack Sharkey took the title from German Max there was that shadow of a moot decision. Sharkey had been fighting for years. Early he had been unpopular because of his supercilious attitude toward opponents and his real or assumed public braggadocio. Moreover, it was generally recognized he has passed his athletic peak. Outside the ring he led a quiet, respectable life with his family, furnishing no first page copy of brawls or misbehavior with chorus ladies.

Primo Carnera, present champion, a good natured giant of such proportions as to be almost a physical monstrosity, started his career under sinister rumors of compliant opponents for his "build-up." His ultimate ranking is undetermined until he meets an opponent more formidable than was Sharkey at the time of that championship bout. His size and strength are unquestionable fistic assets. But his very size, however, will handicap Primo in public sympathy. He will outweigh all his opponents by such margins that the American tendency to pull for the under dog will operate against him.

Carnera and Max Baer, as logical contenders, will meet this summer after the present obstacles are brushed away. The Wake will be surprised if this encounter does not prove a great attendance magnet, with the gate receipts depending on business conditions at the time. There will not be a Dempsey-Tunney gate, but the take should be sufficient to prove that the now somewhat dormant fistic sport still has life when an attraction is presented.

There is no question of the growth of interest in amateur boxing as evidenced by great crowds at the Golden Gloves city, intercity, and international bouts, where fine action for a nominal fee is witnessed. Reasons for popularity of amateur boxing frequently have been discussed in this column.

O'FARRELL SIGNS TO MANAGE REDS FOR TWO YEARS

Veteran Catcher Comes from Cards in Deal.

The Cincinnati Reds last night announced the appointment of Catcher Bob O'Farrell as 1934 and 1935 manager of the 1933 National league tailenders. The announcement was made immediately after the Reds had obtained O'Farrell's player contract from the St. Louis Cardinals.

For weeks it had been almost a certainty that O'Farrell would be moved in to succeed Donie Bush as manager of the Reds, but announcement was delayed pending the framing of a deal which would effect O'Farrell's release from the Cardinals.

Yesterday's announcement said that Sylvester Johnson, veteran Card pitcher, will go to the Reds with O'Farrell, the Reds sending cash and Pitcher Glenn Spencer, late of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants. Spencer had been obtained from the Giants after the close of the 1933 season. After the announcement rumors were circulated that Dazzy Vance will be sent to the Reds by the Cardinals, but no reference was made to this possibility in making public the terms of the transaction.

Second Job as Manager.

It will be O'Farrell's second major league managerial assignment, he having been the boss of the Cardinals in 1927, the season after the one in which the Cards won their first pennant and followed by taking the world championship in a sparkling series with the New York Yankees. Though the Cards finished second under O'Farrell's leadership, he was deposed at the close of the season and on May 28, 1928, he was traded to the New York Giants for Outfielder George Harper. He returned to the Cards last year.

Though O'Farrell is 37 years old and has been a major league catcher for 19 years, he will be listed as a playing manager and, it is said, expects to catch about 50 games in relief of Ernesto Lombardi, who is being counted upon to do most of the Reds' backstopping in 1934.

The new Red skipper was born in Waukegan Oct. 19, 1896, and always has made that city his home. He was picked up by the Cubs in 1915, but saw little service until the following year when the Cubs turned him over to Peoria. He caught 77 games for Peoria that year. He was back with the Cubs for a short spell in 1917 and in 1918 began his major league career in earnest. He was the Cubs' first string catcher until May 23, 1925, when he was traded to the Cards for Mike Gonzales and the late Howard Freigau.

Most Valuable in 1926.

In 1926 he was awarded the prize as most valuable player in the National league, after catching 147 games for the Cards that year, and in December was selected manager after the Cardinal nabobs had fallen out with Rogers Hornsby.

News of the final closing for O'Farrell's services was issued by Larry MacPhail, new president of the Reds. MacPhail stated he had made the appointment after considering a large number of eligibles and that he had picked O'Farrell after consulting Branch Rickey of the Cards, John McGraw, Bill Terry, and Rogers Hornsby.

1934 KENTUCKY DERBY PURSE IS CUT TO $30,000

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Reduction to $30,000 in the added value of the Kentucky Derby was announced tonight by Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association and executive director of Churchill Downs.

The sixtieth running of the Derby will be on Saturday, May 5. The classic has carried $50,000 added for approximately ten years. Its actual value will be increased according to the number that start and the 1934 field so far is a wide open one. Fees for 21 starters would add $10,000 to the $30,000 purse the Downs will put up.

In making the adjustments in the purses, Col. Winn announced a one-third reduction on general admission tickets Derby day and a one-half reduction for general admission on all other days of the spring meet.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks and the Boston Bruins last night battled—and how they battled!—to a 0 to 0 standoff at the Stadium before a howling assemblage of some 9,000 bugs.

Though the fans saw the Hawks move over to share their first place berth with the New York Rangers they also witnessed the most exciting game of the year, including an unmolested fist fight, which resulted in Bad Man Lamb getting knocked on the after section of his shorts by Rogers Jenkins, a bit of playfulness that caused each of the gents to get a major penalty.

The contest caused the officials, especially the able Mike Rodden, to get one of the most ruthless ridings in a dozen appearances here. He was showered with everything from peanuts to grandma's darning basket, though the poor man didn't seem to have made a mistake in all of his specially arduous chores.

It was the fourth consecutive game in the Hawks' protracted home stand which they failed to win and the third of the four in which they have emerged with a tie.

Claim Two Goals.

The Hawks twice claimed goals, the first a shot past his brother by Paul Thompson, which precipitated the unparalleled demonstration against Referee Rodden, when the official ruled it didn't count.

The Bruins wore headgear, and had to play tough hockey to convince the populace they hadn't become fraidy-cats. Hawk inquiries as to when they were going to sew lace on the hems of their panties did much to make the contest the spirited contest it was.

Incidentally the headgear idea seemed unpopular with the fans. It makes each player look exactly like all his mates.

Some of the most feverish hockey of the 1933-'34 term was produced from the fourth to the tenth minute of the first period. Things started to happen in a big way when Jenkins was locked up for unnecessary roughness, causing the Bruins to move five men into Hawk territory.

A furious mêlée forthwith was precipitated immediately west of Goalie Gardiner's footwear, during the course of which Siebert and Beattie each missed shots at the wide open nets after Gardiner had been knocked off his beat.

Goal Is Canceled.

The onslaught was halted when Paul Thompson got the puck near his own blue line and with clear ice before him raced across mid-ice and through the untenanted Bruin defense zone, from which he beat Brother Tiny with a high shot.

The red light signifying accomplishment was turned on and there was great rejoicing for a few seconds. Then Referee Rodden ruled that the puck had come into Thompson's possession through an offside pass. The goal was canceled, thereby precipitating the longest and most vociferous anti-official demonstration the fans have put on here this year.

The second period was more furious than the first, with the frenzied play frequently punctuated by fan demonstrations.

Fans Throw Peanuts.

Leswick was put off in the seventh minute and when he violently protested the ruling Referee Rodden was showered with bags of peanuts and miscellaneous débris, an outbreak which caused the contest to be suspended for three minutes.

It was in the sixteenth minute of the second period that Jenkins and Lamb engaged in their fisticuffs. It was better than the usual fight for it was waged while other players were following the puck to the opposite end of the rink, enabling the combatants to go to it without the customary interference. The battle ended when Jenkins sprawled his adversary with a neat clip on the chin.

The goalies weren't quite so busy in the period in the matter of saves, Gardiner having 13 and Thompson 7.

It seemed that Goldsworthy had beaten Thompson in a speedy onslaught in the ninth minute of the third period but the rubber took a crazy bounce off the goal post and skidded to safety. Manager Gorman claimed the rubber had crossed the goal line, but got the ear of neither official.

TULEY TROUNCES CRANE, 16 TO 12, IN PREP OPENER

Bowen Whips Morgan Pk. in 52-36 Game.

Heavyweight teams in the City Basketball league opened play yesterday afternoon in all sections of Chicago. Ten games were played.

Tuley beat Crane, 16 to 12, in one of the best games. Tuley's players did not commit a foul while holding their opponents to six baskets. In contrast were the thirty-six fouls called in the Von Stueben-Amundsen, which was won by Von Stueben, 32 to 18. The winners made twenty-one fouls and Amundsen, fifteen.

Bowen Wins, 52-36.

Bowen whipped Morgan Park, 52 to 36, and Parker won from Fenger, 43 to 23, in free scoring contests. Dolac, Bowen forward, made half of his team's total by tossing twelve baskets and two free throws. Lindblom beat Manley, 42 to 10, in one of the most one sided games.

Harper won from Hyde Park, 19 to 16, and Calumet whipped Hirsch, 23 to 20, in games which were not decided until the last minutes.

Play Again Today.

Other City league heavyweight games will be played this afternoon.

Second round games in the Catholic league are scheduled this evening.

TOM HAGGERTY TO COACH TRACK IN LINCOLN PARK

Harry O'Hara, director of recreation of Lincoln park yesterday announced that Tom Haggerty, former basketball and track coach at De Paul university, has taken charge of the Lincoln Park Women's track squad.

An ice skating club also has been organized at the park with Waveland avenue as headquarters. Tom Condon, former Canadian champion, is the coach.

The running tracks at the Lake Shore, Welles, Chase and Hamlin parks are being conditioned and changed to conform with the metric system.

Tilden Victory Spurs Clamor for Open Play

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Fresh impetus appeared today for the proposals to make national as well as world open championships a definite part of the tennis tournament program, following Big Bill Tilden's decisive victory over Ellsworth Vines before a record American tennis gallery in the first of their series of professional matches last night.

Tennis authorities, outside the professional camp, were reluctant to predict what will be done this year, but it was learned that the French may take the initiative in persuading the International Tennis federation this March to lift the barrier heretofore raised against sanctioning the mingling of amateurs and professionals in open competition.

France Wants the Meet.

The prospect is that the French tennis leaders, seeking an outstanding attraction to make up for the loss of the Davis cup matches in Paris, will swing over to the side of open tournament advocates and seek to stage the first official world championship this year, before or after Wimbledon. Before this transpires, however, they may have to do some intensive negotiating with Messrs. Tilden, Vines, and Henri Cochet, who have joined professional forces.

The United States Lawn Tennis association made a gesture of defiance last year by sanctioning a national open tournament but failed to conduct the event, ostensibly because of failure to agree on dates with the Germantown [Pa.] Cricket club. The U. S. L. T. A. meets next month in Pittsburgh and may pave the way for definite action, pending what transpires abroad.

Tilden Amazes Observers.

Tilden's mastery last night over Vines, who less than a year ago was still regarded as the world's outstanding amateur player, was a revelation to many tennis followers and veterans who had not seen Big Bill since he turned pro.

Before he left early today for Philadelphia, where he and Vines play the second match of their series tomorrow night, Tilden expressed the opinion his young rival would give him increasing trouble as soon as he became more accustomed to the indoor surfaces.

VINES GETS $7,123.

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Ellsworth Vines today received a check for $7,123 as his share of the proceeds from his professional tennis match with Big Bill Tilden in Madison Square Garden last night. Tilden and Bill O'Brien, the promoters, split another $7,123, while $3,389 went to the free milk fund for babies and $9,489 to the Garden for rental and running expenses. A recheck of the receipts today showed that 14,637 paid $30,125 to see Vines lose in his professional debut.

Chicago Wins in Lacrosse Battle, 17-10

Buffalo's Mohawks of the National Lacrosse league last night met the Chicago Blue Ribbons for the second time this week at the Arcadia Gardens in a battle for league leadership. The Blue Ribbons won, 17 to 10, thus tightening their hold on first place.

Kingdon started the Chicago rampage by scoring almost immediately, and the lads discovered that as long as they played as a team and gave over individual acrobatics they gained more points. Silver Heels scored the only Buffalo goal in the first half.

The first quarter was run off as smoothly as a Sunday school meeting, but in the second quarter things began to happen.

White Versus Deerfoot.

Little Elk, Buffalo goalie, ran out to snare a bouncing ball. When he looked up he saw a big lump of a lad bearing down upon him at 40 miles an hour, so he bent down, arched his back, and the Chicago man left the floor at a sharp tangent to land in a thoughtful heap.

Then Deerfoot, messing around in one of the corners, did something that angered Toots White, whereupon Mr. White removed his gauntlets and began to visit bodily punishment upon the person of Mr. Deerfoot, who, being a gentleman and a Mohawk, retaliated in kind. Only the interference of the other players nipped what appeared to be a neat little bout. Both lads were sent to their seats for five minutes.

Goalie Makes a Goal.

Perhaps the high point of the game was furnished by the remarkable Little Elk. Moved by the inability of his pals to make more points, he caught the ball, left his post, raced all the way down the floor through both teams, and made a goal all by himself. Prolonged applause greeted this unusual act. Previously a ball had left the arena and crashed into a glass sign over the bar, so the fans were in a receptive mood for something out of the ordinary.

ENDLESS WAR IS NEEDED TO HALT CROW INVASION

Rossville (Ill.) Roost Affords Fine Shooting.

BY BOB BECKER.

With the announcement from downstate that an offensive against Illinois crows [staged by the department of conservation] has netted around 6,000 of these birds, sportsmen in the middle west can consider that the 1934 crow war is off to a flying start.

Illinois, along with many other middle western states, had an excess crow population, which is a constant menace to song and game birds, because the big black pests have been convicted as egg stealers of the first rank. Right now, with practically no game hunting permissible, sportsmen can have a lot of fun as well as "do their good turn" for conservation by taking a whack at the crows.

Plenty at Rossville.

Here's a tip that appears to be a "hot" one for a crow hunt around a big roost. It comes from Fred S. Austin, a reader who has visited the roost. He writes:

"One mile above Rossville, Ill., which is 106 miles south of Chicago on the Dixie [Ill.] highway and 18 miles north of Danville, is located a crow roost where thousands of the birds roost nightly in winter. I know, because for several winters a friend and I enjoyed many a Sunday afternoon toward sundown, stretched out alongside a hedge as the birds came and came. They were coming from every angle of the compass in that region to reach this roost. We warmed our guns until they needed cooling—and we got the crows. Others did it occasionally. [Corn bait in plowed fields will help make a beautiful spot for shooting].

"Friends tell me that now there are even more crows at this roost near Rossville than there were when I used to shoot around it. The roost is almost on the grounds—part of it is—of the Hubbard Trail Golf club. I suggest that any one wishing to take a hunt near this roost write Alva Cronkhite, Rossville, Ill. He's a hunter and will know just where the big mass of birds is roosting. No fooling; any one going down there will see crows and crows until he dreams of them."

Olney Needs Help.

Olney, Ill., is sending out an S O S on the crow business. Aaron H. Zimmerly writes us that he can show anybody so many crows that "you think a storm is coming up. The sky actually gets black with their passing above you."

We would like to hear from sportsmen who have seen large crow roosts and can give us information on the exact location of the roost. We wish to pass such information along to groups of sportsmen and also to the state department of conservation.

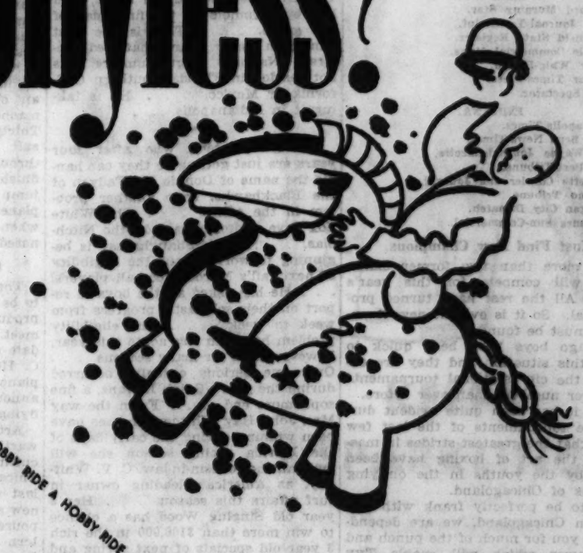
Hobbyless?



Look for one at once! Remedy the defect by seeking out a particular field and make it yours. You will find a hobby the best sort of a tonic for boredom or worry. There is nothing quite like the mad pursuit of a rare first. And when you lean back and gaze proudly at your collection—how soothed is the acquisitive instinct!

A simple way to start properly is to expose yourself to one of the most fascinating of all hobbies—stamp collecting. Its ramifications are myriad. It is a constant challenge and yet you need spend very little time and money on it. Also, though it is almost profane to mention it, any time you wish, you can sell your collection.

If it sounds interesting, read Sandy Cabeen's article on stamps in next Sunday's Tribune.

CRITICIZE USE OF TROJANS IN PRO GAME ON COAST

Three May Play Against Bears Sunday.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The old question involved in college athletes taking up professional football has arisen again here in connection with Sunday's game between the touring Chicago Bears and an improvised California eleven.

The situation arose when Erny Pinckert, former half back of the University of Southern California and more recently back field ace with the Boston pros, began figuring on some of the doughty athletes of the 1933 Trojans for the Sunday game.

Trojans Join in Practice.

Three athletes joined his daily practice sessions on Jefferson High school field—these being Aaron Rosenberg, guard, who gets his diploma in a few weeks and who already has begun work as a technical man in a movie studio; Homer Griffith, the 190 pound quarter back, who has been singing professionally with a night club orchestra, and George Dye, a utility man at guard and center.

Pinckert also thought he was going to be joined by Ford Palmer, the pass catching end, who was captain of the 1932 Trojans, and by Bob McNeish, the pass throwing half back, one of the coast's best blockers.

The jump of the Trojan athletes to pro ranks proved disconcerting to some of the officials at the University of Southern California, with the result that criticism was voiced.

Promoters Art Criticised.

It was taken up and echoed by sports commentators on some of the Los Angeles dailies. The Post-Record published an article, "The Pros Turn on the Heat," which stated:

"Palmer and McNeish were influenced and coerced until they agreed to play. In a calmer moment both withdrew. Then came a barrage of condemnation levelled at the university as well as the boys. Their names mean money at the gate—understand? Perhaps they will play in the game thereby solling a fine amateur record for a few dollars. If they do not play more power to them. Professional football is the greatest menace to the amateur game that has yet appeared. If it gets a foothold it will run amateur football out of existence."

The clamor reached a stage where George Halas, the boss of the Bears, threw a luncheon for interested parties and made a speech about it; not that the Bears were under criticism, because it was the promoters of the Pinckert team who had been talking to Palmer and McNeish. Halas told the Los Angeles group that a situation much similar to the present disturbing matter had perturbed the colleges in the central states for a time and outlined the agreement that the pros had made: not to proselyte athletes still in school.

The lineup for Sunday's game probably will be:

SOLEM TO GET 4 YEAR CONTRACT WITH HAWKEYES

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 11.—(AP)—The confusion regarding Ossie Solem's football contract at the University of Iowa had apparently been ended tonight with an announcement by Solem that "I am completely satisfied and have no intention of leaving Iowa."

Solem and Dr. E. H. Lauer, athletic director, were reported to have reached a "complete understanding" in a conference today. Although no contract was signed it was understood that the document would be drawn up early next week. It will cover four years of service here.

YANKEES SEND FARRELL, BROWN TO NEWARK CLUB

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Two more releases by the Yankees today reduced the squad to 32 players. Dr. Eddie Farrell, the dentist-infielder, was released outright to the Newark Bears and Walter Brown, 240 pound righthand pitcher, went to the same club on option.

Layton to Open Chicago Exhibition Next Tuesday

Johnny Layton, former three cushion billiard champion, will appear in a series of exhibition matches at Kieckhefer Recreation and at 131 South Wabash avenue. He will make his first appearance at both places on next Tuesday night.

Armour Tech Is Beaten by De Paul, 43-35

De Paul's undefeated basketball team beat Armour Tech last night at De Paul auditorium, 43 to 35. A near capacity crowd of 1,500 watched the battle.

At the half De Paul apparently had a safe lead of 30 to 17 and the margin in the earlier stages had been greater. But at the start of the final session Armour loosed an attack which came within three points of tying the score.

De Paul Misses Chances.

In the meantime De Paul had missed repeatedly on a series of follow up attempts, made possible by superior height, but in the last two minutes a series of field goals decided the contest.

Pete Barskis, De Paul center and forward, led his team with six field goals and five free throws for 19 points. Barskis on the pivot play was the center of the De Paul offense. Warner, a substitute center who took Lukas' position after he had committed four personal fouls, scored five times from the field and twice from the penalty line for 12 points.

Freshmen Win, 50-17.

In the preliminary game the De Paul Freshmen defeated the Lady of Mercy quintet, 50 to 17. Varsity lineup:

DE PAUL [43].	B	F	P	ARMOUR TECH [35].	B	F	P

ARGENTINA AND U. S. MAY MEET IN POLO SERIES

New York, Jan. 11.—[Special.]—As delegates from all over the country met today at the Racquet and Tennis club in the annual convention of the United States Polo association there appeared the probability of international polo with an Argentine team here during the coming summer.

Nothing official was forthcoming, but it was learned that negotiations have been begun by the associations of the two countries.

The two day session of the polo officials started with the meeting of the handicap committee which made adjustments in handicaps that will be presented to the general meeting for acceptance.

Bob Godwin Wins Decision Over Maxie Rosenbloom

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Bob Godwin got his revenge tonight for what he considered a poor decision in a recent battle with Maxie Rosenbloom, the light heavyweight champion, but there was some doubt whether he deserved it. Referee Bob Moore, also promoter of the fight, raised Godwin's hand at the end of the twelve round nontitle bout with Rosenbloom. The rounds were two minutes instead of the regulation three.

Gar Wood Escapes Unhurt When His Plane Crashes

Algonac, Mich., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Gar Wood, speedboat pilot and holder of the Harmsworth trophy, escaped injury today when his airplane nosed over while he was landing at the airport at Marysville, between Algonac and Port Huron. Wood was piloting the plane and was alone in the ship at the time of the accident. Wood went to his home at Algonac after the accident and announced there that the damage to his plane was slight.

Phagan to Fight Farrell Tonight at Rainbo Fronton

Johnny Phagan, Chicago, 152 pound boxer, and Jimmy Farrell of Terre Haute, Ind., will meet in the eight round windup tonight at Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Scotty Sylvano and Eddie Ward, former Golden Gloves welterweight and lightweight champions, respectively, are paired at four rounds. It will be their third meeting. Each has won previously. Other matches:

Joey Bosak vs. John Mirabal [4], 138.
Tod Kelly vs. Art Mitchell [5], 135.
Les Schultz vs. Bill Steffel [4], 147.
Lou Tucker vs. John Hoida [wrestling].

Lynn Sanford, Melrose Park featherweight, and Kaswell James, Chicago, meet in one of eight bouts tonight at Wonderland arena, 2934 Milwaukee avenue. Pat Sullivan, Chet Levere, George Nelson, Art Cherkowsky, Howard McConnell, and Nick Padlewski will appear in other matches. Frank Talaber, intercollegiate middleweight wrestling champion, will clash with George Kontales.

The card at Marigold Gardens Monday night is as follows:

Solly Dukelsky vs. Fritz Heinz [8].
Sammy Levine vs. Johnny Fitzpatrick [6].
Adolph Wister vs. Walter Madey [5].
Jackie Osborne vs. Patsy Pollock [4].
Jackie Collins vs. Floyd Embrey [4].
Al Woznica vs. Leo Arminetti [wrestling].

Two more bouts have been arranged to support the eight round encounter between Jackie Sharkey and Leo Rodak at Midway arena Monday. Freddy Gravelle and John Mirabal, featherweights, meet in one. Frank Walsh will wrestle Ed Van Herrick. Gene Higgins faces Eddie Chinski in one of the other matches.

President Charles Bidwill of the Chicago Stadium Operating company announced last night that Mrs. Lena Levy, sister-manager of King Levinsky, accepted 25 per cent for Levinsky to box Max Schmeling at the Stadium Feb. 16. This leaves the way clear for Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, who has been holding out for 35 per cent, to accept, Bidwill said.

Champion Barney Ross sparred three rounds yesterday with Frank Sigilio. He is getting ready for his ten round bout with Billy Petrolle at New York, Jan. 24. . . . Frank Misko, Saginaw, Mich., middleweight, goes to Milwaukee Sunday for a match against Tony Bruno next Wednesday.

The Opal Athletic association and the Belle Plaine Athletic club have entered teams in the midwest invitation amateur boxing tournament at the Arcadia Gardens. The tournament opens Monday with bouts between boys in the featherweight, lightweight, welterweight, and middleweight classes. Michael O'Doul, 135 pounds; John de Kovich and Patrick Sullivan, 147; Chester Ellis and Leonard Stanek, 160, and Michael de Kovic, 175 pounds, will represent the Opals.

Belle Plaine entrants are Bobby Iverson, Milo Herdes, Jack Coleman, George Rodamaker, Chris Schussler, and Nick Bedlewski. F. M.

Dennis Jones and Charles McElroy, welterweights, will box in one of two matches at five rounds in the amateur show tonight at the 24th Ward club, 3248 Roosevelt road. The other will bring together Mickey Beal and Verne Paterson, bantamweights. There will be six preliminary matches.

Miller Shoots 1,539 to Win Pin Match from Gardner

Joe Miller, national match game bowling champion, was in his best form last night at the Blue Island Recreation where he defeated Del Gardner, 1539 to 1457, in a seven game match. Scores:

Miller—197, 236, 265, 210, 214, 180, 237—1539.
Gardner—230, 194, 191, 245, 200, 177, 211—1457.

Yale Signs Up Williamson; Mum on Kipke

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Ivan Williamson, captain and star end of the 1932 University of Michigan eleven, was appointed freshman end coach at Yale university today.

Some observers seized upon the selection as a sign that Yale planned to break with tradition by calling on Harry G. Kipke, who taught Williamson his football at Michigan, to take over the head coachship held during the last season by young Reggie Root.

But from Malcolm Farmer, director of athletics, came the assertion that the appointment of Williamson had no bearing on what Yale planned to do about the rest of its coaching staff for 1934.

In addition to his football duties, Williamson will coach the freshman basketball squad. He will begin his work July 1, but the terms under which he was engaged were not disclosed.

The selection of Williamson, once described by Kipke as "the smartest player and best student of football I ever coached," came on the heels of reports that Farmer and President James Rowland Angell of the university were wavering somewhat in their insistence that Root's successor should be a Yale graduate, preferably T. A. D. Jones, one time Eli coach.

Ed Schroeder Wins Skating Meet Trials

First place in the Chicago district trials for the national and North American ice skating championships went to Eddie Schroeder of the Romme club yesterday when he won the five mile event on the second and concluding day's program. Schroeder covered the long grind in 17:31-2-5 to beat out Eddie Stundl. Al Kucera was third.

This victory, added to those he had scored in the first day's eliminations gave him a total of 110 points. Kucera won second place with 100 points, Stundl took third with 80, and Wilbur Marks fourth with 60. These four thus became eligible to represent the district both in the national meet at Minneapolis on Jan. 20 and 21 and the North American championships at Oconomowoc, Wis., on Jan. 27 and 28.

Skate-Off Necessary.

A mile skate-off was necessary to determine the winner of fourth position in the final standings when Marks, Art Conroy and John Flickenger finished in a tie with 30 points each. Marks won the extra event with Conroy second and Flickenger third. Conroy ended the trials with 50 points, Flickenger with 30, while Oneil Farrell and Wallace Fee Jr. had 20 each.

Skate Near Wilmette.

Yesterday's trials were switched to a pond near Wilmette when Harry Berz, president of the Illinois Western Skating association, who was in charge, declared the ice at Welles Park was unfit for use.

Yesterday's summaries:

FIVE MILE—Won by Eddie Schroeder; Eddie Stundl, second; Al Kucera, third. Time—17:31 2-5.

440 YARDS—Won by Stundl; Wallace Fee Jr., second; Wilbur Marks, third. Time—39 2-5 seconds.

THREE-QUARTER MILE—Won by Kucera; Art Conroy, second; Stundl, third. Time—2:20.

MATSUYAMA IS WINNER AS CUE TOURNEY OPENS

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Kinrey Matsuyama, champion billiard player of Japan, but now a resident of New York, won the opening game in the national three cushion billiard tournament tonight by defeating Robert B. Harper, southern sectional winner from Denver, 50 to 36 in 57 innings. Matsuyama had a high run of 6, to a 5 for Harper.

Tomorrow three games will be played. Len Kenny of Chicago will meet Charles McCourt of Cleveland, Earl Lookabaugh of Chicago will engage Marc Catton of Oakland, Cal., and Alfredo De Oro of New York is scheduled to take on Arthur Woods of New York.

Clipper Smith Decides to Stay at Santa Clara

Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Maurice [Clipper] Smith, University of Santa Clara football coach, who recently announced himself as considering an offer to coach at Alabama Poly, said here today he planned to remain at Santa Clara.

Hope for Cold or Skating Derbies Will Be Deferred

Definite announcement whether or not the Silver Skates derbies will be held this week end will be made in tomorrow morning's TRIBUNE. While there was no skating in Chicago yesterday because of the rising temperature when the sun again visited the city after almost two weeks of cloudy weather, the Illinois Western Skating association officials found ice near Wilmette and concluded their trials to select a team for the national meet.

The forecast admittedly holds slight hope that there will be freezing temperatures today, but it was thought advisable to wait until the last minute before calling off the Silver Skates Derbies. This opinion was held particularly since preliminaries in three boys' divisions are scheduled tomorrow and the final events are carded for Sunday.

In event that the derbies are postponed they will be held on the first Saturday and Sunday when good ice is available.

NESTOR JOHNSON SEXTET DEFEATS BLUE RIBBONS, 3-2

A crowd of 2,500 saw the Nestor Johnson sextet draw within a game of a tie for third place in the Big Four division of the Chicago Amateur Hockey association last night at the Coliseum when it defeated the Blue Ribbons, 3 to 2.

The Ribbons took the lead in the first 41 seconds of the first period when Begin broke through the Johnson's defense and passed to Yank Schubert. About three minutes later, Cann, Casselman, and Devined teamed up to tie the count. The Blue Ribbons again led the way in the second period when Quellete took a short pass from Schubert to score. Then Victel and Cann went to work and made it 2-2, Victel being at the scoring end of the combination.

The Nestor Johnson clinched victory in about the middle of the final period, Casselman scoring on a followup of Victel's try.

JOHN ROGERS' 70 WINS MEDAL IN COAST GOLF PLAY

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP)—John Rogers, Denver professional, won medal honors over the Lake Merced course in today's 18 hole qualifying round of the fourth annual San Francisco national match play open golf championship with a 70, two under par. One stroke behind Rogers came Harold McSpaden of Kansas City, Kas., with 36—35—71.

Ten pros and one amateur tied at 72. They were Ernest Pieper Jr., San Jose, Cal., amateur star; Archie Hambrick of Zanesville, O.; John Black Sr. of San Francisco; Mark Fry of Oakland; Jimmy Thomson of Long Beach, Cal.; Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore.; Ky Laffoon of Miami, Okla.; Rod Munday of Santa Rosa, Cal.; Bryan Nelson of Texarkana, Tex.; Joe Kirkwood of Chicago, and Verne Torfin of Bremerton, Wash.

The rest of the field ranged from one stroke over par to figures in the eighties. Players with cards of 77 tied for last place in the 64 player qualifying limit. There were 13 of them, including Paul Runyan, Westchester, N. Y., leading money winner of the winter tournament season; Oliver Sleppy of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Romie Espinosa of San Francisco and W. J. Schwartz of St. Louis.

Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., winner of last year's tournament, automatically qualified as the defending champion. Among the stars who failed to qualify were John Revolta of Menominee, Mich., and P. O. Hart of Columbus, O. They had 78's.

UNIVERSAL CAR TRANSFER ISSUE NEARS DECISION

Council Group May Confer with Judge Today.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson is favorably disposed, it was said yesterday, to ordering the receivers of the street car and elevated lines to put into effect a universal transfer privilege between the two systems if the city council grants a six month extension for acceptance by the companies of the pending transit unification ordinance.

Immediate establishment of the transfer privilege is one of the demands which the aldermen intend to make as a condition of giving the companies more time. The present deadline for acceptance of the ordinance is Jan. 31. A committee of aldermen plans to call upon Judge Wilkerson, possibly this afternoon, to determine if the extension of time is warranted and to present their conditions for such a concession. The companies asked for the extension on Wednesday.

Senior Bondholders Willing.

The first mortgage bond protective committees of the two transit systems and the receivers all have assured Judge Wilkerson, it was reported, that establishment of the intersystem transfer is quite feasible. They have agreed, it was learned, that any added revenue accruing from the innovation can be divided by the companies on a temporary basis, pending completion of the merger of the elevated and surface lines as provided in the ordinance.

Such a method was employed several years ago when the separate street car companies decided to unite under a single operating management. At that time it was agreed to divide the revenues on the basis of 60 per cent for the north and west side lines and 40 per cent for the south side lines.

Under the transfer plan now proposed there would be a 3 cent additional charge for surface line riders who transfer to the elevated lines. There would be no extra charge for persons transfering from the elevated to the street cars. The reason for this is the present difference of 3 cents between the 7 cent street car fare and the 10 cent elevated fare.

Seek Other Concessions.

It was indicatd last night that besides the transfer privilege the aldermen intend to demand a number of other concessions before granting an extension of time for acceptance of the ordinance by the companies. Among these are said to be demands for immediate surface lines' track or feeder bus extensions along the Northwest highway, Higgins road, Archer avenue, and streets in other outlying sections.

Improvement and civic organizations of a number of these communities have petitioned the Illinois commerce commission to order construction of the extensions. In hearings before the commission Attorney Harry P. Weber, counsel for the surface lines, has declared that if any one of the extensions is ordered, it would result in a flood of new demands from all parts of the city. He has said that the company is not now financially able to meet the demands of the petitioners.

All the extensions being sought are provided for in the pending transit ordinance. Most of them, under the terms of the ordinance, must be constructed within three years after the ordinance becomes effective.

CATHOLIC SCHOOL REPORT SHOWS 205,920 ENROLLED

6,239 Teachers in This Area Last Year.

A report on the operations of the Catholic parochial schools in and near Chicago for the school year beginning in September, 1932, and ending in June, 1933, was given out yesterday by the Rev. Daniel F. Cunningham, archdiocesan superintendent.

The total enrollment of pupils in the 458 grade schools, high schools, and colleges was 205,920. This was divided as follows: Elementary schools, 171,267; high schools, 18,934; colleges, 15,719. The 252 elementary schools in Chicago had 138,536 pupils and the 134 elementary schools outside the city had 32,731.

6,239 Teachers in System.

There were 6,239 religious, special, and lay teachers in the entire system, apportioned as follows: 4,194 in the 336 elementary schools in the city and outside; 1,017 in the 64 high schools; 1,028 in the 8 colleges and universities.

In all, the parochial school year was a high success despite the depression, Father Cunningham's report said.

"In these days of stress and pessimism regarding education it is a pleasure to sound an optimistic note," the report declared. "At a time when many of the nation's school were closing or drastically shortening the length of the school year our schools remained open and there was no shortening of the school term."

No "Modern Vagaries."

This was possible, the report pointed out, because "even in prosperous times we have not fallen into the fallacy of believing that education should be made as expensive as possible."

Moreover, it added, the parochial schools "have refused consistently to follow the vagaries of modern educational programs, which have well-nigh broken the backs of the taxpayers and reduced public education to the sorry state in which it finds itself today."

Father Cunningham's report was submitted to Cardinal Mundelein.

STATE RECEIVES BIDS ON NEWEST PWA PROJECTS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—The state highway department today received apparently low bids, aggregating $1,037,483.87, including the cost of cement, on the seventh series of PWA highway projects planned for construction in Illinois with federal funds.

The projects involve the construction of 12.6 miles of pavement, 2.01 miles of bituminous retread surface course, and 18.68 miles of traffic bound surface course. Bids also were received for .64 of a mile of grading and five bridge sections.

The Chicago area projects and the apparently low bidders follow:

Rt. 18—0.45 mile paving on Lincoln Park west from Clark street to Stockton drive in Chicago, H. G. Goelitz company, Oak Park, $46,493.18.

Rt. 21—0.97 mile paving on Foster avenue from Central Park avenue to California avenue in Chicago. Robert R. Anderson of Chicago, $77,485.50.

Rt. 54—1.01 miles paving on North avenue from Cicero avenue to Crawford avenue in Chicago. Robert R. Anderson, Chicago, $111,897.50.

Rt. 57—Structure for subway under the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at Gunnison street, in Chicago, E. J. Albrecht company, Chicago, $57,495.00.

S. A. Rt. 69—0.72 mile paving on South Chicago avenue from 75th street to 71st street, H. B. Goelitz & Co., Oak Park, $67,760.50.

S. A. Rt. 35—1.23 miles paving on southwest highway from 79th street to Western avenue in Chicago, Jaicks Brothers, Chicago, $44,997.50.

EX-SECRETARY TO RINGLINGS IS DEAD IN FLORIDA

Sarasota, Fla., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—Charles Kannely, 55, who for nearly a quarter of a century was confidential secretary to the famous Ringling brothers and more recently to Samuel W. Gumpertz, general manager of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus, died here tonight of a heart attack.

Kannely was a native of Sterling, Ill. A brother, Richard Kannely, is a Chicago jeweler.

Funeral services will probably be held here. Burial will be in Sterling.

FUNERAL TODAY IN OAKWOODS FOR RICHARD CLANCY

Funeral services for Richard W. Clancy, once winner of the Grand National Trap championship, will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel in Oakwoods cemetery. Mr. Clancy, formerly a Chicagoan, died of pneumonia Tuesday in Philadelphia. He was 46 years old. Mr. Clancy was connected with the American Powder Mills in Chicago for a number of years and was well known among hunters of the Chicago area. During the war he served in France as a captain in the gas defense service. At the time of his death Mr. Clancy was eastern manager of the auto map department of Rand McNally company. He is survived by his wife, two children, his mother, Mrs. Gertrude E. Clancy, and by a brother, Leonard, and a sister, Mrs. Harold Wheeler.

RICHARD W. CLANCY.

Funeral Tomorrow for John Ball in La Grange

Funeral services for John Ball, assistant general purchasing agent of the North Western railroad, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the La Grange Episcopal church. Mr. Ball, who was 62 years old and lived at 400 Blackstone avenue, La Grange, died on Wednesday. He was born in Manchester, England, and entered the employ of the North Western railroad as a stenographer in 1901. He was made assistant general purchasing agent in 1928. His widow and two children survive.

Stephen J. Spain Dies; Funeral Is Tomorrow

THREATS BRING MINISTERS INTO NILES VICE QUIZ

Asked Action, but Shy at Testifying.

Niles, Mich., Jan. 11.—[Special.]—A dozen ministers, prominent in pushing demands for an exposé of vice conditions among young girls here and in surrounding cities and towns, consented tonight to appear before the special one-man grand jury investigation Friday afternoon only after they had been threatened with subpoenas.

Prosecutor Harvey Holbrook sent Sheriff Charles Miller out to obtain the ministers as witnesses, but they refused to appear. A short time later Deputy Attorney General George Murphy arrived here from Lansing with instructions from Attorney General Patrick O'Brien to "get down to the bottom of this thing."

Subpoena Threat Works.

Murphy, learning of the ministers' reluctance to talk, threatened to issue subpoenas and they agreed to testify Friday as to their knowledge of the vice conditions. The inquiry, being held before Justice of the Peace Thomas M. Farrell, already has involved nearly 150 girls between the ages of 12 and 16, and a score of older men, a number of them married.

Of the ministers called, seven are signers of a lengthy resolution, passed at a mass meeting of their congregations in St. Joseph, Mich., last Sunday night, demanding that "the prosecuting attorney and the state's attorney general use every legal means at their disposal to prosecute those who participated in or permitted such conditions to exist." The resolution set forth 10 specific circumstances of the "appalling situation."

The ministers' resolutions were made following the disclosure of the vice conditions at dance halls, road houses, and other resorts.

Minister Assails Judge.

The only minister to appear voluntarily today was the Rev. Harry Nicholson, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church here, who attacked Judge Malcolm Hatfield for giving "sordid advertising" to the cleanup before attempting to make any arrests.

Other witnesses included two 15 year old girls, who are being held in the detention home in St. Joseph as key witnesses, and a 24 year old divorcee, who testified for nearly an hour. She was described by one girl as having attempted to entice her on a wild party with older men.

In addition to the ministers and perhaps several club women who will be questioned Friday, Murphy has announced he will call Leonard Thompson, president of the Niles senior high school class. Thompson has made the statement that "it is no secret among the students about the wild parties, especially among the younger girls."

Murphy said when the testimony is completed before Justice Farrell here the court may go to the maternity hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich., where two young Niles girls, one only 14, are being cared for, and take their testimony.

C. V. Barrett's Sister Dies of Heart Attack

Miss Margaret Barrett, 60 years old, a welfare worker, collapsed and died of heart disease yesterday in an automobile salesroom at 1714 South Halsted street, where she had gone to effect the return of her automobile, which had been recovered from thieves. Miss Barrett, who lived at 1934 West Cermak road, was a sister of George Barrett, former Circuit judge, and of the late Charles V. Barrett, former member of the board of review, who died in 1931.

ARREST HIT-RUN AUTOIST AFTER TWO MILE CHASE

Woman Killed When Train Smashes Car.

Arthur Marshall, 48 years old, 7626 Colfax avenue, an insurance salesman, was arrested by police after a two mile chase last night following an accident in which his car injured Thomas Lynch, 49 years old, of 8524 Dante avenue, a pedestrian. Lynch is in the Jackson Park hospital suffering from a leg fracture.

The accident occurred at 71st street and Dorchester avenue. Near by were Sergt. John Reilly and his Woodlawn station squad. Although they did not see the accident, they saw two cars speeding in a neighboring street. They stopped the leading car, which was Marshall's. The occupants of the second car came up and told Reilly that Marshall had run down a man and sped away. Marshall was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Train Hits Auto; Woman Killed.

Mrs. C. W. Waite, 74 years old, 1740 West 105th place, was killed yesterday and her brother, Raymond H. Owens, 65, of 1727 West 107th street, was severely hurt when their automobile was struck by a Rock Island train at 103d street and Hale avenue.

This death and two others increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 45. The other victims:

Man believed to be Nicholas Kolling, 72 years old, of 814 Bowen avenue. Killed by a hit and run car last night at Cottage Grove avenue and 42d street.

Albert Danielson, 58 years old, 1210 South Morgan street. Injured by a hit and run car a week ago. He died yesterday in the county hospital.

A. O. Syverson, 65 years old, of Escanaba, Mich., a train dispatcher, and his wife, 63 years old, were critically injured last night when their automobile collided with a motor truck in Waukegan road, eight miles northwest of Waukegan. They were taken to the St. Therese hospital in Waukegan.

Don't take calomel!
HERE'S NEW HEALTH FOR YOUR LIVER
Now banish bad breath, pimples, constipation; feel like a million!

That tired, drowsy feeling in the morning, that "dark-brown" taste in the mouth—if you would banish them and win back buoyant health, don't expect relief from salts, mineral oil, or candy and chewing gum laxatives.

For such remedies only move the bowels. While chances are you're one of the thousands suffering from sluggish liver which does not yield sufficient bile—causing pimples, blemishes, headaches, bad breath and a general run-down feeling.

What you need is something which acts thoroughly but harmlessly upon the liver. And in Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets you will find that "something" which stimulates the bile flow.

A successful substitute for calomel, these famous tablets are compounded of pure vegetable ingredients, and have been praised for years by millions.

To get and keep the bile flowing freely—correcting constipation, skin troubles, and win back that "fine-and-dandy" feeling of youth—go to your druggist for Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets today. 15c, 30c, 60c.

JONES PLEDGES HANDS OFF TO FIRST NATIONAL

Won't Dictate Naming of Chairman.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—No further preferred stock intervention in major Chicago or New York banks was pledged today by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

MELVIN TRAYLOR.

The informal pledge came on the eve of the stockholders' meeting tomorrow at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company to elect Walter J. Cummings, the RFC's candidate, chairman of the institution. The election of Mr. Cummings and a hand picked board of directors was arranged by Mr. Jones and a committee from the bank at a meeting here on Tuesday.

Refers to First National.

The nonintervention pledge was extended by Mr. Jones to cover specifically the First National bank of Chicago, which on Tuesday voted to sell 25 million dollars' worth of preferred stock to the RFC and which has, like the Continental Illinois, a vacancy in its chairmanship.

Mr. Cummings, who is head of the Deposit Insurance corporation, left here this afternoon to attend the stockholders' meeting tomorrow in the bank which he will head.

Although information on the board of directors which, it was agreed, would be elected tomorrow, was still being kept secret, it was learned on high authority that James R. Leavell probably will retain his presidency in the bank.

Explains Policy of Control.

After Mr. Jones had explained his intention of keeping hands off most of the large banks in Chicago and New York, which have sold the RFC preferred stock, other officials set forth the grounds on which the RFC will feel justified in exercising control through its preferred stock. They are:

1. Sale by a bank to the RFC of more preferred stock than there is common stock outstanding, thus giving the RFC control. The Continental Illinois fell into this group.

2. Failure by a preferred stock bank to earn two consecutive dividends.

Intervention will be confined almost entirely to choosing new personnel for the management, Mr. Jones said.

Satisfied with Management.

He added that the RFC is thoroughly satisfied with the management of the First National bank of Chicago, headed by Melvin Traylor, president. The bank now has 25 million dollars preferred stock in the RFC's hands and 25 million dollars' worth of common stock in private hands.

Although this arrangement probably will give the RFC a working control, it will not be exercised even in filling the vacant chairmanship.

Mr. Jones announced that the RFC had sold 200 million dollars' worth of the special 2¼ per cent two year debentures which it is offering only to banks in which it has bought preferred stock. Another issue of 2 per cent one year debentures is being planned in the same way, he said.

National Life Reinsurance Bids Go Before Court Today

Reports on the eight bids received for the reinsurance of the National Life Insurance Company of the U. S. A. are slated to be presented to Superior Court Judge William J. Lindsay this morning by Patrick J. Lucey, receiver. The company went into receivership on Oct. 17, 1933. Reports in insurance circles here indicate that a Chicago company is being favored to take over the reinsurance, with the Continental Casualty company mentioned among the most likely.

Bank Stockholders Take Some Stock Meant for RFC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—Subscriptions for more than $850,000 for the new cumulative preferred stock of the National City bank were received up to the closing of rights on Wednesday. An issue of $50,000,000 of the 5 per cent stock had been authorized. The remainder of the stock is to be taken by the RFC. Final results have not yet been tabulated.

Stage Boom in Continental Bank Shares

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Shares of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, whose stockholders will meet today to elect a new board of directors, advanced sharply in the unlisted market yesterday.

Demand for the stock sent the asked price up to 36, the highest quotation reached in several months. Buyers were bidding 35 when the trading ended. Final quotations represented a gain of 3 points for the day and lifted the issue more than 50 per cent above its low quotation of 24, reached in last week's trading.

Entrance of a new management, headed by Walter J. Cummings, with the backing of both the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the bank's present directors, is the principal factor in the recent sharp gains in the stock.

Cummings to Arrive Today.

Mr. Cummings will arrive this morning from Washington to attend the stockholders' meeting scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon. His name is only one known for a certainty that will be added to the board of directors. Seven other new board members will be named.

Unusual care was taken to prevent a "leak" on the new directors before the meeting convened. It was learned yesterday that William J. Chalmers and D. F. Kelly are other present directors who have requested that their names not be submitted for reelection.

Old Directors Seek to Retire.

Seven other old directors also were mentioned as having indicated their desire to retire. These include two out of town board members.

Mr. Cummings will leave for Washington tonight after the meeting. He will clear up the loose ends of his affairs before returning to take over the job of chairman and chief executive officer on Feb. 1.

The market action of Continental stock yesterday was the feature of the trading. Other bank shares showed an irregular price trend on light transactions.

AETNA STATE TO REOPEN TODAY; FREES $157,000

The Aetna State bank, 2375 Lincoln avenue, will reopen this morning, freeing 40 per cent or $157,000 of the deposits which the bank had when it closed last March. The balance of the deposit liabilities has been transferred to a separate corporation, which has also assumed a $380,000 loan which the bank owed the RFC.

James Maltman, president, who founded the bank 20 years ago, stated that the $157,000 of deposits is covered 100 per cent by liquid assets.

Release to the bank of $100,000 of liquid securities held as collateral by the RFC and surrender by stockholders of 50 per cent of their stock enabled the bank to reopen. Part of the stock given up by stockholders was resold, realizing $56,000 for the bank. The remaining $44,000 will be held in trust by the Aetna Trust corporation for the benefit of the bank and may be sold later. State Auditor Edward J. Barrett authorized the reopening.

DOLLAR REGAINS PREVIOUS LOSS TO FRANC, POUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—Ground lost yesterday was recaptured today by the dollar in the foreign exchange market. The gold worth of the dollar rose about ¼ of a cent, to 64.17 cents, as the French franc showed a complementary decline of 2¼ points, to close at 6.10½ cents.

The British pound sterling lost 1¾ cents against the dollar and closed at $5.08½. The Canadian dollar was unchanged at par.

Reports from London indicated that the United States was buying gold there, but the sale of dollars for that purpose was apparently offset by the steady commercial demand for American funds.

UTILITY SHARES GIVEN BOOST ON ROOSEVELT PLEA

Rails Also Advance; Others Irregular.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—Utility stocks got the play in today's share market, President Roosevelt's observation in his press interview the other day to the effect that the country's power companies ought to have the right to earn adequate revenue to pay off funded debt evidently is making this long neglected group attractive to a growing numbers of traders.

Most of the leading issues of the division came in for a round of helpful buying today, resulting in gains of 1 to 3 points or so in Consolidated Gas, Brooklyn Union, Public Service, North American, United corporation, Detroit Edison, American Water Works and Standard Gas. Peoples Gas rose more than 4 points on heavy demand.

Rail Issues Given Whirl.

Railroad shares were given a whirl at intervals but a dribble of profittaking held the group within less than a point above its previous closing average. In the late trading the rail equipments encountered some demand, notably Pullman, but the net showing of this auxiliary section was not impressive.

Elsewhere the market was mixed in appearance. Realizing sales brought on by yesterday's sharp runup kept the tables in ragged formation throughout the session and put a quietus to all of the half dozen or so mild attempts at a rally started by bull professionals.

American Telephone, the bellwether of the Wednesday demonstration, gave up a point of its gain on profittaking. Other communication shares, such as Western Union and International Telephone held firm without much effort at further progress.

Alcohol Group Is Active.

There was considerable activity at intervals in the alcohol group, but the close found the group little better off as a whole than the rest of the list. American commercial alcohol and commercial solvents were up about a point each.

Metal stocks were on the defensive throughout the day. The finish found U. S. Smelting off more than 3 points, with American Smelting, Dome, Alaska Juneau, McIntyre and the rest resting on easier levels.

Nash was a bright spot in the motors division, moving up a point on the good impression created by its earnings report showing a strong financial position for the company. Chrysler and General Motors, recent favorites of the group, both finished lower.

Tobacco stocks retreated a bit from the advanced position they assumed on news of the cigarette price increase.

News Factors Are Mixed.

Bullish factors of the day included expressions of optimism over the spring trade outlook and comments of bankers at the annual bank meetings reflecting general confidence in the ability of business to stride forward.

On the other side of the ledger was the newest proposal of Gen. Johnson, NRA administrator, calling for a revision of industrial codes to provide for a further reduction in working hours. To the speculative fraternity this looked like industry may be asked to shoulder an added portion of the cost of reducing unemployment to the extent that increased costs tend to curtail operating profits.

Bank Guaranty Plan Is Farce, Says Nichols

J. M. Nichols, president of the First National Bank of Englewood, in his first public address yesterday reiterated his opposition to the federal bank deposit guaranty plan and indicated he would fight efforts to force him to participate. Mr. Nichols, who is known throughout the country as "100 Per Cent Nichols," because of the liquid position of his bank, spoke before the Kiwanis club at the Hamilton club.

The Englewood banker was outspoken in what he called efforts of the politicians "to throw the good banks of the country up for grabs." He termed the deposit guaranty plan a "farce" and one of the "greatest impositions ever thrown in the face of the American public."

Sees No Value in Plan.

"I am just a young man trying to get along in the banking business and help protect my depositors," he said. "I realize that the deposit insurance plan, if practical, would be a wonderful thing, but it will not accomplish what it set out to do."

Mr. Nichols demanded that bankers generally come out in the open with complete financial statements which would tell their depositors how the money back of their deposits is invested.

"Congress cannot legislate character, ability, or common sense," he continued. "This deposit insurance scheme will throw open the doors for one of the wildest eras of speculation this country has ever known. There will be no incentive for good banking. Why should a banker worry about the kind of loans he makes if he knows that if he gets into difficulty the government will make good his losses."

Would Force Changes.

Mr. Nichols touched on his controversy with J. F. T. O'Connor, controller of the currency, saying that he has never received an answer to his telegram and letter asking what the government proposed to do about his insurance plan. He indicated that he will attempt to maintain his position until July 1, when a permanent deposit insurance plan goes into effect. Mr. Nichols said he hoped that by that time there would be sufficient opposition to the scheme to force changes.

The banker paid his respects to Walter J. Cummings, head of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, who indicated that the corporation will file suit to compel him to pay his assessment.

Speaks of Cummings.

"If I were going to have my appendix removed," Mr. Nichols stated, "I wouldn't go to a railroad equipment man to have it done. With all due respect to the business ability of Mr. Cummings, he has never sat behind a loaning desk.

"It is no easy thing to run a bank. I have had friends, relatives and others trying to get money, each with a proposition that was a sure thing. We have had to say 'no' many times, but we have tried to be as decent about it as we could. Our first interest must be that of our depositors' money."

CHICAGO LIVING COST AMONG LOWEST IN U. S.; OFF 25.9% IN 4 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Living costs in Chicago are among the lowest in the nation, the bureau of labor statistics announced tonight.

The decrease in living costs there fell 25.9 per cent from December in 1929 to the same month in 1933, despite the recent increase in costs of many commodities.

Analyzing living costs by groups of items for December, 1933, and using the average of figures for December, 1927, and June, 1928, as 100 per cent, the bureau said it found that food cost but 66.2 per cent; clothing, 76.2; rent, 54.2; fuel and light, 90.9; house furnishing goods, 74.9; miscellaneous, 95.3; all items, 74.4.

The bureau calls attention, however, to the fact that between June and December of 1933 the cost of all items for Chicago increased 3.8 per cent. Other increases, by per cent, were: Food, 6.7; clothing, 10.3; fuel and light, 10.1; house furnishings, 10.8.

Only two decreases were noted in that period: Rent fell 6.1 per cent and miscellaneous fell .1 per cent.

National costs were estimated to be 21.1 per cent lower than the average for December, 1927, and June, 1928, but 35 per cent higher than in 1913.

There was an increase of 5.2 per cent between June, 1933, and December, 1933, and of 2.2 per cent between December, 1932, and December, 1933.

GASOLINE PRICE WAR SPREADING; COMPLAIN TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 11.—The gasoline price war which started last week in Brooklyn gathered force today when it spread to New Jersey.

Independent and major oil company executives say that if the struggle continues it may easily disorganize the entire gasoline price structure east of the Rocky mountains.

Definite charges were made today by two independent oil marketers against the Sun Oil company. Allen B. Tint, head of Regal Oil company, in New Jersey, sent a telegram to Oil Administrator Harold S. Ickes in which he charged the Sun company with cutting its price on standard gasoline so low that it will be impossible for the Regal company to continue in business.

Reserve Pays 64 Million to Deposit Fund

(Statistics on page 28, column 8.)

The 12 federal reserve banks last week paid over $64,680,000 for stock in the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, which began operation Jan. 1. Another $64,680,000 was set aside by the reserve banks to be paid over to the corporation on April 15 as provided by the banking act passed by the last congress.

The total subscription of the reserve banks, amounting to $129,360,000, represents somewhat less than half of the surplus reported by the reserve system on Jan. 1, 1933. On that date surplus was reported at $278,599,000. The banking act provided that half of the system's surplus of that date should be used for the purchase of stock in the insurance corporation.

Surplus Reduced by Payment.

As a result of the payment and the reserve set up for the April 15 payment the surplus of the system last week declined to $148,322,000, as compared with $277,680,000 a week before.

The subscription of the Chicago Reserve bank amounted to $19,748,000, which brought the bank's surplus down to $20,681,000. The New York Reserve bank's subscription of $42,530,000 cut its surplus 50 per cent. Subscribing a total of $62,278,000, the banks in the two largest cities contributed nearly half of the system's total appropriation for insurance corporation stock.

The most significant change in the money situation last week, as reflected in the reports, was the $107,000,000 shrinkage in the volume of currency in circulation.

Member Bank Reports Diverge.

The report of the Chicago and New York member banks showed opposite trends. Chicago member banks stepped into the government bond market and added another $58,000,000 to their holdings, while New York banks were selling $17,000,000 of governments. While other types of bank credit showed little change in Chicago, the New York banks reduced their commercial loans $26,000,000 and cut down $120,000,000 on collateral loans. As a result in New York total outstanding credit contracted 171 millions and in Chicago expanded 53 millions. Indicated gross deposits were down in both cities. New York banks reported a decline of 91 millions in loans to brokers and dealers.

Excess reserves of member banks at the "fed" reached a new high of 900 million dollars, due principally to the retirement of currency.

Warburg Sees Fiat Money in Coughlin Plan

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The monetary policies advocated by Father Charles E. Coughlin were described tonight as impossible of attainment without "unsecured printing press money" by James P. Warburg, the banker who was economic adviser to the American delegation at the London economic conference.

In an open letter to the pastor of Detroit's Shrine of the Little Flower, Warburg dwelt on two proposals of the priest.

"You have frequently attacked the outstanding bonds of our government," Warburg wrote, "which were sold to finance the cost of the war, as 'bloody bonds,' sold to finance a war engineered by banks and special interests. You picture these bonds as now being held by 'mighty banks,' drawing interest at the expense of the innocent taxpayers and further enriching the bankers. You have proposed that, in the interest of justice, these bonds should be paid off in currency, so the banks would cease to draw interest from the taxpayer.

Not Enough Gold for Plan.

"You advocate symmetalism which means, in your own words, 'using gold and silver together—not separate—in one coin. In this coin, which we will call a dollar, there will be 25 cents worth of gold and 75 cents worth of silver. Of course, this coin will not be meant for circulation. Paper money will be printed against it. But the paper will be backed by real gold to the value of 25 cents, real silver to the value of 75 cents.'"

The banker set forth in answer:

"First. There is not enough gold and silver obtainable in the world to carry out your two proposals.

"Second. Irrespective of your currency proposal, there is no way, barring confiscation, in which a government can retire its funded debt by issuing currency, unless the currency so issued is unsecured printing press money.

"Third. Irrespective of your bond proposal, your currency proposal is incomplete and not clear; therefore, I believe, it is not a useful suggestion to launch upon the public in its present form."

Uses Coughlin's Own Figures.

Using figures on war bonds outstanding as computed by Father Coughlin, Warburg said, "You propose, then, to issue at least 19 billions of currency, which means that you need in round numbers nearly 5 billions of gold and from 14 to 15 billions of silver."

The banker said only by devaluation could sufficient gold be secured for such a policy of symmetalism, and that sufficient silver could not be purchased in the world.

Discussing his second point, Warburg wrote:

"Is it not true that the treasury's funds available for retirement of the 'bloody bonds' can come only from the excess over expenditure of revenue raised by taxation—an excess which does not exist?

"Is there any way in which the government can redeem its funded debt except by issuing currency, except by printing a currency which has no value other than that of an unsecured promise? And does it not follow that your proposal to retire 'bloody bonds' by issuing currency necessarily involves the issuance of that real printing press money which you rightly recognize as the most cruel and unjust act of which a government is capable?"

Fails to Value Metals.

Warburg said he based his statement that the Coughlin policies were incomplete because no price on gold and silver was given for figuring up the dollar; no statement was made as to whether these prices are to be fixed or variable.

"If your gold and silver coin alloy 'will not be meant for circulation,'" Warburg asked, "why do you propose going to the expense of coining it? Why not let the treasury hold bar gold and bar silver in the proportions you have in mind?"

NATION'S STORE SALES GAIN 7% OVER YEAR AGO

Chicago Area 12 Pct. Higher Last Month.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—December department store sales, including the holiday trade, showed gains for all federal reserve districts except Boston, where there was no change. For the country as a whole the sales were 7 per cent greater than in December, 1932, the federal reserve board announced today.

For the entire year there was a decrease of 5 per cent, all districts being lower except Dallas, where there was no change. Chicago sales fell only 2 per cent. The summary is based on reports from 52 stores in 26 cities.

Heaviest gains were shown for December in the agricultural districts of Dallas, Kansas City, and Atlanta, but Chicago was well up in the list with a gain of 12 per cent.

Gain More Than Seasonal.

"Preliminary figures on the value of department store sales show an increase from November to December of more than the estimated seasonal amount," the board said.

"The federal reserve board's index, which makes allowance both for the number of business days and for usual seasonal changes, was 68 in December, on the basis of the 1923-'25 average as 100, compared with 65 in November and 70 in October.

"In comparison with a year ago, the value of sales for December was 7 per cent larger; when allowance is made for the fact that there was one less trading day this year than last, the increase is about 12 per cent."

Increases by Districts.

Increases in department store sales for December, as compared with the same month last year, were given as follows: New York, 4 per cent; Philadelphia, 4; Cleveland, 12; Richmond, 8; Atlanta, 21; Chicago, 12; St. Louis, 10; Minneapolis, 10; Kansas City, 22; Dallas, 23, and San Francisco, 6 per cent.

For the year the decreases were: Boston, 8 per cent; New York, 6; Philadelphia, 6; Cleveland, 1; Richmond, 4; Atlanta, 1; Chicago, 2; St. Louis, 5; Minneapolis, 6; Kansas City, 3, and San Francisco, 6 per cent.

Preliminary estimates of retail sales through variety stores of the 5 and 10 cent to $1 class show December sales to be approximately 15 per cent higher in dollar volume than in December, 1932, Dr. William L. Thorn, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, announced today.

The year 1933 as a whole was 2.3 per cent better than the previous year, this representing a recovery from the first six months.

New York, Jan. 11.—The listed bond market advanced briskly today on a turnover of $20,094,500, compared with $24,305,000 on the previous day. Comparatively few domestic corporation bonds failed to improve and the major gains in this group ranged from 1 to 8 points.

United States government bonds recovered 2-32ds to 27-32ds point after several days of losses although trading in this group today dropped about 50 per cent from the previous day.

Recent Selling by Banks.

With the recovery of federal bonds reports were confirmed that much of the recent selling of long-term issues had come from banks, insurance companies and other large investors. Direct switches from long to short governments were numerous, it was said.

Railroad bonds scored the principal advances in the domestic corporation list with many edging close to their best levels of last year. The lower priced utility issues did well as a rule and a number of industrial issues claimed sizeable gains on the day.

Foreign Loans Irregular.

Foreign loans were irregular. There was an outcropping of weaknesses in German issues and French government 7½s and 7s were down 2⅛ and 2⅝ points, respectively. However, all of the obligations of the government of Finland mounted to the highest levels in more than a year, and issues of the Australian group manifested considerable strength. Latin-American bonds as a group pointed higher.

Public utility bonds led the advance in domestic issues on the curb exchange, with gains for most of the group ranging from 1 to 6 points. Foreign loans on the curb finished irregularly higher on the day.

DIVIDEND VOTED BY FOREIGN BOND INVESTMENT FIRM

Foreign Bond Associates, Inc., an investment trust formed last August to deal only in foreign bonds, declared an initial dividend yesterday of 50 cents per share.

The Modine Manufacturing company declared a dividend of 15 cents on the common stock. This will be the first payment since Feb. 1, 1933, when a similar payment was made.

The Western Auto Supply company declared extra dividends of $1 each on the class "A" and "B" common stocks.

American Light and Traction.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me what you can about American Light and Traction.—R. H. A.

Answer: American Light and Traction company is a subholding company, part of the United Light and Power system. Subsidiaries operate in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, Mich., Milwaukee and Madison, Wis., and in San Antonio. The company owns a substantial interest in Detroit Edison company. About 74 per cent of revenues was from sales of gas in 1932, 15 per cent from electricity, 8 per cent from coke, and by products, and 3 per cent from transportation.

Recession of earnings in 1933 from 1932 was slight, in comparison with the experience of most utilities. Gross for the first nine months of 1933 was $25,292,000 and net income was $4,038,000, or $1.25 per common share. For the corresponding 1932 period gross was $27,273,000 and net amounted to $5,330,000, or $1.71 per common share.

Following is a four year record of earnings:

	Gross Rev.	Net Inc.	Com. Sh.
1932	$37,012,000	$ 6,824,000	$2.18
1931	41,835,000	8,816,000	2.80
1930	46,417,000	10,336,000	3.44
1929	42,298,000	11,465,000	*3.85

*Adjusted to four-for-one split in 1930.

The consolidated balance sheet at the close of 1932 indicated a good current position. Current assets, including cash of $4,858,000, aggregated $16,536,000, and current liabilities, including $5,452,000 notes payable, totaled $12,280,000. There was no parent company funded debt. Subsidiary funded debt, no substantial portion of which matures prior to 1939, amounted to $65,073,000. Subsidiary preferred stock outstanding totaled $9,000,000.

There are outstanding 586,324 shares of $25 par 6 per cent cumulative preferred, and 2,767,360 shares of $25 par common. The common dividend was reduced to 40 cents a quarter from the previous 50 cent rate on Nov. 1, 1933.

The preferred is rather high grade. The common is medium grade.

U. S. Treasury 4s.

Investors' Guide: Will you please answer the following questions? [1] What are the interest dates on the United States treasury 4s 1944-54? [2] Do banks charge commission on the sale and purchase of government bonds?—R. F.

Answer: [1] June 15 and Dec. 15. [2] Practically all banks make a charge on the purchase and sale of government bonds.

FORESEE STABLE UTILITY RATES IN ROOSEVELT PLAN

Chicago Leaders Approve Change in Financing.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Satisfaction was expressed in Chicago utility circles yesterday regarding the statement from Washington that President Roosevelt is indorsing a new form of public utility financing which may mean stabilization of rates at existing levels, if not higher rates, for electric, gas, and railroad users.

Executives of utility companies here declined to have their names used in comments on the new development, but they discussed the matter unofficially.

"I consider the expressed attitude of the administration with respect to utilities as the first constructive step for business which the President has made," one authority asserted.

"The President's course is a grand thing for the credit of the utilities and the railroads," another well informed utility man said. "It opens the way for a settlement of a problem which has been disturbing every utility operator and investor."

Foresee Ratio Revised Upward.

The President was reported from Washington as approving recent recommendations that the railroads and utilities set up sinking funds to retire their outstanding indebtedness. It was indicated that this would mean regulatory bodies must revise rates charged by railroads and electric and gas companies to allow them to set up sinking funds out of which bonds could be retired.

"The situation with respect to the electric companies was discussed in La Salle street. They soon are to be placed under a code, which in the case of the Commonwealth Edison company, it is estimated, would add $1,000,000 to its annual operating expenses.

"If the various state commissions reduce rates, how could the companies comply with the provisions of the code and set up sinking funds to met their bond maturities?" was a question asked.

Federal Cooperation Foreseen.

A number of officials interpreted the Washington move as an indication that the government is letting up in the general tendency to crack down on the utilities.

It was recalled in La Salle street that the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the Commonwealth Edison company some time ago made a radical departure in utility refinancing when they arranged funds for repayment of bond obligations. The Public Service company last year retired about $2,000,000 in bonds through the working of a sinking fund. The Edison company retired between $400,000 and $500,000 through its so-called market fund, which in effect is a sinking fund.

The suggestion was made yesterday that the President's ideas may mean some modification of the Illinois situation, where the commerce commission is pressing for utility rate reductions. It was recalled that one of Gov. Horner's pledges before his election was lower utility rates.

DECEMBER TOTAL OF NEW BUILDING RISES TO $1,646,464

Building operations increased to $1,646,464 during December, according to the state department of labor. The unexpected jump in building figures was due to one permit issued in Peoria for a $1,050,000 distillery.

This one permit not only saved the month's total from falling below November's figures but it brought up the total for the year so that expenditures in sixty-five reporting cities aggregated only 5 per cent less than in 1932.

Chicago enjoyed a gain of 6 per cent in the year's total over 1932.

GRAINS DECLINE AS PUBLIC STAYS OUT OF MARKET

News Bullish but Fails to Advance Prices.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

There was plenty of bullish news on the domestic grain situation yesterday, but the public continues to hold aloof from the market and failure of the anticipated enlarged buying power to develop was largely responsible for a recession in prices. Many local operators who were buyers during the two preceding days turned to the selling side. A weakened technical position was disclosed and May wheat, after opening as high as 86¾ cents, dipped to 85¼ cents shortly before the close, while the distant futures eased 2 cents from the early top.

All grains finished around the inside figures. Wheat showed net losses of 1⅛ to 1⅛ cents at the last, while corn was ⅝ to ⅞ cent lower; oats, off ⅜ to ½ cent; rye, ¼ to ⅝ cent, and barley, ⅞ cent for the day. May corn closed at 52¼ to 52⅜ cents; oats, 37½ cents; rye, 59½ cents, and barley, 52¾ cents.

Sentiment Remains Bullish.

Despite the unsatisfactory action of the grain markets yesterday sentiment among commission houses and the professional element remained generally bullish. The strong close in the stock market led a number of observers to anticipate better things were in store for grain traders.

Considerable comment was heard in the trade regarding the government estimate on farm reserves of grain issued after the market closed Wednesday. Nat C. Murray, the Clement Curtis & Co. statistician, figured there had been a farm disappearance of 915 million bushels of corn up to Jan. 1 and, while this total was 34 million bushels less than the previous year, it was well in excess of the two previous years. Stocks of oats on Jan. 1 of 450 million bushels, it was pointed out, were 17 million bushels under the April 1 total of a year ago.

Canada Exports Wheat.

One million bushels or more of Canadian cash wheat were reported sold for export yesterday and the removal of hedges against this grain checked any tendency to decline in the Winnipeg market, which closed at the same figures as on Wednesday. Liverpool was unchanged to ⅛ cent higher, smaller Black sea export being offset by hedging sales from Argentina.

So far around 10 million bushels of north Pacific coast wheat have been sold for export through the assistance of the government subsidy, it was officially announced, and Ireland is expected to take several million bushels more. About one-third of the total earmarked grain covered by the AAA agreement has now been disposed of.

Milling demand for cash wheat yesterday was only fair, but there was persistent buying of futures at Minneapolis credited to mills, and pit brokers said they saw some evidence of foreign buying of wheat, corn, and oats in the local market.

The country sold 75,000 bushels of corn to Chicago handlers yesterday, the largest amount for a single day in about a month.

UTILITY SECURITY HOLDERS BAND TO SUPPORT VALUES

Destructive Forces Are Opposed.

Announcement of a nation-wide organization of holders of public utility securities to "oppose forces that are depressing the fair value of utility securities" was announced yesterday by Chester D. Tripp, president of the recently formed American Federation of Utility Investors, Inc. Mr. Tripp is a Chicago consulting metallurgical engineer.

Membership in the federation will be confined to holders of utility securities, Mr. Tripp said. None of the officers or directors is engaged in utility operation or management, he stated, and the organization will receive no financial support from any utility company. It is estimated that upwards of 10,000,000 persons in this country are holders of utility securities.

To Fight All Foes.

"The federation intends to take a definite action to prevent the destruction of public utility values," he said. "It does not matter if the destructive forces be set in motion by an act of government—federal, state, or municipal—or by unscrupulous financiers and managers who have brought some of the units of the utility industry into disrepute. Every force that endangers the fair value of public utility securities will be vigorously opposed."

It was stated that as a nucleus for the nation-wide organization an advisory committee of 71 men representing interests in all parts of the country has been set up.

Chicagoans in List.

Among them are George W. Rossetter, former president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; J. L. Kraft, president of the Kraft-Phenix Cheese corporation; George S. Parker of Janesville, Wis., chairman of the board of the Parker Pen company; Charles L. Pillsbury, Minneapolis, an official of the Munsingwear company.

In addition to Mr. Tripp, the other officers are Benjamin F. Castle, vice president of Administrative and Research corporation, New York City, vice president; William N. Boyden, vice president Continental Casualty company, Chicago, vice president; Clayton J. Howell, executive secretary and J. De Forest Richards, president Boulevard National bank, Chicago, treasurer. The permanent headquarters is in Chicago.

PROFIT TAKING REDUCES EARLY ADVANCE IN COTTON

Profit taking developed in cotton yesterday after an early advance of 12 to 14 points to a new high on the current movement and since last July, which brought about a fair reaction from the top, although trade and speculative interests were good buyers on the way down. Foreigners took considerable cotton out of the market early. The south was a seller.

Net gains on futures at Chicago for the day were 1 to 6 points with other markets up 2 to 7 points. Spots were unchanged to 5 cents higher, with New York, 11.10 cents, and New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston, 10.85 cents. Liverpool closed 8 to 9 points net higher. Prices follow:

BUTTER, EGGS DECLINE; POTATOES ARE STEADY

Butter and egg futures declined yesterday almost as rapidly as they advanced in the previous session on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Butter closed ¾c to ⅞c lower and eggs unchanged to ¾c lower. Potatoes held unchanged.

Eggs opened at the previous close, but liquidation developed in the January delivery and it fell back sharply. Covering and new support at midsession helped hold the market, but as the selling pressure increased again. The movement of storage stocks continued fairly favorable; receipts were moderate and cash prices advanced, but this did not help the market.

Butter was quiet at the opening, but started to follow the down swing midsession. Selling pressure became fairly heavy later. Withdrawals from storage totaled 884,000 pounds more than last year and production was reported 18 per cent less than last year. However, buyers maintained a cautious attitude. Sales: Butter, 65 cars; eggs, 98 cars; potatoes, 1 car. Deliveries: Butter, 7 cars. Prices follow:

SILVER FUTURES

Silver futures fluctuated within a range of nearly ½c yesterday in New York but the aggregate trade was not large and the finish at intermediate figures was about 06c higher to .01c per ounce lower. Total sales were 2,275,000 ounces. January closed at 44.25c, March 44.65@44.70c, May 45.15@45.18c, June 45.45c, and July at 45.74c. Bar silver was ½c higher at 44c. Commencing today trade quotations will be made on bar silver, one for the metal produced before the government price was announced and for the foreign product, and the other will be the newly mined domestic which can be sold to the mint.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was a little more active and prices firmer today on the increased covering and local buying. Houses with western connections sold. Final prices were 3 to 8 points net higher. Sales 29 contracts including 2 switches of March to July at 30 points.

The firmness of cotton offset the easier trend of hogs, lard, and grains. The consumption report expected tomorrow is expected to show December consumption between 200,000 and 225,000 bls. against 263,000 in November and 184,000 in December last year. Bleachable spot nominal, January 4.60c, March 4.78c, May 4.94c, July 5.12c.

U. S. MONETARY GOLD STOCK $4,322,865,873; CURRENCY INCREASES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—America's stock of monetary gold at the end of December was $4,322,865,873, as compared with $4,507,522,361 a year earlier, according to figures issued at the treasury today.

Holdings of gold were as follows:

By the treasury, $3,201,740,958; by the federal reserve banks, $810,154,273 and in circulation, $310,970,642.

In addition to the gold there was $1,159,182,439 in gold certificates in the total money stocks of the country. All was outside of the treasury, $946,133,120 in the federal reserve banks and $213,049,319 in circulation.

On February 28, shortly before all gold was called, there was $571,337,850 in gold coin and bullion and $649,563,859 in gold certificates in circulation.

The total money stocks of the country December 31 were $10,209,857,255, an increase of $505,000,000 in a year. This increase was due to increased issues of federal reserve notes, federal reserve bank notes and national bank notes which more than offset the loss in gold.

The per capita circulation, based on an estimated population of 126,129,000, was $46.02, compared with $45.56 a month earlier and $45.31 Dec. 31, 1932.

Italy's $330,000,000 Loan Oversubscribed in a Day

ROME, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The Italian government's public loan of 4 billion lire [currently about 330 million dollars] was oversubscribed on the first day the books were opened, today's newspapers reported. The response was described as so heavy that in some cases banks kept working many hours overtime. Subscriptions opened yesterday and are scheduled to continue until Jan. 20.

Four Jurors Selected to Try Dr. Alice Wynekoop for Murder—Crowd Causes Confusion in Court Building

DR. ALICE LINDSAY WYNEKOOP PLACED ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF DAUGHTER-IN-LAW, RHETA; FOUR JURORS ARE SELECTED. Two pictures of the 62 year old defendant as she appeared yesterday before Judge Joseph B. David. With her in the one at right is Matron Mary Kennedy. Dr. Wynekoop was brought to the door of the courtroom in a wheel chair because of her weakened physical condition and carried to her seat in front of the bench on a chair. Thousands of persons stormed the building, seeking admission to the trial, but were turned away.

GOVERNMENT ALLOTS $7,000,000 TO LINCOLN AND SOUTH PARKS TO COMPLETE OUTER DRIVE SPAN. Chicago plan commission sketch of how Outer drive bridge at mouth of Chicago river will link the boulevard systems of the north and south sides. The north end of the bridge connects with Lake Shore drive and the south end with new boulevard to be constructed. All the improvement shown above will be completed with the federal money except the extension of Wacker drive from Michigan avenue to the outer drive. (Story on page 1.)
